HOWER FILES ACTION TO SEIZE TRUCK FARM

LOUIS ANGELES—District Attorney Fred N. Howser filed an action in Superior Court for the state anti-landlord law, to prevent the eviction of Japanese aliens, to retain them in their families and half acre truck gardens at $4,000. A spokesman said it was the first action of its kind contemplated under the anti-land law.

It has been called by state officials, as prejudiced against Japanese, who have circumvented the law. The action taken in the name of the American Anti-Discrimination Committee for the state.

California's anti-land law, which has been passed, prohibits aliens ineligible for citizenship and persons of non-identical national origin from the state.

THE Oakland—A. P. quoted Mattson as declaring that properties of loyal Americans of Japanese ancestry would be exempted. Residential property will be later claimed by the state, he added.

The Los Angeles county district attorney's office already has filed suit against three owners of property in a state of a four and one-half acre tract of land in Montebello for $4,000. A spokesman said it was the first action of its kind contemplated under the anti-land law.

The action by the Los Angeles national chairman, Mr. T. Yamaguchi, on behalf of the committee, in 1955, Hideo Sugawa, a prominent former member of the committee, who was indicted by the attorney general for dealing in Japanese land, was circumscribed, and the name of the American Anti-Discrimination Committee was dropped under the anti-land law.

Two Divisional Citations Won By 100th Infantry Battalion In Italy, Says Correspondent

Unsung Service Cross, 13 Silver Stars Awarded to Members of 100th Infantry Unit; Reports Nisei Patro Patrolled German Platoon

With the Fifth Army in Italy—Two divisional citations have already been won by the Japanese American Battalion of the U.S. Fifth Army in Italy, according to a dispatch filed by McGarrigle on war correspondents for the New York Times.

The Japanese Americans, who are the majority of whom are from Hawaii, are serving in the 100th Infantry Battalion, according to the dispatch.

The 13 Silver Stars for gallantry, Cross of the Army's highest decoration, was awarded to a member of the 100th, according to McGarrigle. The recipient was Lt. Young O. Kim from Los Angeles, a Gyppar infantry officer of the Japanese American unit.

Near Santa Maria Olivieta, Lt. Kim displayed a hero's in order that the combat patrol went ahead with leading machine-guns, according to his citation. He personally greately outnumbered, captured an entire German patrol.

There's nothing unusual about that story, perhaps; I've seen the same thing I ever did before joining the army in the Los Angeles meat-packing house.)

Meanwhile, a Nisei machine gun platoon, aside from being well dug-in, has made a tremendous impact on Campus, has occupied some of Ojai's outlying area near the front, and their Virginia colonel is of the opinion that they've been brilliant.

Definitely superior soldiers, says the colonel, with the happy thought that every man is a color of the 10th Infantry Battalion, has said that they fight together. One thing which gives a special flavor to the story is that they are mostly born in Japa.

Insurance companies have a special flavor to the story is that they are mostly born in Japan.

PROTEST FORCES FIVE EVACUATIONS TO QUIT FARM IN NEW JERSEY

Philadelphia—Sad but resigned, five Japanese Americans have accomplished the Congress in their determination to keep their families together, the people are told.

The families of the men have been and are now waiting for permission to return to the homeland.

The five evacuations were brought before the Immigration and Naturalization Service at New York City as a result of the evacuation order.

It was indicated that N.W.A. officials had already instructed the men to return to the homeland.

The Guggenheim Foundation this week announced that among the recipients of its 1944 awards was a Japanese American sculptor, Dr. Fujikawa, who is now on the staff of Cornell University.

Dr. Takahashi is the second Japanese American to receive Guggenheim fellowship, the first being Isamu Noguchi who was awarded his reward for work in the field of sculpture.

It is particularly appropriate that this award should be made to the Japanese American in wartime. It offers added emphasis to the statement that the Japanese American has faced with courage and determination the great task of assimilation to the general principles of American living.

The evacuation and in resultant segregation has resulted in the mass evacuation of the Japanese Americans, but in hundreds of individual cases the war has brought great opportunities for employment and social acceptance. The Grand Canyon reports that vegetables are being grown under Japanese American guidance. Isamu Noguchi, a teacher in a Colorado school, other Japanese Americans are teaching in public and private institutions throughout the country, and thus many of these men have found they desire to enter the academic world, to enter the literary world, to enter the world of the artist, to enter the world of government.

The fact that the Little Tykes are not necessary, that Japanese Americans need not confine themselves within racial units, is proved by this and many other examples. The Japanese American nation is making a full adjustment to the new world, and the structure of the nation's life is such that the war time experience may at times afflict the sec- ond generation of Japanese American citizens. It is fundamentally healthy.

Recognition for Nisei

When the Metalls Refining Company of Hammond, Indiana, was given the Army Navy "E" award, five Japanese Americans employed by the company were singled out for commendation for their patriotic work.

The award was made by Capt. Frederick J. USAF, and photographs showing Capt. Bell congratulating the men were pub- lished throughout the nation.

The state of Missouri should feel grateful to have two sons who have earned the state's caliper and conviction in its legislature. It is such men who keep alive the American documents of freedom.

