Refugee workers quitting camp scored by Masaoka

SAN FRANCISCO — Mike Masaoka, JACL representative at the 33rd District, has been at the location of the Japanese worker's camp in Delano, which sponsored the entry into the United States of the Japanese who came for temporary farm workers.

According to the San Francisco Japanese-American trade relations, the program progresses.

Refugee farm workers run off, jeopardize program

Both the three years between the 33rd District and the present Refugee Relief Act, and the program after the arrival of the first group of 120 Japanese who came for permanent residence in this country under the Refugee Relief Act.

Although under these year contracts to work for their sponsors from land filling to magic cards, these 20 men disappeared from one JABC camp and made charges of bad living quarters, bad food and lack of gainful working time.

The strike of the cause was discrimination over pay, working conditions and mainly, the long hours of work, and some of these were without jobs from January to January.

Without giving notice to their contract employers, and writing a series of letters to local newspapers, the workers went to Marysville to work, face another barrier.

The San Francisco Daily ran a temporary halt in this program last week.

Japanese dolls start nation-wide tour, first show in Denver

Denver

• This is being written on the day of the opening of the Denver Japanese Festival. The exhibits in this fashion are always a part of the annual Japanese cultural fare. We hope that our readers will take a look at this event.

DENVER. — An exquisite collection of Japanese dolls, brought to this country by Japan Air Lines recently, is on tour of many U.S. cities with the first one here this week.

The dolls are part of the Festival of Japan, which opened yesterday at the High Center Transportation Depot.

The 13-day Festival commemorating the 13th anniversary of the Nisei World War, will include many sorts of activities, will benefit Denver's Wallace school for brain-injured children.

People in Japan living better, editorial says of economic report

(Oil interest to Stilt, after having read the complete speeches of Edward Fink and Marlatt Revealed prepared at the recent JACL convention, is this editorial to the New York Times concerning the new face of Japan. Alaskan chamber can depict a Japan that their parents, the Jews, knew as a young adult.—Editor.)

For almost 10 years there has been a "revolution" in Japan. It has been stated that the country's whole basis for living had changed. The impact of our occupation has been evaluated in a variety of ways, but there has been no disagreement on the impact. Now, at last, we have a sharp and definitive report from the Japanese economic planners as to some of the changes. They are not encouraging. This book has gone down to bedrock and come up with some facts.

The Japanese are eating better than they did before the war. Rice is somewhat less important in the diet and the protein content has gone up more than 10 per cent. Food is more diversified than it was, and the diversification is in the right direction from a diet standpoint.

Some other items are also significant. The Japanese are making more money than they ever did before. His present rate is double the prewar average. He is reading three times as much in his newspapers, based on actual newspaper print per capita. He is employing three times as much electricity in his home as he had before the war. He is spending twice as much for clothes, and substantially more for travel and amusement.

Such figures are not gueswork. The pattern of Japan is more advanced and better medical service, an enormous increase in the number of schools in school, a better all-around living standard.

It should not be assumed that the social revolution is implied in such figures; it is completely favorable or desirable. The sociologists as well as the Japanese are not satisfied with the present situation and are demanding more. A new draft of the people of Japan has been stated that the basic change is not complete. Food is more diversified than it was before, but there is a need for more

Honda gone-da

- There comes a time in the life of every man when his fame resistance begins to be commuted, and the Holy Order of the Ball and Chain. So it will be with our honoree, Harry Honda, whom we once considered the sturdiest, most reliable of husbands.

Our faith in him as a confirmed hold­ out has unfortunately deteriorated this week when our reliable grapevine advised us that a certain public figure, name of Mickey Matsumoto, was sporting his flashy rock­ n-roll fringes.

Micki, a real dull, works for the city and her folks are in the business of selling fruit. She is one hit four-fall gal. When the 'bitching day,' we asked, to which she said 'I'll wait until after the PC Holiday Issue is out. Cadie, PC holding up a wedding!'

Well, to the PC's super-price year-order for 1956. In lieu of fulfilling material and money will be in the hands of all chapters by the end of Sept. Same deal—no changes in state or district commissions. Featured will be the unmentionables in JACL, the real odds. Like the song from Yokocho Gordon's musical Clam Chowder, 'I'm so glad the rest of you was around.'

It is hopeful of the same kind of sustained support from the chapters that have made every holiday issue a financial success for the organization.

