Senate Group Blocked Action on Alien Bills

Private Bills Sought
by Deportation
for Individuals

WASHINGTON—Refusal of the Immigration Committee to pass private bills involving persons of Japanese ancestry is given as the reason for the fact that the bills were not reported by the House Immigration Committee last month.

A Senate committee under Russell of Georgia acted only last week in passing bills to deport Canadian soldiers and take action on several bills introduced in the Senate which have resulted in a stay of action for persons of Japanese ancestry.

It is prominent members of the committee who are quoted as saying that it was useless for the group to report the bills from the Senate committee, as the House wouldn't act on them.

On this private bill were passed in the last session of Congress for the relief of persons whose ancestry who faced deportation. Several of the members of Japanese ancestry had important contributions to the war effort.

Tsuchiya Wins Preliminary Injunction in State Court on Right to Fish in California

Test Case Undertaken
To Clarify Rights of Japanese Alien Group

LOS ANGELES—Yoshioka Tsuchiya, Japanese alien fisherman, was granted a preliminary injunction on August 5 against the Fish and Game commission of California in a test case in which Tsuchiya sought to establish his right to fish commercially in California.

The injunction was granted by Superior Court Judge Henry M. Willis. It stipulated, however, that Tsuchiya must post a $100 bond pending further proceedings on the test case, which is being sponsored by the Southern California Fishermen's Association.

Tsuchiya, in his case, has asked the court to prevent the commission from interfering with the right of alien fishermen to pursue their occupation of commercial fishing in waters on the Pacific coast and to prevent the commission from interfering with their right to sell the fish in California.

The effect of the temporary injunction will be far-reaching not only on fishing in and around San Pedro but in other fishing ports of California, according to A. I. Wirt, attorney for Tsuchiya.

In his arguments Wirt contended that Section 906 of the Fish and Game code, which attempts to bar persons ineligible to citizenship from obtaining or engaging in commercial fishing, is "unconstitutional" in that it deprives such persons of liberty and property in violation of due process of law.

Wirt contended in his argument that Tsuchiya and the 200 other fishermen in whose behalf the case was brought, would suffer irreparable injury unless without a preliminary injunction by the court their right to earn a livelihood would not be possible.

Moreover it was held that the petitioner should be permitted to engage in commercial fishing without interference and threat of criminal proceedings from the commission.

War Department Authorizes Retention of 442nd Colors By Territory of Hawaii

Secretary Patterson Accedes to Official Request
For Regimental Colors of Famous Nisei Unit
From Governor Stainback of Hawaii

WASHINGTON—Secretary of War Robert Patterson has authorized the Territory of Hawaii to retain possession of the colors of the 442nd Central Postal Directory which was deactivated in ceremonies in Honolulu on Aug. 14.

The action followed an official request to the War Department from Gov. Ingram Stainback of Hawaii that the colors of the famous Nisei regiment be kept in Hawaii.

Previously, Secretary Patterson had authorized the retention of the colors of the 100th Infantry Battalion in Hawaii. At that time Secretary Patterson had declared that the decision to keep the 100th Battalion's colors in Hawaii was reached because the majority of the men had served in the unit were residents of the territory.

Secretary Patterson had stressed that the action taken on the retention of the 100th's colors was not to be regarded as a precedent for the disposal of the colors of the 442nd Central Postal Team, since the majority of the men in that unit were residents of the United States mainland. Secretary Patterson indicated at the time, however, that an official request from Gov.

ernor Stainback would be given consideration by the War Department.

The governor then made an official request for the colors. It is a tradition to Gov. Stainback, the War Department chief said he had directed the commanding general of the U. S. Army forces in Hawaii to turn over the colors to the governor upon inactivation of the regiment.

The War Department also had received a request from the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce that the colors of the 442nd Central Postal Team be permitted to be kept in Hawaii rather than the final deactivation of the regiment.

