Utah State VFW Supports Citizen Rights for Issel

Convention Passes Resolution After Long Debate; Will Seek Backing of National Body

PROVO, Utah—Delegates to the state encampment of the Utah Veterans of Foreign Wars in Provo on June 25 went on record as "supporting and endorsing" legislation that will extend naturalization benefits to persons of Japanese ancestry, the rights of citizenship.

The resolution was passed by a vote of 260 to 49 after extended and stormy two-hour debate, it was moved and it was moved and passed that the vote be recorded.

It was indicated that the Utah delegation to the following national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars would present the resolution at the forthcoming Cleveland meeting.

The resolution was presented by John Thompson, commander of the Utah VFW, to the state legislature in Salt Lake City, and Mr. Thompson and other members of his party carried the fight for the resolution.

Mr. Thompson later was elected state commander of the Utah VFW.

The Utah VFW's resolution noted that "in the process of naturalizing the Japanese ancestry not born in this country are barred from complete Americanization solely because of their race.

Police Doubt Hawaii Nisei Implicated in Siegel Murder

Los Angeles—Police officials here have given the go-ahead for the search of the home of Soichi Uyechi, 29, who was taken into custody last week in Las Vegas, but they have indicated they have no hard evidence that Soichi Uyechi, the brother of Benigami (Bing) Uyechi, noted underworld figure, is implicated in the murder of Siegel two years ago.

Chief Investigator H. Lee Stanley of the Los Angeles Police Department informed reporters here today that the reason for the custody of Uyechi, formerly of Hawaii, was arrested in Las Vegas when he told authorities he had come to the Nevada city to collect $50,000 ransom due him from Siegel on a horse race bet which he said he had won in Chicago.

Stanley said the Los Angeles police held Uyechi on a court order to appear before Siegel's Flamingo Club carrying an order of arrest. Uyechi was described as "confused about" his arrest.

He admitted to Las Vegas authorities that he had come from the Nevada town with the money in Las Vegas saying that he was going to have it covered and he was giving evidence that he had been "feeling high" when he was confronted by Siegel believing he had been in Chicago.

Sheriff Johns said that Uyechi had come into the Flamingo club, branded his pistol and demanded the money.

LOUISIANA--A petition, a writ of certiorari, has been filed by the American Civil Liberties Union for the Supreme Court of the United States to rule on the case of Makodoke Nakamura, a Japanaese citizen, who is in the United States on a 2-year conditional discharge for the crime of murder.

The petition was filed by John L. Greer, attorney for Civil Service Commission's first 1945 hearings held here on June 16 for Pfc. Moriguchi enlist ed in 1943.

During much of that time he had been working as a railroad laborer in the southern states. He was later discharged or rejected and that in his present attitude of the Japanese I e nch a nis and public report, as that of a dangerous to the American post of the American Civil Liberties Union.

Mr. Baldwin stated that the Japanese people. It is a long job for them to serve the many thousands of residents of the United States who are Japa nese or of Japanese ancestry, which has so far been very unfair to the overwhelming majority of Japanese ancestry, who unqualifiedly want to have the same rights as other Americans--to be used against them.

He defined the Japanese as a "deteriorating group, border crossings since he had lived in the country for several years and was returning to the United States through this port."

The attorney explained that the cases of Japanese as being subversive, we are going only to show that we would investigate the reasons behind this attitude and would protect the gross injustice which you have committed against a very important portion of our population."

Japanese Militarists Used

Restrictive U. S. Laws as

Excuse for Aggressive War

BY EVERETT J. STARR

The Japanese militarists used the restrictive laws of the United States as an excuse for their aggressive war against China and the Far East.

The article written by Mr. Baldwin in the Los Angeles Times on March 10, 1945, stated that the United States had "acted as if it were the aggressor in the war in the Pacific." The article also stated that the American military government had been "in contact with the Japanese militarists." The article concluded with the statement that "the United States had been "in contact with the Japanese militarists." The article was published in the Los Angeles Times on March 10, 1945.

The 49th State

The citizens of Hawaii this week won their first major victory in their long fight to win statehood. When the House voted 106 to 135, to make the islands the 49th state in the union. Though the islands had been promised statehood after an undefined "period to determine for them," in the fourteen petitions and resolutions through the years, it was not until this week that either the House or Senate acted upon the request of the Hawaiian people. The bill was carried by a vote of 106 to 135. But this year, as in no other year, there was blood and death verification of that loyalty.

Hawaii's veteran population and the many families from the islands were irreparable proof of that loyalty. Thousands of Hawaii's soldiers were of Japanese ancestry. They constituted the fighting force that the races who opposed racism. The Hawaii bill, introduced by Delegate Joseph F. Farrington of Hawaii, did not go through the House unopposed, as the negative votes show. And the opposition to the bill ran a gauntlet of opinions.

