In the Senate, would not approve it.

Sen. Lucas replied: "There may be some bills on which there would be no objection,... there will be no objection. I think that we can go on with the calendar which might very well be completed this month.

Sen. Lucas: "I am very happy to say that we have made some progress in the Senate from Ohio. One of the things that is of interest in the Senate is that we have Senate business all the time. The calendar is called. Then perhaps after we have completed the business of the day, we may be able to get some bills out of committee and even some bills on the Senate floor."

The Senate, because "the purpose of the day is to do some business" said Mr. Manzo. Out of the numerous bills that were on the calendar, he had a bill that was a real novelty for the first time for consideration of the Senate. He had a bill for the year 1966. It was one objection only-one objection.

Hollywood, Calif.

The recent appearance of Mikitko (Mikut) Miura, a famous Hollywood moving picture studio, may lead to a significant change in the film industry in America for the talented young Japanese actress.

At Twentieth Century Fox, one of the biggest studios in Hollywood, this week, was Mrs. Kishino, who was appointed as assistant to the president of the company.

"Mikitko" was tastefully dressed in a Japanese kimono, with a high-collared jacket over her dress, and carried a silver-fox scarf around her waist. She wore a pair of high-heeled shoes, from chic to smart shoes, she was a picture of the good grooming which is so essential to a smart appearance.

Research Work Undertaken in JACL History Project

Research into thirty-five year old file began this week as Prof. Eimer R. Smith, the University of Utah and Skokie Community noted, "had begun work on the history of the JACL.

Prof. Smith is on leave from the university to work on the JACL project, which will depict the history of this organization in the United States. He is being assisted by two researchers who are currently engaging in voluminous files gathered in the archives.

"I want to make sure that everyone is on the same page, that everyone is aware of what is going on here," Smith said.

Research will include interviews with former JACL officials, families, and other groups. Some interviews will go back to the 1930s, when the Japanese American community was at its peak.

Mrs. Mary S. Smith, the project's coordinator, said, "We are trying to gather every piece of information that we can about the JACL's history."

Publishers Speak at Orange County JFK Memorial

The San Francisco housing agency, the San Francisco Housing Authority, was invited to attend the installation banquet of the Orange County JACL.

The installation was conducted by Tada Kubo, regional director of the San Francisco JACL organization, who spoke about the JACL's history.

"We must remember that our past is shaped by the actions of those who have come before us," he said. "And it is up to us to continue that legacy of excellence."
Nisei Police Officers

Sacramento police officials have indulged in a lot of double talk recently regarding the appointment of a Nisei candidate for the city police force. The Nisei, James Aki Watanabe, was 15th on the police recruitment list of 34. He was one of 200 candidates.

As for the eligibility list being published, said the police department, is a decision made by the mayor of the city. Appointment of a Nisei to the force is under consideration.

To be consistent, the mayor said, there should be a requirement that the police department screen all candidates for the position of police officer. It is important to have a police force that is representative of the community it serves. The Nisei population of Sacramento is growing, and it is important to have a police force that reflects that diversity. The mayor said the city is working on a plan to hire more Nisei police officers. The plan includes training programs and mentorship opportunities to help Nisei officers succeed in the police force. This is a positive step towards achieving a more diverse and inclusive police force.
Visitors from Japan

Almost every week a place-laden of Japanese businessmen, statesmen, and army officers arrive. They are the superfluous of the land. It's part of the program sponsored by the U.S. Army to show them how things are done in the United States. The average visitor need not take a few blinking glimpses at the sights of the country. They are in the group and it was never in the same league as the United States.

The general visitor, making his first tour of the United States, has told me that the Japanese people were grossly misled about America and the American people. They can make only few purchases.

"But, I'm not in the same league as the United States."

The clunking sound of the picture because our parents didn't want us to embarrass them with our inadequacies. Uncomfortable Issei, in ill-fitting formal clothes, would struggle with their bamboo sticks, wooden clubs, stones, or anything they had.

The relocation of the picture special for its cost, which is about that one can afford, but a filet mignon is an attraction for the era of peace. They still have faith in the people and their restricted industrial and commercial activity. The lack of opportunity arouses a spirit of discontent among the people and a lack of assistance for their very existence.

Progress in Race Relations Told by California Authority

SAN FRANCISCO - The year 1949 has been one of greatest achievement in the movement of race relations in California, according to Richard W. Dettering, Executive Director of the State Federation of Labor, and head of the state's new anti-fascist program.

The Federation was established in an active, organizing stage. "The calls their attention to certain opportunities of the strengthened community.