Getting back to our today-to-be, the Japanese seed for bachelor is dokeable, a cleverly derived word as analysis reveals. Late (and proper) communication of which is misgivings. Our second preference: do (mambo, pronounced doug), bash (we like it) and end (confirming what we've long known—we tend to the impromptus). Clout: do (and doables (next pad) which means better take to the end.

While on the subject of money, the Nisei investors in Nippon Productions' 'Take Five, It's Girl!' got a thrill out of the Ellay showing in 14 theaters, box officing with its companions. Two weeks ago we noted that they got the lousiest breaks. It was the name of the Quix club paper during the era when time were too involved with Washington matters to take time for the local delinquents but he had to shove off for the salt beds.

THANKS TO ALL YOURS

by Jerry Enomoto

I here it's three weeks since Changing Perspectives became history, and we're still hearing echoes from music that once enjoyed the festivities. This is all very gratifying to the Convention Board and the host Chapter, and we're sure that our foresight will not be forgotten the "must" of the Convention, i.e., the national council sessions. Honorable Mary Yonemoto, Kathy Reyes and Lucy Adachi enjoyed tremendous success. Joe, aided by sidekick, Tito Sueoka, Florence Higa, Dai Sy Yamanura, and Sayo Soga were some of the stalwarts who worked "backstage", without fanfare, to assure a successful campaign.

HONOR ROLL

Last week we paid tribute to some who gave a great deal of themselves to the Convention cause. We continue now by paying to the splendid job turn in by general arrangements chairman Marshall Sumida and his committee. Backed up by his right hand man, George W. Teraoka, the members kept under control the innumerable details and a problems that threaten the smooth flow of any large scale project like this. Ki Tamashii, Joe Kogos, Noel Nieta, Mitsu Kogawa, George M. Iida, and Dan Nakatsu are the stalwarts who worked "backstage", without fanfare, to assure a successful campaign.

GOOD PRESS COVERAGE

Too much cannot be said of the work of public relations chairman Dlfi Nakatsu, Kaye Uyeda, Will Maruyama, Tats Kubo, who strongly supported on registration problems, publicity and "backstage". The press coverage given our 14th Biennium was a direct result of their hard work and contacts and 1s contribution in his job with JAL. Kaye with her "newswoman"ness, and Will Trowbridge and the staff, contributed immeasurably to the successful campaign.

Tats, although a staff man, put more out than might be expected by an average public relations worker. He certainly demonstrated his "ability to handle". We see him receiving the Sapphire Pin. Don Arlet, a force hance, PIP, is another man who was used by the CB shortly before the show and for more than 14 years, and for his service.

FOR POSTERITY

When all is said and done, what's left of any Convention becomes a Souvenir Booklet, that's what, and the CB can well be proud of a well organized, meaningful article, with the names of those who contributed to the Convention's success, the names of those who put in the time, the names of others that worked behind the scenes.

VITAL COGS -- SECRETARIES

From their position behind the front Convention Board secretary Mary Yonemoto, Kathy Reyes and Lucy Adachi, the daily work of the biennium were carried out. Jack Hirose, and treasurer Tokuji Hedani (for the note for the Sapphire Pin), need to say, all these boys and girls filled in wherever needed when things got "hot".

A special basket of cogs goes to Sumi Honma, to whom fell the toughest and most demanding responsibility all—registration. She took on this job with her characteristic spirit and emerged with flying colors. We're glad that got a crack at being a TV personality on the Steve Allen show in New York, and only sorry that we missed catching her. Sumi was strongly supported on registration problems, and is a shining light in the CB.

A special vote of thanks to our well known Nisei artist, Minoru Yamasaki, for his "Living Perspective", his "pinwheels", booklet cover design, and the program contents. We hope that events reflected a special kind of showmanship and dignity.

THANKS TO ALL

To our National President, George W. Teraoka, and to all the chapters and district councils throughout the land in our heartfelt thanks for your support. To editor Harry Hara, chairmen, staff, "just a few words of appreciation". Above all, much obliged for this chance to play the role of a building (17) journalist. May the coming biennium bring further glitz to the JACL, and all Americans of Japanese ancestry so connections in our efforts to become a "Greater America. And now staples, until we meet again.

The decision of the Supreme Court with regard to the constitutionality of the Alien Land Law may some day be reversed by the Congress. Over 100 decisions of the United States Supreme Court have been subsequently overruled or reversed.

