The bodies of Private Togo Okamura, son of Suyeichi Okamura, 1602 Geary Street, San Francisco, and Private First Class Takaya Uragami, son of Mrs. Kisayo Uragami, 2340 Delta Avenue, Long Beach, California, are among the 280 Americans who lost their lives in Korea and whose bodies are being returned to the United States aboard the Enid Victory, through the port of San Francisco.

Two Nisei Hawaiians are listed as casualties.

Private First Class Yoshimi Fukumoto, son of Mrs. Kijiro Fukumoto, Box 21, Kapoho, Hawaii, was killed in action and Private First Class Paul Sakurada, son of Mrs. Matsuo Sakurada, 2703 Hillside Avenue, Honolulu, Oahu, was wounded.

Masaoka Urges Greater U.S. Concern for Civil Liberties

WASHINGTON, D.C.—On the tenth anniversary of the signing of the Executive Orders by President Roosevelt which authorized the wartime evacuation of persons of Japanese ancestry from the west coast, Mike Masaoka, national legislative director of the JACL Anti-Discrimination Committee Feb. 19 called upon all Americans to show a greater concern for civil rights and liberties lest these constitutional and traditional rights, privileges and immunities be lost.

Speaking to the national action conference of the National Council of Jewish Women, meeting in Washington to launch a "Freedom Crusade," Masaoka pointed to himself as an example of the victims of America's first mass loyalty program which ten years ago, without trial or hearing, resulted in the concentration of more than 90,000 American citizens in relocation centers solely because of an accident of birth.

"What happened before can happen again, and unless more Americans become aroused to the need to keep individual freedom alive, concentration camps, United States style, may once again intern other Americans without trial or hearings, and on the mass basis of race, or color, or religion. Until all Americans are secure from unfair and un-American accusations and treatment, until all Amer-

"This Time It's for Real" Tommy of "Go for Broke!" Goes Off to War in Korea

ETA JIMA, Japan—"This time it's for real."

Those were Pvt. Henry Nakamura's words recently when he left the U.S. Army's Eta Jima Specialist School for Sasebo en route to a Korean assignment.

Pvt. Nakamura is the unforgettable orphan, "Tommy," in MGM's film about the Japanese American 442nd Combat Team. All of the other Nisei GIs in the picture were actual veterans of the 442nd except "Tommy" who was only 13 at the time the 442nd was organized in 1943.

Henry has been in the Army a little more than five months, going into service shortly after finishing his role in MGM's "Westward the Women" in which he played a Japanese cook, Ito.

He received his basic training at Schofield Barracks in his native Hawaii and was sent to Japan for processing, winding up at the Eta Jima school where he completed a six week Quartermaster Supply Specialist course.

Born in Honolulu, the Nisei actor was in his junior year at the University of Hawaii when Writer-Director Robert Pirosh of MGM came to town. He signed Henry for the role of "Tommy" and the role has proved the foundation of a career in motion pictures for him.

Standing five feet tall in his GI boots, Henry had some stage experience in University of Hawaii theater productions. After his Army service he hopes to continue his movie career and also wants to complete his college study for a degree in psychology.

Henry made many friends at Eta Jima, especially among the GIs who recognized him from "Go for Broke!" They were sorry to see him leave. A GI newsman wrote:

"The little fella with the big smile, and the outside overcoat shook hands all around, hoisted his duffle bag to his shoulder, and struggled onto the bus."

Pvt. Henry Nakamura was off to war again. But this time it was "for real."

Nisei Church Leader Dies Of Brain Hemorrhage After Being Jailed in Auto Mishap

SEATTLE—Charges that Akira Kumasaka, Seattle nurseryman and church leader, was suffering from a brain hemorrhage when police kept him in jail 13 hours for a traffic offense were aired here on Feb. 18 after the 39-year old Nisei died in The Doctors Hospital, the Post-Intelligencer reported.

"This is a most regrettable incident," Police Chief George Eastman declared. The chief ordered an immediate, full-scale investigation of all circumstances.

Meanwhile, Kumasaka's family, aggrieved that he had been charged as a "traffic drunk" and with "reckless driving" after an accident on Aurora Ave. late on the afternoon of Feb. 15, had an autopsy performed.

Longtime friends of the Kumasaka family affirmed that the Nisei, owner of the Green Lake Gardens Co., never drank or smoked.

Attorney Tom Boyle reported he was told by a physician, who was called by the family and examined Kumasaka at the jail at 6:30 a.m. on Feb. 16, when he was released that the Nisei suffered the brain hemorrhage at the time of the accident.

Boyle also said he talked with a Seattle implement firm employee who said Kumasaka "obviously was cold sober" when he left the firm 30 minutes to an hour before the accident. The employee had a cup of coffee across the street with Kumasaka, offered him a cigaret and the latter refused, Boyle reported, saying he did not smoke or drink.

The attending physician said a test was performed on Kumasaka immediately after he entered Doctors Hospital at 7:01 a.m. on Feb. 16 and no trace of alcohol was found in his body.

Kumasaka, former chairman of trustees of Calvary Baptist church was arrested at 5 p.m. on Feb. 15 at Aurora Ave. and Howe Street. A truck he was driving struck a glancing blow on a parked auto in which Sgt. Tommy Hallum of Fort Lawton Hospital was behind the wheel. Little damage was done and there were no injuries.

Patrolman Pat McGuire and Charles Vinup took Kumasaka to city jail for booking at 5:35 p.m. They said they were informed by a witness, D. J. West, that Kumasaka's truck crossed over to the wrong side of Aurora Ave. and continued there for about six blocks when the collision occurred.

Sgt. Hallum told police Kumasaka did not answer when he asked what the trouble was, and slipped from the cab seat into his arms.

Kumasaka died at 7:40 a.m. on Feb. 18 of a brain hemorrhage and pneumonia, according to the attending physician. Attorney Boyle said the Nisei had suffered high blood pressure about two years. The autopsy disclosed no sign of injuries.

