San Francisco

With the shipment of tickets to the Midwest District Council, the prospective members have reached into every (we hope!) JACL stronghold in the United States. Chairman Joe Nakada assisted by our better half and secretary, Lee now, have the distribution wide open to the cooperation of various DC chairmen and chapters.

In introducing Joe, we must mention the Bank of Tokyo, and his big wheel in the local Chamber of Commerce and the newly organized San Francisco Business Optimist Club. He and our host San Francisco Chapter are setting top-notch examples to all of us by working a strong and strong drive, even at this fairly early stage. San Francisco Chapter Board member Sam Nakamura, who has 3,500 postcards out, and we understand that Joe himself has 500.

It may well be that, as "Merry-go-rounds" see, go the financial fortunes of "Changing Perspectives". So with this in mind, we will all of you JACLers please push the campaign in your area. Remember, it's only 16 weeks until Convention time, and we want all of you to get a crack at the rich rewards.

BOOKLET ADVERTISING

At the risk of making this week's column rather hard to digest, we're throwing another financial problem at you. After all, what a fine way to end the week by shaving a few dollars from your campaign, aren't we?

As always, the booklet will be a top-notch publication and one that really reflect the dignity and prestige of our national organization. The editorial staff, headed by Takie Takaiwa, and our cartoon editor Yori Wada, is framing up an art editor Hats Aizawa and convention art coordinator Hina Shiraide to insure an interesting, informative, and artistic booklet.

FOR BRIDGE FANS

Our host San Francisco Chapter is holding the second in a series of pre-convention Bridge tournay "warm-ups" this month. Also a current series of lessons in the fine points of bridge is attracting a goodly number of students in the Salt Lake area.

Sakura Hamamoto, who is doing much to promote Washington State's goods, is scheduled to arrive in San Francisco on June 3 at Kezar stadium to meet the American press and field champions.