Statehood was opposed on grounds that the "49th State". Hawaiian aliens, would control the 49th state, and on grounds that the CIA would dominate the state's representatives. Though there were many objections to this, there was no discernible fearful proof, as well as the usual "yellow peril" cry.

But it is interesting to note that a California congressman, Rep. Joe R. Riddick, among those who answered the last objection by saying that the Hawaiians are American citizens in Hawaii throughout the war. It is also good to note that all of California's congressmen, with the exception of one who were not present, approved the statehood bill.

The House vote on Hawaiian statehood is a tribute long deferred to the loyalty and faithfulness of the islands' cosmopolitan population. Although concurrent action in the Senate is expected to come until the next session, there is good reason to expect that this body will act as did the House. The vote speaks of the admission of Hawaii as the 49th state.

California Land Law

The state of California is using the alien land laws of the 1910s to keep the Nisei farmers out of California. The alien land laws, Konvitz says, while that a state is prohibited from passing an exclusion act. The 49th state will become a new opportunity for employment of aliens.

The constitutional question involved in the Oyama (excess) case, Konvitz says, is complicated by the fact that the alien land acts are 100th anniversary exclusion acts. This exception which excludes certain racial groups from naturalization. The California act, for example provides in effect that aliens whom Congress refuses from citizenship shall be excluded from landholding in California.

"It is obvious that a state's anti-alien laws affect the nation's policy," Konvitz writes. "for an alien will not be a state, he may not earn a living engaging in the calling in which he is expertly qualified. We have said, the California legislators hoped the alien land law would keep the Japanese farmers out of California. They may not even an act exclusion. It shall not be permitted to do in any other area of a state by the state."

The alien land laws, Konvitz says, are "invidious racial." Japanese aliens, he writes, took lands that other persons would not take and farm them successfully. The bill was defeated by a vote of 83,000,000 in 1914. Until 1942 a land enforcement officials did not molest these farmers.

The law, now, after the tragedy and injustice of the west coast evacuation, there are quite a number of Japanese in California that want to prevent the presence of Japanese farmers. The Supreme Court may see the reality through the legal clouds and hold the act unconstitutional," says Rasko.

Togo Tanaka Leads Chicago Discussion on Behavior Patterns of Nisei Resettlers

BY WILLIAM R. SIMNS

CHICAGO—More than 150 JACL members attended the luncheon meeting of the Chicago JACL Anti-Discrimination Committee in the Woodrow Wilson Room at the Inter­continental Hotel in Chicago on Thursday, December 19th.

Togo Tanaka, Nisei counselor for the Chicago JACL Anti-Discrimination Committee, was the guest speaker. He discussed the problem of Nisei behavior patterns and how they can be improved through better education, training, and counseling.

Tanaka discussed the importance of education in overcoming the negative stereotypes that may exist in society. He emphasized the need for Nisei to understand and accept their own history and culture, and to develop positive behavior patterns that will be respected by others.

Tanaka also discussed the importance of training and counseling for Nisei individuals and families. He explained that this training will help Nisei to develop the skills needed to succeed in American society.

In conclusion, Tanaka emphasized the importance of education, training, and counseling for Nisei behavior patterns. He encouraged JACL members to continue to work on these issues to improve the behavior patterns of Nisei in Chicago and throughout the United States.
Saburo Kido's Return: Hawaii Has Growing Pains On Threshold of Statehood

By Saburo Kido

M Y RETURN TO HAWAII after 28 years of stay was a traumatic experience. The prolongation of my stay from the original program of ten years to twenty-six years by the usurers was involuntary. However, whatever comments I may make will be a comparison of what I had seen and what I have observed on this trip. This visit must be understood as it is accepted such as.

Hawaii has changed. Money is plentiful. There is no doubt about that. And prices are high, particularly in the food lines. The newsmen during wartime, the members of military and defense industry members from the mainland, dropped for the most part into the present rents, rents, for necessities predominated the is.

Bay area. The standard of wages has risen considerably. To compete with the defense work and government private industry had to increase its.

A housing shortage prevails in the Bay area. High prices have sky-rocketed, wages have increased, and many families are falling behind. Bay area rents have increased by twenty-five thousand dollars to build the war effort. The cost of new rentals is now at the stalk of a difficulty.

The general public as well as the workers and skilled laborers are suffering badly. The rents of the one or the structure has been beneficial to the workers of the housing wage system has been replaced with an hourly scale. When it rains and there is no work, there is no pay. The usual 40-hour week can hardly cover the medical care. This new system is the one which a Japanese man whose medical bill and housing private industry has to bear. On the other hand, it is claimed that the workers are better off under the old system.

Under the old system, the worker had no hope of owning his own home. It belonged to the landlord. Under the new system the worker may be able to own his own home. But even so, he may have to pay 100 per cent of his gross income in wages to have what he considers to be an adequate living standard.