"Investigation shows there was a delay of about two hours and 45 minutes at the city jail in complying with instructions issued in August, 1946, for a medical examination in all such cases as this one," Chief Eastman said.

"I must withhold decision on whatever action we take pending further inquiry and a talk with Dr. Sanford P. Lehman, city-county health officer."

The medical examination was de-

House May Consider Walter Omnibus Bill for Equality In Immigration, Naturalization

WASHINGTON, D.C.—As Congressman Francis E. Walter (Dem., Pa.) prepared to go before the House Rules Committee on behalf of the Omnibus Immigration and Naturalization Bill which bears his name, the Washington Office of the JACL Anti-Discrimination Committee revealed that this JACL ADC endorsed legislation may be considered by the House next week, or in the first week in March.

Mike Masaoka, national legislative director, reported on a conference with Congressman Walter, said that the author of the Omnibus Bill hoped to persuade the Rules Committee at its next meeting to schedule this legislation for floor debate as soon as the pending business is finished.

This could be either next week or the week after that, he said, as he called upon chapter presidents and JACL members to communicate with their representatives immediately to urge support on the floor for this measure.

In the meantime, the House Judiciary Committee issued a 328 page report on the Walter Omnibus Immigration and Naturalization Bill. Ninety pages are devoted to an explanation of the bill itself and the remaining pages are given to section by section comparisons of the proposed legislation and existing law.

A detailed analysis of the legal background for the bill and brief historical references to the history of immigration and naturalization legislation, including several pages on the Immigration Act of 1924 which contained sections that have been designated as the Japanese Exclusion Act, precede the Committee analysis of the proposed revision of the immigration and naturalization codes.

"H.R. 5678 (The Walter Omnibus Immigration and Naturalization Bill) represents the first attempt to bring within one cohesive and comprehensive statute the various laws relating to immigration, naturalization and nationality," the Report begins its section on "General Information."

"While the naturalization and nationality laws of the United States have been re-examined more recently (1937 through 1940), our present basic immigration laws consist of two acts enacted in 1917 and 1924, respectively. The act of February 5, 1917, is still regarded as the basic qualitative law and the act of May 26, 1924, as the basic quantitative law. However, a complicated superstructure of amendments, substitutes, and repeals have been added through the years of these basic statutes. Many obsolete laws, reminiscent of their day, remain on the statute books. Inequities, gaps, loopholes and lax practices have become apparent through the years.

"In the field of our naturalization and nationality laws, very important codification work was done in 1940. However, since then not less than 3 amendments to the Nationality Act of 1940 have been enacted, some for the purpose of clarification and others designed to meet the spirit and the requirements of the ever-changing times.

"Legislation such as this, legislation which will affect the fate of millions of human beings in this country and abroad, has to be approached with foresight and caution. It requires painstaking study, as well as careful weighing of equities, human rights, and continuous consideration of the social, economic and security interests of the people of the United States.

"H.R. 5678 has not been hastily conceived. The bill, as introduced, and as now reported with committee amendments, represents the final product of most intensive and searching investigation and study of our entire immigration and naturalization system which originated over three years ago with the Committee on the Judiciary of the Senate and was subsequently conducted jointly by the Committees on the Judiciary of the House and the Senate."

According to the Report, "In addition to numerous technical and minor substantive changes in the immigration and naturalization laws, the instant bill makes the following basic and significant changes:

"1. Eliminates race as a bar to immigration and naturalization.

"2. Eliminates discrimination between sexes.

"3. Introduces a system of selective immigration by giving special preference to skilled aliens urgently needed in this country.

"4. Provides a more thorough screening of aliens, especially of security risks and subversives.

"5. Broadens the grounds for exclusion and deportation of criminal aliens mostly in accordance with recommendations made by the Senate Special Committee to investigate Organized Crime in Interstate Commerce.

"6. Provides for structural changes in the enforcement agencies for greater efficiency; and,

"7. Safeguards judicial review and provides for fair administrative practice and procedures."

Pacific Southwest Chapters Rap Anti-Civil Rights Move

LOS ANGELES—The chapters of the JACL Pacific Southwest District Council unanimously adopted a resolution at its quarterly meeting held here on Feb. 17th, going on record to oppose a "neo-fascist movement" sponsored by an organization called America Plus propounding to grant "freedom of choice," it was announced by Tut Yata, PSWDC chairman this week.

The text of the resolution follows:

WHEREAS, the organization, "America Plus" seeks to obtain 305,000 valid signatures on a petition to enable its placing upon the initiative ballot the repeal of the California Civil Rights Statute; and

WHEREAS, under the misleading objective of "Freedom of Choice," this repeal would result in the granting of the right to discriminate, an un-American concept of human rights; and

WHEREAS, the Civil Rights Statute of California is essential to protect the rights, privileges and dignity of persons of Japanese ancestry as well as persons of any other minority.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that the Pacific Southwest District Council of the Japanese American Citizens League and its member chapters in Southern California and Arizona, at its quarterly meeting held in Los Angeles, California on February 17, 1952, unanimously resolve to join with other community organizations and groups in combating the malignant program of "America Plus" in its endeavor to repeal the California Civil Rights Statute.

File $270 Thousand in Claims Against State of California For Land Law Settlements

SACRAMENTO — Claims totaling $270,794 have been filed against the State of California for recovery of settlements made during and after World War II as a result of enforcement of the Alien Land Act against persons of Japanese ancestry.

The State Board of Control will act on the claims Feb. 28.

The claimants contend that the restrictive land law was invoked only against persons of Japanese ancestry.

Last year the legislature authorized refunds because of a U.S. Supreme Court ruling in 1948 which made the Alien Land Act administratively unenforceable.

Most of the claimants live in the San Joaquin Valley and in Southern California. The largest claim, for $100,000, is from the State Farming Co., Inc., in Merced County, owned by William S. and Edward K. Koda.

Other claimants in the San Joaquin area are: Akira and Yasushi Chiamori of Parlier, $24,502; Mari Iwamura Abe, Fresno County, $12,625; Fumiko Akahori, Sanger, $3,867; Hidenori Asano, French Camp, $3,500; Akira Iwamura, Selma, $17,000; Sadao Nikaido, Fresno County, $15,500, and Hanako Ishii Teraoka, Fowler, $10,000.

