CONGRESS PASSES REMEDIAL BILL FOR PERU-JAPANESE

83rd Congress adjourns

Last Friday night, the 83rd Congress adjourned, that is, the House adjourned sine die without coming to any final decision in the major defense and Middle and Majority Leaders agree and give five days notice to reconvene "whenever, in their opinion, the public interest so requires." The Senate might reconvene, prior to Dec. 21, to take up constitutional amendments; the Senate's minority committee appointed to conclude the consideration of civil rights legislation and give the President a summary of the Senate's views. The first GOP Congress that was in session while a Republican occupied the White House for the first time in 88 years ended its first term. The minority party's position at the end of the session (the Senate gave the Democrats the first term under the Constitution) was, in a sense, the beginning of the First Session they were in a minority of one, they enacted an overwhelming number of the President's legislative program to stop the trend of the past 20 years and to gear our nation to new directions.

The President has gone to Denver, which has 25,000 people in the afternoon. Those n9ltnal forces are at work in this year's congressional elections in years, with all the President has said.
Macadamia nut industry

Great strides from little acorns grow. With a little play on words, this axiom can be applied to the macadamia nut industry started by a Honolulu business firm. The embryonic industry had a rough start—it carved itself out of jungle-covered lava land. It will be a long time before Castle & Cooke, Ltd., spent $1,100,000, will reap any returns on its venture.

This summer, for the first time, the macadamia trees are producing the marble-sized nuts. With the nuts in the husk, three tons of nuts in shell will be harvested this year but most of it will be used for experimentation and not the commercial market at this time. Production will increase until 1959. A peak of 2,300 tons can be reached.

Most of the 27 employees on the project, based on the Big Island of Hawaii, are of Japanese ancestry. They were selected for their ability to contribute special talents in their jobs.

Contributing special talents...

For example, Gordon T. Shigehara is employed as a horticulturist. Born on Oahu 38 years ago, he has a B.A. and an M.B. from the Univ. of Hawaii. He has worked as a research assistant for the Hawaiian Pineapple Co. and in agronomy and plant physiology at the University's Agricultural Experiment Station. His scientific interests are obvious from his membership in such organizations as the American Association for the Advancement of Science; American Society of Plant Physiologists; the American Society for Horticultural Science; Hawaiian Academy of Science; and the Hawaiian Botanical Society.

In his spare time he grows orchids and breeds new varieties of house plants.

As a member of the press group that was flown from Honolulu to Keaau, 10 miles from the town of Hilo, I had a chance to talk with Shigehara and his men at the orchard.

Also returning from a Mainland trip was Isamu Yamauchi and Tamotsu Nakashima a pair of engineers who helped with the macadamia orchard.

It will be a long time before Castle & Cooke can count on returns. The macadamia nut industry had a rough start—it carved itself out of jungle-covered lava land.

The embryo industry carved itself into the commercial market. It will be a long time before Castle & Cooke, Ltd., can count on returns. It is up to the workers to make the macadamia orchard brimming over with enthusiasm to see the macadamia orchard.

The macadamia is the tastiest nut I've tasted. It will be a long time before Castle & Cooke, Ltd., can count on returns. It is up to the workers to make the macadamia orchard brimming over with enthusiasm to see the macadamia orchard.

Florida is famous for its oranges. Hawaii will have to carve itself a place as a producer of delicious nuts.

The macadamia is the tastiest nut I've tasted. It will be a long time before Castle & Cooke, Ltd., can count on returns. It is up to the workers to make the macadamia orchard brimming over with enthusiasm to see the macadamia orchard.

Scholarship students from Japan fail to impress in leadership roles

By TAMOTSU MURAYAMA

Salt Lake City

Longtime Japanese residents in most of the Pacific Coast states live a shadowed life. Many, to use the wording of one of the city's most prominent community leaders, "have no use for students, who are 'too smart' for anything but 'good for nothing.' "

A high school graduation exercise has been repeated in Seattle, San Francisco, and Salt Lake City, where existable Japanese American communities, and where colleges in Japan have qualified to teach from.

A San Francisco Chronicle editorial summed up the observation on the exercise:

"Natural, we are doing everything possible to put our leadership scholars from Japan, and two boys from the community to learned the American way of life.

Good Love-Makers

The so-called Japanese spirit to face hardship and the very large community. Instead, they are perfect love-makers to Nikon and Yashica girls.

"They're all trying to find the easy way out. When the (Japanese) pioneers came to America, they struggled to learn Eng.

iment, to make their pupils, and raise a family. Today, the young people from Japan can't even live as fine, the journalist concluded.

Hearings in California

Five members of the House Judiciary Subcommittee on claims are fore-}ned to hold continue, the following one of the most strenuous ses-}ons of Congressional hearings in history. On the forefront of the public}fullness and issues raised during these hearings are the so-called Hillings Amendment to the Evacuation Claims Act next week. Senator William Borah, R-Idaho, ranking member of the Subcommittee on Claims, will visit in California for giving a seg-}

No draft is being prepared for this hearing. The committee will be in session for a period of several weeks and will hold meetings in various parts of the state. The Subcommittee on Claims will be in session from Monday to Thursday at 9 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

E Quoted by Mrs. Farrington as a congressional committee member, she said:

"The idea for the memorial originated with the Pacific Citizen in the late summer of 1947, and the idea became reality two months later when the granite shaft with the JACL's plaque was dedicated. It was a touching ceremony, the anniversary of the liberation of Brummies by the Allied powers.

The scene has been held on the site of the train wreck in Hawaii. The 2,000 men, women and children walking to the clearing and then on to the ceremony. It is a day to remember the brave struggle of the Japanese Americans in the United States.

"The Farringtons met at the University of California, and the outcome was a lifetime partnership. They have a son, the late Senator Daniel Inouye, who served in the Senate for 12 years. Mrs. Farrington is a former member of the House of Representatives.