The Government's Pledge

On September 14, 1943, President Roo- sevelt made this statement in his message to Congress:

"With the segregation of the salaried evacuees in a separate center, the War Re- location Authority now needs to redouble its efforts to accomplish the relocation into a normal home and jobs in communities throughout the United States, but outside the evacuated area, of those Americans of Japanese ancestry whose loyalty to this coun-

The sense of front-line correspondents has been commented upon in the Japanese American soldier fighting. The story is told of a Japanese soldier on the front line, but also as a Japanese soldier fighting not only for his country, but also as a hero in the post-war world who might be seen in the city of Hiroshima, but by his wartime heroism, a great example of his country.

The National Park Service has a great responsibility in the care of the national and state parks. The Secretary of the Interior, A. J. L. Lomax, in a statement made on Thursday, Lomax declared:

The Secretary of the Interior, A. J. L. Lomax, has stated that the federal government would not tolerate un-American attacks upon this group.

Toward Integration

Secretary Lomax's words should be sufficient warning to west coast race mongers who are anxious above all else to stop the spread of Japanese Americans that the government will not tolerate un-American attacks upon this group.

EMPLOYER, Townspeople Back Right of Evacuees to Jobs

The telegram was short and simple, like most important news:

It read: "The secretary of war asks that I assure you of his deep sympathy in the loss of your cousin, Technician Third Grade, Ken Omura, killed in the line of duty in New Guinea. He had been March in New Guinea as a result of a drowning. Letter follows." It was signed: "Ushio the adjutant general for the 25th Army Command, in the defenses of his death."

We can't know what Ken would have wanted his cousin to do. He would have wanted his cousin to be alive. He would have wanted his cousin to come home. He would have wanted his cousin to be safe. He would have wanted his cousin to be happy. He would have wanted his cousin to be free.

But what Ken would have wanted his cousin to do is unknown. We can only guess. We can only speculate. We can only imagine. We can only hope.

What we can know is that Ken would have wanted his cousin to be safe. Ken would have wanted his cousin to be happy. Ken would have wanted his cousin to be free. Ken would have wanted his cousin to come home. Ken would have wanted his cousin to be alive.

And so we must remember Ken. We must remember his sacrifice. We must remember his service. We must remember his courage. We must remember his love. We must remember his sacrifice.

And we must remember all of the men and women who have served in our country's armed forces. We must remember their sacrifice. We must remember their service. We must remember their courage. We must remember their love. We must remember their sacrifice.

KINDERGARTEN
We received a letter this week, recently published by the Parent Group, regarding our children's attire. It states that the children should wear comfortable attire, not just the ones mentioned in the letter. If you have any questions, please feel free to contact us.

Please be aware that our children should be picked up promptly after school. It is important to ensure their safety. If you need to pick up your child during school hours, please do so and let the teacher know.

Sincerely,

NEWSPAPER
In the latest edition of the school newsletter, there is an article about the importance of recycling. It highlights how our school has implemented recycling programs and encourages students to continue participating.

Dear Parents,

We are excited to announce that our school has recently implemented new recycling programs in the cafeteria and classrooms. These initiatives aim to reduce waste and promote environmental sustainability.

Here are some key points:

1. Recycling bins are now available in every classroom.

2. The cafeteria has expanded its recycling options and has added new bins for different waste categories.

3. Students are encouraged to bring reusable containers for meals and snacks.

By participating in these programs, students can help reduce our environmental impact and contribute to a cleaner school environment. We appreciate your support in making our school a more sustainable place.

Best regards,

Two Wounded Nisei Veterans Expect Return to Active Duty

SAN FRANCISCO — Two of the three Japanese American soldiers wounded in a battle in Italy, who have been convalescing at Dibley Army General Hospital in Menlo Park, are well on the road to recovery, and will be released for active duty soon. The trio, the first wounded Japanese American war veterans to be treated at Pacific coast hospitals, arrived in Italy in February.

They are anxious to rejoins their comrades in the European war against the German enemy.

"I wish to return to Italy to be with my battalion, one of them declared this week. All three are up an about, and are able to wander through the hospital corridors dressed in the regular garb."

Judgel Metzger Rules Against Martial Law in Hawaii Isles

LOYALTY of Territory's Japanese Americans Cited at Trial

HONOLULU, T. H. — Letters from Fred Co., Judge Metzger ruled that Hawaii is not in a state of insurrection or rebellion and declared in a summary of the evidence at the trial that martial law "no longer exists in this Territory." Judge Metzger ruled that the ordinance which we created unlawfully, and has no lawful basis or authority under the laws of Hawaii, or territorial laws.

(Martial law was declared by Governor General, Robert C. Richardson, military governor of the Territory, on June 8, when the United States declared martial law in the Territory. Judge Metzger ruled that the ordinance which was created unlawfully, and has no lawful basis or authority under the laws of Hawaii, or territorial laws.)

(Final decision in Judge Metzger's trial on June 8, of injuries suffered in aircraft and railroad accidents. According to reports, eight persons were injured in a train and railroad accident. The heavily laden vehicle was derailed. He was rushed to the hospital where he succumbed to his injuries.)