Most of the petitioners made compromise settlements with the state during the war as a result of court action which threatened to escheat the lands involved to the state for alleged violations of the Alien Land Act which prohibits ownership or interest in real property to Japanese aliens and other persons "ineligible to citizenship."

Box-Score on Race Relations: Racial Visibility is Factor Retarding Group Integration

By ELMER R. SMITH

Any plan for social action geared to bring about a more positive set of relations within the framework of the "American Creed" among the various ethnic and racial groups in the United States (or elsewhere) must take into account certain fundamental principles discovered through research. Within recent years a number of these principles have been presented which seem significant to our problem.

One of the most significant principles giving depth to an understanding of possible conflict situations as well as to solutions of such conflicts rests in the fact that physically visible differences are the strongest factors retarding integration, and are important factors bringing about conflicts and tensions. The greater the physical differences between groups (and individuals) the slower the process of integration and the higher the tension and conflict rates.

Another important principle rests in the ratio and degree of cultural differences existing between groups and individuals. The greater the cultural differences the slower the rate of integration and adjustment. It appears that among these cultural differences those of language, religion and political affiliation are significantly determinative.

A large racial or ethnic group in proportion to the population of a specific area slows the rate of acceptance and integration of the minority. Conflicts and tensions tend to be more dominant against a large minority group than against a small and more insignificant one.

Research among a rapidly increasing minority group tends to show that the increase of the group increases antagonisms, or at least is associated with such antagonisms.

Rapid changes in the level of living seem to have a high correlation with conflict and antagonisms based upon racial and ethnic differences. Furthermore, it has been found that among the members of a dominant group the ones showing the highest rate of conflict and tension with the minority groups will be found among those classes which are most likely to find themselves in direct competition and most economically vulnerable from the minority.

Wanted: Ten Tall Women Fashion Show at Magnin's Will Be Convention Feature

SAN FRANCISCO — Wanted: Ten tall women.

This call was issued this week by Kiku Hori, chairman for the Fashion Show which will be one of the featured events during the 12th Biennial National JACL convention here from June 26-30.

Miss Hori said that the Fashion Show will take place at Joseph Magnin's, one of the leading women's apparel shops in San Francisco. According to word received from Jane Brady, head of the Fashion Department, the Joseph Magnin Company will put on the Fashion Show, but ten Nisei girls ranging from 5'3" to 5'8" are needed to model the clothes.

Any interested person who is within this height range, or anyone knowing of persons who qualify, should contact the JACL office, 2031 Bush Street, San Francisco, California. The models must be from the Bay Area so that they can attend all rehearsals.

Working with Miss Hori on the Fashion Show are Mary Hidekawa, Tetsuko Hideshima, Aiko Hironaka, Sadako Noguchi, and Frances Ogihara.

Warn Evacuees Deadline Nears For Compromise Plan Claims

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Less than one month remains before the March 15th administrative deadline set by the Department of Justice for the submission of compromise offers to evacuation claims, the Washington office of the JACL ADC Anti-Discrimination Committee warned evacuee-claimants this week.

All evacuee claimants with claims of less than $3500 should submit compromise offers, Mike Masaoka, national legislative director, said, because experience shows that compromise offers are not only settled for 17 per cent more on the average per total amount originally claimed than adjudicated claims but also are processed infinitely faster.

"By every yardstick, the government is making it worthwhile to compromise and settle small claims," he said.

Community property claims up to $7000 may be divided between husband and wife and both may receive up to $2500 each under the JACL ADC endorsed legislation that authorizes the Attorney General to compromise and settle all evacuation claims up to three-fourths the amount of compensable items, or $2500, whichever is less.

Masaoka cautioned those with large claims from compromising their claims, however. He declared that if the total of compensable items is substantially larger than $3500 for a single individual or $7000 for a couple, the claim should be adjudicated and not compromised for the maximum $2500 allowed.

He revealed that one claim originally for $77,000 was compromised for $5000, divided between husband and wife. A casual check showed that compensable items if adjudicated and not compromised for the maximum $2500 allowed.

He revealed that one claim originally for $77,000 was compromised for $5000, divided between husband and wife. A casual check showed that compensable items if adjudicated might yield an estimated $30,000. "Such disregard for large claims is tragic," Masaoka said, "because the government should be able to begin adjudications of the large claims by the middle of the year, after it has completed the compromise settlement program."

"Don't give up on large claims," he said. The compromise procedure was devised and intended only for the smaller "pots and pans" claims and not for large business and agricultural losses.

President Signs Private Bills To Admit Japanese Aliens

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The President last week signed ten private bills beneficially affecting persons of Japanese ancestry, the White House informed the Washington office of the JACL Anti-Discrimination Committee.

These ten bills were introduced and passed by the Senate last year. House passage earlier this month and last week's White House action make them the first laws affecting persons of Japanese ancestry to be enacted by the present session of Congress, which convened last Jan. 8.

Five of the latest private laws authorize the admission of adopted, minor Japanese children of American citizens. They are Michio Chiba, Joe Bosaka, Misao Konishi, Moto Kano and Youichi Nobori, Japanese children orphaned during the war and adopted by Corporal and Mrs. Walter V. Subacz of Waukesha, Wis.; Master Sgt. and Mrs. Herman W. Hearn of Montgomery, Ala.; Sgt. and Mrs. Harvey L. Houser of Waukesha, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. Dixon Y. Miyauchi of Seattle, Wash.; and Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Richard G. Winters of Los Angeles, Calif., respectively.

Three Japan-born wives of American citizens will now be able to join their husbands in this country. They are Mrs. Ritsuko Chojin, wife of Masakatsu (Benny) Chojin of Boston, Mass.; Mrs. Takako Kitamura Dalluge, wife of Gilbert Glen Dalluge of Blue Mound, Ill.; and Mrs. Masako Sugiyama, wife of Patrick L. Luane of San Antonio, Tex.