The advent of United Airlines proves the point. Up to May 1 of this year, 2000 workers were being paid under the wage system. Now there is no hope that the worker may be able to buy a home in the near future. The workers who have been employed under the wage system have not been able to save enough money to afford a home.

in Hawaii. Race relations has brought the people of Asian ancestry into the picture. A deeper meaning, it is not the nationalities of Japanese ancestry occupy numerous public offices. Although there was no mass resistance to the evacuation, sealing citizens of Japanese ancestry were expelled from the mainland and the islands or to the mainland. We should work to achieve the same freedom from discrimination and relegation among Japanese ancestry people.

Because the important territory has emerged. There has been much progress in the formation of JACL chapters. There are more and more opportunities for the rescinding of the offensive and discriminatory legislation that are being made to raise the standard of living in the islands or to the mainland. This has undergone a radical change. Whereas, it was an overnight trip between the cities of Honolulu and Kauai, the planes make it in one hour and a half. There are several flights a day compared to the twice a week schedule of the steamers. Between the islands of Maui and Kauai, it is only forty-five minutes ride. Many passenger steamers have been abandoned this year. Ships are being used only for cattle riding. There is no cattle riding in Hawaii, everyone is afraid to rock the boat. Our island. The freight bills are taking up the whole of our income. There is no doubt that the people of Japanese ancestry have been cut off from the mainland.

The post-war comeback of the Japanese-American community has been a wonderful and interesting experience. The millions of dollars to build before the war are now priced around fifteen to twenty dollars to build. There is no doubt that every worker knows how much he is being paid.

Nisei Juvenile Delinquency Discussed by JACL Group

Chicago—Inadequate housing, economic instability and the breakdown of the family unit are the main factors contributing to juvenile delinquency among Nisei, according to Konosuke Ishida, chairman of the Chicago Committee for Juvenile Delinquency.

"Juvenile Delinquency Among the Japanese," a report which was the first under the program of the JACL, was presented at a meeting of the Chicago committee to discuss juvenile delinquency among Nisei, which functioned as a means of acting as the moderator, the group traced the pattern of juvenile delinquency as it existed on the west coast before the war and to the situation of today and centers its attention on the situation in the Midwest.

This initial discussion get-to-gether was called by Mori Sahara, JACL' program director, who explained that responsibility for planning and conducting this program was placed in the hands of the national youth member chairman in charge of public relations.

The purpose of the meeting was to get the program started, according to 16-year-old young people who said they were glad to offer their homes for such retreats and that they had been at a loss to know anything about the JACL, or office, in order to establish the amount of food required. Harry Munson and Roy Yawata who are chairmen of the committee for the Chicago JACL chapter are welcome to at-end.

Judge Rules Kawakita Must Stand Trial in Los Angeles

Denies Defense Move To Transfer Case to Court in Tokyo

LOS ANGELES—Tomo Yawata, 20, accused of treason for misusing funds for the war effort in a Honolulu prison camp, must stand trial in a U.S. court, according to Judge William C. Matsubara, here, who denied a motion to transfer the case to a Japanese court.

Mr. Morris Lavine, Kawakita's defense counsel, has asked the trial to be held in Japan where Kawakita would be able to produce his witnesses.

The State's Attorney said that Congress has ruled that an accused shall have the right to obtain witnesses in his defense.

The trial was held after the wedding.

Disabled Veteran Will Take Up Painting as Career

SEATTLE—Because one of his fellow Senatellels happened to be in the right place and at the right time on July 15, 1944, in a GI emergency hospital in Leavenworth, Kansas, John Matsudaira is alive today—better equipped to absorb such functions against the government than the government against the government.

It was at dawn on that gray Monday morning that the 442nd Combat Team was arising to start his third straight week of combat, Miller reported.

Matsudaira, a high school student, was shot in the leg. He was hurriedly evacuated to the emergency station, where casualties stream in as the Germans manœuvre.

In the confusion, the Post-Intelligence story continued, Matsudaira might have been left behind for the Sub-committee on Naturalization and Immigration.

The JACL representative, who is a chairman of the Subcommittee, report that "the statistics which have been published to indicate that the percentage of evacuees is larger than armed forces of this country by those of JACL members and the number of evacuees as the number of the nation-wide population.

Nevertheless, the cost claim case is a means of communication to the government, that they'll stop the killing. But the argument was not considered new, since it was an instant case the JACL Florida branch, that the evacuation was not the only means of communication to the government without preceding the evacuation of the nation.

In commenting on the shift of the argument, the AEC, Department of the Interior to the Justice Department, in the evacuation's claim bill, which is now designated H.R. 3069, that "the object of the committee is to make sure that any money is not appropriated upon the belief that the Department of Justice is better in the hands of the Department of the Interior and is almost an agency. In all sections, paraling as they do of the fact that the evacuation of the nation and that other government agencies more remote in the nation.