Colors of 442nd Combat Team Turned Over to Hawaiian Governor at Final Ceremony

HONOLULU—The 442nd Combat Team, the famous army unit composed of Japanese Americans from the Territory of Hawaii and the relocation centers of the mainland United States, was officially deactivated in ceremonies at Kapiolani Park on Aug. 15 as 80,000 persons watched the martial parade and ceremonies.

The 230 men who constituted the active members of the famous Combat Team in which nearly 10,000 Americans of Japanese ancestry served during the war were flanked by smartly uniformed lines of 442nd veterans already discharged.

The deactivation of the 442nd Regiment was a part of Hawaii's Veterans' Day ceremonies on the day the colors were led by a color guard from the 100th Infantry Battalion of the 442nd Combat Team.

As the parade reached the reviewing stand in Kapiolani park, the color guards marched smartly to within a few feet of the reviewing stand. The 442nd's blue infantry guidons and its colors, with the unit's guidons streaming, were then presented directly in front of Governor Ingram Stainback.

Col. Perran L. Turner, first lieutenant in command of the 442nd Central Postal Team, and Col. Alfred A. Purnell who commanded the returning 442nd Central Postal Team, presented the regimental colors to Gov. Stainback.

"I accept these colors," the governor said. "They will be preserved and kept as a memorial to your conduct and as an inspiration to generations to come."

The 442nd Combat Team, composed of the 230 men from Hawaii who returned with the colors from Italy, (250 mainlanders) and the returning 442nd Central Postal Team were separated following the July 15 parade in Washington before President Truman was then called to attention by Col. Perran and each man stepped forward to receive his discharge certificate.

The Nisei veterans broke up into a grinning, milling group. They waved the large marine emblems containing the discharge certificates above their heads so that their families standing behind them could see them.

A benediction by Chaplain Masao Yamada expressed the hope that the men were returned to "stay home in Hawaii."

will's war dead, including nearly 500 Japanese Americans of the 100th Infantry Battalion and the 442nd Central Postal Team, was fired over the sea by the 800th anti-aircraft artillery, and the territory's salute to its veterans ended with the playing of the national anthem.

The official War Department orders deactivating the 442nd Combat Team were read by Col. E. P. Crandall, adjutant general of MIDPAC.

The orders, written in terse military language, declared:

"In accordance with War Department radio 4 August 1946, and under provisions of readjustment regulations, the 442nd Central Postal Team, less the 2nd Battalion is inactivated effective 15 August 1946, at APO 950.

"The colors and guidons of the 442nd Infantry regiment will remain with the Territory of Hawaii in custody of the governor. The colors are to be retained as a memorial to the 442nd Infantry regiment, and wherever such activation and wherever such activation may take place, the colors and guidons will be returned to that organization."

Court Overrules Demurrer In Placer Land Law Case

AUBURN, Calif.—Superior Judge Lowell L. Sparks last week overruled the demurrer of the defense in the exorbitant proceedings filed by Attorney General Robert Kenny of California and District Attorney C. E. Tindall against Mr. and Mrs. S. Kondo and their son, Asato.

The State's suit charges violation of the Alien Land law by Mr. and Mrs. Kondo who are aliens of Japanese ancestry.

The defense demurrer stated the validity of the proceedings is in doubt and that the suit is not a proper one.

The proceedings are reported the first filed in Placer county under the provisions of the California Alien Land Law.

The court's action overruling the demurrer was a way for a 6-0 majority to set the suit on for April, 1946, and the suit was set for the same for trial.

San Joaquin County Camp Houses Aged Evacuee Group

STOCKTON, Calif.—Fifty-five aged indigent Japanese aliens are now being housed in a former law camp house miles west of Manteca in a project operated by the San Joaquin county, according to Elizabeth Chapman in the Stockton Record.

The men live in a barracks type building and keep the quarters in order under the direction of Yoshiyuki Tanaka, designated cook for the group, who is paid a salary of $10 a month. He operates the camp under the direction of Charles Stewart, county welfare director.

The men get along fine, according to Chapman.