Japan-born Misako Kinoshita will be able to marry American Wilbert L. Rich in Japan and be admitted into this country for permanent residence after he has completed his tour of duty as a civilian employee of the Army occupation.

Isamu Fututa will now be able to join his American citizen wife and children in Seattle, Wash., after being stranded in Japan during the war.

House Reports Seven Bills for Japanese Aliens

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Seven private bills for the entry of alien Japanese into the United States were favorably reported by the House Judiciary Committee, the Washington office of the JACL Anti-Discrimination Committee reported last week.

Five of the measures are for the admission of the adopted, minor children of American citizens, one is for the Japanese wife of an American citizen, and another is to allow the Japanese husband of a Nisei wife to rejoin his family in this country.

Five of the bills already have been passed by the Senate. The other two are House introduced bills.

Sen. Homer Capehart (Rep., Ind.) introduced the bill to admit Claudia Tanaka, minor child of Hideo Tanaka by a previous marriage, as the adopted minor child of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Bain. Mrs. Tanaka married Mr. Bain of Evansville, Ind., an honorably discharged veteran of the army. They have a daughter, Janet. Baby Janet and Mrs. Bain, under the provisions of the JACL ADC sponsored Soldier Brides Act, are eligible to enter this country. Daughter Claudia needs private legislation in order to come into the United States with her parents and sister.

Sen. William F. Knowland (Rep., Calif.) sponsored the bill for Tomizo Naito, minor adopted Japanese son of Master Sergeant and Mrs. Charles Senteney, now with the Air Force in Japan.

Sen. Alexander Wiley (Rep., Wis.) authored the measure for Meiko Takamine, daughter by a previous marriage of Mrs. Taeko Takamine. Ryukyuan national, who married Corp. Joseph A. Gruber, now stationed in Okinawa with the United States Army. Corp. Gruber is a resident of Washington County, Wis. Mrs. Gruber is eligible for admission under the Soldier Brides Act but her daughter is not.

Rep. Paul W. Shafer (Rep., Mich.) introduced a bill for the admission of Isao Ishimoto, adopted son of Sgt. and Mrs. William Henry Yoder of Ionia, Mich., and Delegate Joseph R. Farrington (Rep., Hawaii) sponsored the measure for Hideo Ishida, minor child born in Japan to Mrs. Edith Kimiyie Ishida, a Hawaiian Nisei stranded in Japan during the war.

Sen. Alexander Wiley (Rep., Wis.) sponsored the bill to admit Mrs. Peter J. Lord (nee Mitsuko Sakata), wife of an American citizen civilian employed by the United States Army in Japan. Mr. Lord, a resident of West Allis, Wis., is a naturalized citizen born in Kocsola, Tolna Megye, Hungary.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (Dem., Wash.) introduced the bill for Roy Y. Shiomi, Japanese husband of a Spokane, Wash., Nisei and father of three American citizen children. Mr. Shiomi originally entered the United States in 1906. He graduated from the University of Washington with a degree in electrical engineering. He later attended the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. While studying and observing air conditioning and refrigeration in Japan, he overstayed his re-entry permit period and lost his opportunity to return to the United States.

150 Attend North California Council Meeting in Hayward

HAYWARD, Calif.—The Northern California-Western Nevada district council of the JACL held its first quarterly meeting of the year in Hayward Sunday, Feb. 10, under auspices of the Eden Township and Southern Alameda county chapters. Heading the general planning committee were Min Shinoda and Kiyome Kato, immediate past presidents of the two chapters.

More than 150 official and booster delegates attended, representing 18 of the 22 JACL groups in the council.

The day's program started with a two-hour business session at 1 p. m. with Masuji Fujii, district council chairman, presiding. Among items under discussion were the evacuation claims program and the McCarran Immigration and Naturalization bill, on which delegates were brought up to date by Masao Satow, JACL national director.

A coffee hour in mid-afternoon featured a preview of spring and summer fashions with Nisei mannequins modeling clothes supplied by the Economy Dress Shop of Hayward. The show was based on the theme, "On to San Francisco" and clothes were modeled by members of the host chapters.

Mrs. Takiko Shinoda and Aiko Hironaka were co-chairmen. Betty Kodama supplied the piano music. Dr. Tokuji Hedani, general chairman for the 12th biennial JACL national convention to be held in San Francisco in June, gave a report on the progress of the convention. Also reporting on convention activities were Kaye Uyeda, Sin Togasaki, Fred Hoshiyama and Tom Hoshiyama.

After the business meeting a banquet was held at Svenggaard's Restaurant in San Leandro. Principle speaker was Major Gen. E. M. Landrum, who discussed problems of the American occupation of Japan. Gen. Landrum returned recently from Japan, where he spent two and a half years as chief of staff with the Eighth Army on occupation duty.

Tolchi Domoto of Hayward was toastmaster for the dinner. The tables were decorated with white candles and crimson camellias, and a camellia corsage was given to all women guests.

Seattle Police Probe Death of Nisei

layed, it was explained, because no doctor was present. The city jail doctor leaves in mid-afternoon and a night physician arrives at 8 p. m. Dr. W. W. C. Sims, chief of the jail medical service, said it is very difficult to obtain any doctors for jail duty, for the money available to pay them.

Examinations of Kumasaka by the night doctor, an Army lieutenant, at 8:15 p. m. and at 6 a. m. the next morning showed no evidence of any critical condition, jail officials said. Kumasaka was breathing regularly and had a strong pulse, but was limp and unconscious. He was alone in a cell for traffic violators and was on a stretcher and covered with a blanket.

Attorney Boyle charged the family never was notified by jail officers that Kumasaka was there. He said Kumasaka's younger brother searched downtown after Mrs. Kumasaka was unable to obtain information from police and the sheriff's office. The brother saw the gardener's truck in the jail garage and discovered his whereabouts, Boyle said.

Chief Eastman said it is not the jail policy to notify families of adults about arrests.

"In this case one of our officers was called by the wife at 4:30 a. m. and was told Kumasaka was in jail," Chief Eastman said. "The department had two calls right after midnight but we didn't know who made them. The callers were told Kumasaka was in jail."

All officers involved were questioned by Chief Eastman.

The arresting officers gave as their conclusion that Kumasaka had "obviously passed out." They said he was in no condition to be given a drunkometer test.

Kumasaka is survived by his wife and three children, Beatrice, 13, Norine, 11 and Stuart, 6.

Kumasaka was an officer of the Seattle chapter of the JACL before the evacuation in 1942. He relocated in Sugar City, Ida., and returned to Seattle after the war.

Three Children Die as Flames Destroy Home in California

SACRAMENTO—Three children, the oldest 3½, burned to death on Feb. 18 when a flash fire destroyed their home at Walsh Station, near Florin.

The victims were the only children of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Takehara. They were Alvin, 8 months; Darrel, 2, and Russell, 3½.

The authorities said the blaze started while the mother was shopping in a store 200 yards from the eight room frame house.

Mrs. Takehara arrived moments after the alarm was spread and had to be restrained from entering the flaming residence. She attempted to push down the front door but the heat was too intense. She was treated in the Sacramento Hospital for shock and a cut on her arm and then taken to the home of her sister-in-law where she was placed under a doctor's care.

Takehara, an employee of a Sacramento produce market, was at work when the fire started.

It was the first time, members of the family said, that Mrs. Takehara had left the children home. She always took them shopping with her but Monday Darrel had a bad cold and she did not want to take him out in the wintry weather.

Besides, Russell was advanced for his age and Mrs. Takehara was sure he could watch his brothers for four or five minutes—all the time it would take to make an emergency trip to the store to buy milk for the babies. Darrel was playing with blocks on the kitchen floor. Alvin was asleep in his crib.

Suddenly neighbors heard a mysterious noise and the 32-year old house was engulfed in flames.

Russby Takehara, 11, a cousin of the victims who lives next door, was the first to spot the fire. He summoned another neighbor who called the fire department.

Crews from Florin, the Sacramento Signal Depot and Mills responded but the house was totally enflamed when they arrived.

The body of Russell, with Darrel lying on top of him, was found inside the kitchen door. A sack of rice was on the bodies and the authorities believe it may have fallen and trapped them as they fought their way to the rear door.

The body of Alvin was found in his crib.

Fire Chief Harry J. French of Florin theorized that butane flames escaped from the stove in the kitchen and were ignited by a pilot light, sending flames mushrooming through the house.

The house was constructed by a grandfather of the children, the late Kikumatsu Takehara. He was a vineyardist.

Strandee Petitions High Court To Review Citizenship Case

LOS ANGELES—In an unusual procedure Fujiko Furusho of Hawaii, whose citizenship was declared last year by Judge J. Frank McLaughlin of the Hawaiian Federal Court not to have been lost by reason of her voting in occupation-sponsored elections in Japan in 1946 and 1947, has petitioned the United States Supreme Court to review her case, it was reported here.

This turn of events has come about in this way:

Mariko Kuniyuki of Seattle was similarly declared by Judge Peirson Hall not to have lost her United States citizenship by reason of her having voted in the same elections as Miss Furusho. The government appealed this case and last year the Court of Appeals in San Francisco reversed Judge Hall's decision and held that Miss Kuniyuki had acted voluntarily and not under duress or coercion and that therefore she had lost her citizenship. Thereupon Miss Kuniyuki through her attorneys, A. L. Wirin and Fred Okrand of Los Angeles, petitioned the United States Supreme Court for a review of this case. In the meantime, the government had appealed the Furusho case to the same Court of Appeals in San Francisco, where the case is awaiting action, no judgment having yet been rendered.

Under a little used procedure Miss Furusho's attorneys, who are the same as Miss Kuniyuki's, have asked the United States Supreme Court to hear Miss Furusho's case as well as Miss Kuniyuki's on the ground that the issues in both cases are the same and it would be an appropriate administration of justice not to require a decision of the matter in the intermediate Court of Appeals.

In addition to the question of voluntariness, the petitioners are challenging the constitutionality of that portion of the Nationality Act which permits of loss of citizenship under such circumstances. They are also contending that the section does not apply in their cases because the elections in which they voted were not political elections nor was Japan a foreign state within the meaning of the law which requires these elements before loss of citizenship can be decreed.

Decisions as to whether the Supreme Court will hear the cases are expected soon.

The Sing Shengs of Democracy

Sing Sheng had a lot of faith in democracy. He believed in the ballot and majority rule, he believed in the precepts of equality and freedom for all, and he believed that the people of these United States held the same reverence for the principles upon which this country was founded.

So when Sing Sheng learned there had been objection to his purchase of a home in the Southwood district of South San Francisco, he proposed to put the matter up to a community vote.

If his neighbors-to-be chose not to have him among them, he would find a new home for himself, his 26-year-old wife, their son Richard, 2½, and their yet unborn child, which was expected on Washington's birthday.

Ballots went out to the homeowners. And on Feb. 16 they were counted in a garage in Southwood. Before the votes were counted, Sing Sheng said a few words.

"The essentials of democracy are equality and freedom," he told the group. "Please do not make us the victims of false democracy."

And then, one by one, they were tallied off—174 votes against the Sings, only 28 for.

Jubilant, the homeowners exchanged loud, happy greetings as they drifted out of the room, secure in the belief that "majority rule" had prevailed. And Sing had just received his first lesson in applied democracy.

A man more knowing in the inconsistencies of men might not have subjected his future to the vagaries of the ballot box. But Mr. Sing is a comparative newcomer to these United States. In China he served with the Nationalist forces as an intelligence officer. He then came over here, graduated from Earlam College in Indiana and settled down in San Francisco as an airplane mechanic.

He and his family lived in a crowded flat in San Francisco's Chinatown. Recently he bought the house in Southwood, made his first down payment and was then surprised to learn there was some objection to his entry by residents of the neighborhood.

"At first they tried to use a little bit of threat," he said. "They suggested little children might throw rocks and dump garbage on the house if I bought it."

"I was not born in merica and didn't understand."

So he conceived of the vote. He was not afraid of what the results might show. "I was sure everybody really believed in democracy," he said.

There was no real need for Sing to resort to this vote. And, perhaps, there was not complete wisdom in his action. His right to live where he wishes has been established by the U. S. Supreme Court, which in 1948 ruled the restrictive covenant unenforceable by the courts. Nor are principles established by law and the Constitution subjected to the ballot. A 100-1 vote for the right to commit murder would not establish it as a right. Nor does a 174-28 vote against democracy establish a neighborhood's right to practice discrimination.

The danger in establishing a precedent in neighborhood vote to accept or reject a minority group can be seen in the action of Sen. Jack B. Tenny, honorary national chairman of America Plus, Inc., who lauded Sing's ballot box as exemplary of the manner in which the infamous "Freedom of Choice" proposal would operate.

Nevertheless, it is heartening to see that out of the Southwood experiment has come a tremendous national surge of feeling for Sing Sheng and his family. Nationwide condemnation of Southwood's prejudice has made it overnight a symbol of intolerance. Private citizens, the press and public officials have made known their disagreement with Southwood's residents.

Southwood residents have gone on the defensive, while from across the face of the nation have come offers for homes, for jobs, for friendship for the Sing Sheng family.

The trim, neat little Southwood district has suddenly become an example of the cancer of prejudice. Mr. Sing, by his part in exposing this ugly sore to public view, has served the democracy he believes in.

The opposition of Southwood's residents to neighbors of Oriental descent was predicated on the fear that the entry of non-Caucasians into the all-white community would depress property values. This is the argument which realtors and builders of private housing developments long have used in attempts to bar non-whites. But the influential San Francisco Chronicle had an answer for this in its editorial, "Southwood to the World," on Feb. 19:

"Actually, there seems little basis for the widespread fear that the residence of a non-Caucasian in a Caucasian neighborhood will depress real estate values all around; scientific studies have proved the contrary. Scores of non-Caucasians now live in so-called 'white' or even 'restricted' sections of San Francisco and environs, without knocking a penny off the value of their neighbor's property."

MINORITY WEEK

The Question

"People go out of their way in kindness, and not once did I suffer a direct rebuff. But when you see different hotels, waiting rooms and lavatories for whites and Negroes, you are forced to ask, 'Which one am I?'" — Danziel Pieries, Ceylon editor who recently completed a tour of the U.S.

Definition

Of Brotherhood Week: "reaffirmation of the fact that all men, regardless of race, color or creed, must work together in mutual helpfulness if this country is to survive." — California Attorney General Edmund G. Brown.

Fitting & Proper

Cities everywhere paid homage to Abraham Lincoln on the anniversary of his birth, but Albuquerque, N.M., did more than just talk about it.

The city commission picked that day as the occasion for passage of an anti-discrimination ordinance, believed to be the first in the country.

The ordinance says that all persons have the right to full and equal accommodations, advantages, facilities and privileges of any place of public accommodation, resort or amusement within the city of Albuquerque.

A Father's Words

"My son did not give his life in vain for his bravery has now been recognized by the president of the United States and the whole country. And even those persons in America who have felt that the Negroes are second class citizens must in their hearts now know that isn't so." — Van Charlton, father of Sgt. Cornelius H. Charlton, Negro soldier posthumously awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Census

Chicago's "non-white" population increased 80.5 per cent from 1940 to 1950.

Of the city's 509,512 new "non-whites," 492,331 were Negroes. The rest were primarily of Indian, Japanese and Chinese ancestry.

Chicago's population growth in non-white residents, however, was not unusual. In that same period San Francisco's non-white population increased 155.9 per cent.

Political: There will be more political activity by Nisei on the mainland in the 1952 presidential elections than at any time since 1940. Emphasis, however, is expected to be on issues and on the support of local candidates who have gone out on the political limb in support of fair play for the Nisei and on civil rights generally. Only Nisei political group announced to date is a local Arizona group for the reelection of Sen. McFarland, Democratic majority leader. Nisei also were active in support of Seattle's Mayor William Devin in the primaries last week in which Devin received more than half the primary ballots.

Hawaiian note: Richard M. Kageyama, first candidate of Japanese descent elected to the Honolulu Board of Supervisors, will run again for the seat he gave up after admitting former membership in the Communist Party to a House Un-American Activities subcommittee in 1950. ### Cousin Willie Looks at Writing

My Cousin Willie is quite a schemer. He is mostly interested in ways and means to supplement his income.

"I've gotta figure out how to make more geetus," is the way he puts it.

So, all day long, at the market, he has got his pencil out and writing down figures on sides of crates, on wrapping paper, on the back of order sheets, and anywhere he can find a few square inches of open space.

To look at Willie you wouldn't think the mental wheels and cogs are moving. He is known as a good-hearted Joe at the Ninth market, a fairly easy touch for a two-bit loan, and has the reputation of being the best turnip and artichoke salesman at the market. He can shed genuine tears at a moment's notice when a chiseling buyer makes a low offer. He can raise his voice a few decibels above the sound of a siren when he wants to attract attention. He can crawl, trudge, trot, gallop, or break into a full run as the occasion and moment demands. He has been known to scamper all the way from 9th Street up to 11th Street in 10 seconds flat just to horse-collar one of his favorite customers. He is all extrovert, quite unusual for a Nisei, and can shape his pliable face into any mood.

Just as his voice sounds like a sideshow barker's roar, so does his clothing assume that daring look. Levis are standard equipment but his sport shirts are always one riot of color: tomato red is his favorite, with Kelly Green, Sunset Boulevard Purple and Tiger Yellow running a close second. He favors pointed shoes, always highly shined, and when summer rolls along he likes to dazzle the boys with his two, three and four-tone jobs. Part of his wardrobe is that always-conspicuous towel-size red kerchief. Usually it is dangling out of his rear pocket, but in moments of great elation he wears it jauntily around his neck.

It is easy to tell when he has made a lot of sales; he is all smiles. When things are tough, he is dragging his feet, wearing a sad spaniel's expression, and sort of pursing his lips in mild indignation.

Well, it is when this melancholy mood seizes him that he whips out that pencil and starts figuring how to make a little side money. He figured he should be a writer, so he dropped me a line a few weeks ago.

How to Write in Easy Doses

"I know a world of stories," he starts out. "Where can I sell them?"

The kind of salesmen's stories that Willie knows is not quite suitable for publication. They are good for telling in the back room but not so hot for appearing on the printed page.

"All I need to know is the form of presentation. Then I'll type them on paper and submit them to the editors." That is the way Willie reasoned.

He feels that the world is dying to hear his stories.

It takes more than a typewriter, paper and a dictionary to be a writer. It takes study . . . a look-see into sentence structure, analysis of style, and form of presentation. It requires going over each paragraph, each sentence, each word to get the right blend and shading of meaning.

I know Willie won't believe this. He will think I am stalling.

I advised him that he must choose a specific market for which to write. He must decide whether his material is designed for magazines, newspaper, radio, TV, motion pictures, or some other media of communication. If I gauge Willie rightly, most of his material is on the stag-party side and may be suitable only for the Police Gazette.

"How much shall I charge for my stuff?" Willie asks me in all seriousness.

I doubt very much if anybody will ever accept his material first of all. I told him it is a matter of what the publication decides to pay. Then usually have set schedules for payment. The smaller magazines and newspapers rarely pay more than a cent-a-word.

The Payoff

The rest I heard from his wife Sumi.

Willie went out and spent a hundred smackers for a new shiny typewriter. He purchased a dozen reams of paper in every shade and color imaginable. He bought a gross of pencils, two dozen erasers, a celluloid visor to look like a writer, and a whole sheet of airmail stamps.

He went to the library and collared every book on writing he could lay his hands on. He bought three dictionaries and a half dozen manuals on writing.

He did a lot of reading but very little in the way of writing. The production line was fouled up.

In the first place, his typing speed was at a snail-like pace. He would be lucky to get down a hundred words an hour.

In the second place, he often tore up a hundred sheets of paper before he had a final draft of one page of material.

In the third place, he submitted fifty manuscripts, spending ten dollars for postage, insurance and registry fees, and all of them were rejected.

He had spent over $200 in materials, expended about 200 hours of his time, and still there was no extra money in the till. Not even a hopeful word from one editor.

This week came Willie's lament.

"What I need is a good stenographer. Sumi don't want the job. I think my ideas come faster than I can write them down. My brain works too fast for this writing game."

He did have one final suggestion.

"Well, I'll tell you what I'll do." This is Willie's proposition.

He promises to give me his story ideas. He wants me to whip them into presentable shape. Then we shall divide the loot fifty-fifty.

I don't want to rob gallant Willie of his treasure house of ideas. I'll let some other enterprising young man share the wealth of Willie's brainstorm.

I am advising him to stick to his peas and cukes. Better to be the loudest-voiced salesman on San Julian Street, between 9th and 10th Streets, than the brightest undiscovered literary star on the writing horizon. That way, a least he will be sure to eat.

rostrum. Haan made extensive speaking tours during World War tour in which he warned the public against persons of Japanese ancestry, on several occasions sharing a platform with John R. Lechner, then leader of one of the West Coast organizations opposing the release of Japanese Americans from war relocation camps. Haan now engaged in the manufacture of Oriental foods, spoke at a public meeting on Feb. 14 in the Reddley, Calif., College auditorium. The subject: "Frankly, What Is Soviet Russia's War Potential?"

300 Enter JACL Bowling Tournament

Sixty Teams from 10 States Will Compete in National Pin Classic at New Denver Lanes

DENVER—Three hundred bowlers, representing 60 teams—44 men's and 16 women's squads—will compete in the 6th annual National JACL bowling tournament on Feb. 29, March 1 and 2 at the brand-new Elitch's Lanes in Denver.

The tournament, which has drawn entries from ten states, will be sponsored jointly by the Denver JACL chapter and the Denver Nisei Bowling league.

The tourney will be opened officially at 1 p.m. on Feb. 29 with the six-game men's classic sweepstakes but the competition will start informally on Thursday night, Feb. 28, when rag-time doubles are scheduled with a prize pot estimated at $1,000.

With the inclusion of the rag-time doubles the prize pot for the tournament is expected to total more than $5,000. According to National JACL tournament rules all entry fees, exclusive of bowling, go into the prize funds and 40 per cent of the prize money will be paid in squad prizes.

The tournament will be climaxed with a dinner dance to be held at the Albany Hotel, tournament headquarters, starting at 7 p.m. on March 23. George Furuta will act as master of ceremonies and National Director Mas Satow will present the awards.

Most of the champions on the 1951 tournament in Los Angeles will return to defend their titles, including the men's team champions, Sequoia Nursery of Redwood City, Calif., which is entering the tourney with a team average of 944 which is matched only by the Denver All-Stars.

Individual champions who will be back include Shun Nakayama of Denver, winner of the men's singles with 692 and the all-events with 1777. Ken Takeno of Salt Lake City who teamed with Shozo Hirazumi to win the men's doubles with an 1181 total will roll in the tournament with Dr. Jun Kurumada.

Chuckie Watanabe, women's singles champion in 1951 with a 546 series, and Chiyo Tashima, all-events titlist at 1504, will defend their crowns.

With San Francisco and Sacramento among the cities which have indicated they will bid for the 1953 tournament, team captains and league representatives will meet at Elitch Lanes on March 2 at 9 p.m. to pick the locale and to discuss other business matters.

The Denver women's teams will honor out of town women bowlers at a dinner at Cathay Post, 20th and Market Streets, on Feb. 29 at 6:30. All women bowlers are being requested to contact Martha Tanda at KE 9230 immediately upon arrival.

Because Elitch Lanes are located some distance from the downtown area, the Mountain Athletic Wear firm is providing transportation for the bowlers and a bus will leave 18th and Arapahoe Streets every even hour during the tournament, returning every odd hour from Elitch Lanes.

Because of unsatisfactory traveling conditions on Highway 40 between Salt Lake City and Denver, the tournament committee advised bowlers motoring from the west to take either Highway 6 from Grand Junction, Colo., or S30 via Wyoming.

The entries.

Plan Deep Sea Fishing Derby At JACL National Confab

SAN FRANCISCO—Novices and experts, men and women, residents and non-residents—all are invited to participate in the Deep Sea Fishing Derby, one of the special events at the 12th biennial National JACL convention in San Francisco, June 26 to 30.

Special 3-day fishing permits for one dollar will be available to non-residents so that they may participate in the Derby, according to Masami Dobashi, chairman of the fishing event. The resident license can be obtained for $3. Also, for the benefit of visitors and others, fishing tackle and gear may be rented.

Fishing boats, carrying from seven to ten fishermen each, will start out at 5:30 a.m. on Friday, June 27, from a point near Yacht Harbor. The boats will sail under the Golden Gate Bridge and the fishing lines will be dropped just outside of the Golden Gate. The objective: Chinook Salmon. The fishers will have until 4 p.m. to show their skill.

Trophies will be awarded to the ablest fishermen.

Dobashi issued a warning to all participants, "dress warmly." He added that Dramamine will be furnished for all those who succumb to the pitching and rolling of the fishing boats.

Because the fishing boats must be chartered in advance, there will be a sign-up for the Derby. The deadline for sign-ups has been set for May 30.

Those wishing to get the 3-day fishing permits are asked to send their dollar to Masami Dobashi. For further information and for advance sign-ups, Dobashi can be contacted at 1634 Steiner Street, San Francisco, California.

Working with Dobashi on the Fishing Derby plans are Yoichi Moriya, Mas Ito, George Mizono, and Takio Shiozaki.

Top Nisei Bowlers Enter JACL Tourney

Most of the nation's top Nisei bowlers will be in Denver next week for the National JACL tournament which will be held at the new Elitch's Lanes which was opened to the public only this week. The tournament will mark the largest representation from the Midwest in the six years of the National JACL competition with teams from Cleveland and the Twin Cities and three from Chicago, including the Nu-Star Cleaners squad which has the JACL's national president, Dr. Randolph Sakada, on its roster. Hito Okada, past national president, and an active bowler in Salt Lake City, will also compete with the Fujimoto Co. team. Major interest in the team events will be focused on the Sequoia Nursery squad, an aggregation of top bowlers from San Francisco, which will be out to retain the team title. These same bowlers, entering with a 944 team average, also won the 1950 team title under the name of John S. Towata Florists of Alameda, Calif. Fuzzy Shimada, one of the Sequoia stars and a major league kegger in San Francisco, is entering with the highest individual average of any of the 300 entrants—199. Moon Kataoka, Denver star, is listed at 198. Dick Ikeda, also of the Sequoias, has a 194 while George Inai of the San Francisco Nisei Majors' team has a 191. They are Frank Kebo of the Hyde Park Bowl team, of Chicago, George Kishida of Salt Lake's Okada Insurance and Fuzzy Shimada of the Sequoias. Sechi, incidentally, has won big money in several Los Angeles area tournaments in the past year.

One of the "dark horses" of the tourney is Sacramento's Ace Novelty team which is going in with a 926 average. High average man of the team is Ben Hom with 189. Three teams are listed at 901, Okada Insurance, the national champions back in 1947, Main Bowl of Seattle and San Jose's Diamond Craft. Three Los Angeles women bowlers who hit consistently in the 500s in league play are also in the tourney. They are Aiko Fujimoto, Chiyo Tashima and June Jue. Hagiwara Sets Forth 11-Point Program for Chicago JACL

CHICAGO—Abe Hagiwara, president of the largest chapter in the JACL, enunciated an eleven point 1952 program for the Chicago chapter, the Midwest office announced this week.

"Our budget of $15,000 is the most ambitious in our chapter history," stated Hagiwara. "Our membership goal of 2,000 is the largest we have ever contemplated. With a chapter this size, it is necessary to bring to the attention of its membership the general overall objectives toward which we are moving."

The Chicago Chapter eleven point program as set forth by Hagiwara follows:

1. To raise $15,000 for the support of the Midwest Regional Office and to carry on the local program. The finance committee under the chairmanship of Dr. Frank Sakamoto, reports that this amount will be secured through membership fees, fund drive, benefits, and special activities.

2. To secure an all-time high of 2,000 members for 1952. Harry Mizuno, membership drive director, has already put the complicated machinery in operation.

3. To develop an educational program to better inform our membership of legislative and political issues. A well-informed citizen is an intelligent voter. JACL is traditionally nonpartisan but its members are encouraged to participate in local community affairs.

4. To integrate more fully our membership. Our chapter is still growing in size and every effort must be made to involve more and more members and friends in committee work, socials, meetings, and special activities.

5. To organize area meetings. Anticipating an eventual change in the emphasis of our National JACL program which may decentralize our normal program, Chicago, because of its geography, must experiment with area meetings this year. The purpose of these meetings is to bring more members together in a given area. Our monthly Loop meetings will, however, be continued.

6. To raise the information level of our membership, the Chicago JACL must double the present number of the Pacific Citizen subscribers in this area.

7. To recognize leaders who contribute much towards the general welfare of Japanese Americans, especially in the area of youth activities. A civic gathering is suggested. The JACL is best suited to do this job.

8. The local chapter will formulate plans for the establishing a junior citizenship program to bring about greater awareness of civic responsibilities among the youth and adult members in our community.

9. To look into problems of economic security as it affects the Issei. The rank of the aging Issei in Chicago is growing year by year. We must take the initiative to encourage a community-wide study of this problem.

10. To broaden employment opportunities for all regardless of national origin and to push for local and state measures that will secure for all Chicagoans, better housing.

11. The Chicago JACL must continue to work hand in hand with other groups who are working to promote good human relations. With the aid of our Regional Director, our chapter will track down all reported incidents of discrimination as it affects Japanese Americans ... and their parents.