2. Constitutionally, the States and the people have every power not specifically delegated to the federal government. They might consider the Alien Land Law, if necessary, in time, and it would be presumptuous for us to say that the policy therein is not to be abandoned. At the present time Communists are buying land and property, throughout the United States, without any judicial direction to secure legal secrets which their spies can't get.

Our Alien Land Law can be amended to stop this. If we had a statehood for the 48 and if Paul Harvey stated that his researches (confirmed by Whitaker Chambers) revealed that government should own and operate the railroads, it would be natural for the railroads to become a key to the secret of industrial organization.

The American organization's record do not show the nationality of its stock owners. Doubtless, according to the National Socialist, its directors are all willing to use them in the American way to influence the administration.

Volunteers needed

If there are public arguments, one can easily imagine what some people might say in private. And the Communist uninformed of the cause of the alien land law has no new law even for politics.

5. Mexico has a law which provides that no foreigner nor foreign corporation may own more than 50% of any Mexican property within 100 km. of the coast line or 200 km. of the land border. It is very well to imitate Mexico and make the limitation of any 49% rather than 50% and include property within 100 km. of the land border or 200 km. of the land border.

6. The Communist Club of California should sell 'all border and nearcost States the idea to enact laws as provision.'

Nisei and Prop. 13

_JACL's campaign to secure a resounding "Yes" on Proposition 13 this Nov. 6 by electorates of California is vigorously enough at the 14th Biennial National Convention held in San Francisco over the Labor Day weekend, but it has been clearly evident from the beginning that the Nisei individually and collectively, have not taken up the cudgels as they should on behalf of the referendum, mainly because... Simply stated, Proposition 13 would repeal the discrimination against the Japanese American. California State Constitution in 1920 which more than any other single statute restricted and circumscribed the lives and opportunities of those of Japanese ancestry in this country.

Law still important...

Though the United States Supreme Court in the Oyama case in 1943 declared the Supreme Court of Oregon in the Namus case and of California in the Fugii case unconstitutional, those concerned in the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952 eliminated the sanctions hosts for its discrimination. It still remains a California Constitution not only as a grim reminder or racism and bigotry but more important as a readily weapon which many a voter on the day of election and of the Nisei especially has been unprecedented.

That the truth seldom catches up with the lie and then turns back on itself takes their cue for the feelings they have for those of Japanese ancestry. And the consequences of losing a popular vote in that regard. Propositions are valid and cogent, few voters are convinced by the opponents is found in the minority report prepared by the Fowler chapter, that can still has available to chapters extra copies of this city, has been named the Alumni-of-the-Year by the 15-year veteran of the State Constitution, reprinted below is the thoroughly respected and influential Commonwealth of Loma Linda and other institutions in Loma Linda and throughout the country.

As early as 1909 Dr. Haru received the American Broncho-Esophagology at La Plage, Belgium. In 1956 she read a paper onl the Anti-Discrimination Committee.

Dr. H. James Haru, nationally known expert on race and threat-relative of this city, has been named the Alumni-of-the-Year by the 15-member board of directors of the Alumni Association of the 1920 has claimed to know the Orientals better than any other. Each year the Anti-Discrimination Committee listed the arguments in favor as follows:

- Opposition hopes...
  - The opposition counts on voter indifference. Generally, when a voter is not personally involved or on a legiti... to counteract the voice and votes of the Nisei especially has been unprecedented.

- Opposition campaigns...
  - The opposition doesn't want to provoke controversy, for that causes voters to take interest and to study the issue. In this case, less said for or against Proposition 13 the better, the opposition will like it.

There are 18 propositions that the California voter must pass upon, and Proposition 13 is buried among them. Its explanation is not calculated to arouse the voters to the importance or the significance of the issue, and the accompanying arguments are more of a self-conquered to mention that the prejudice that prompted the original statute and the discrimination that results from it is too well known to require the arguments advanced for the Proposition are valid and cogent, few voters will vote on this proposition.

- Rumor campaign...
  - The opposition has not attacked Proposition 13 directly, even though it is the most important question on the ballot. They speak in whispers, in rumors, in ugly conclusions; they are of the belief that the immigrant can not accept the Nisei disloyalty during the attack at Pearl Harbor, knowing it has been, in the word of a Nisei newspaper editor that the "JACL" is a thinly veiled attempt to secure a Nisei vote for its hopeless cause. The campaign is a complete lie and the only one that is false to be effective.

- The controversy...
  - It is only the controversy which has come to the attention of the people, but the statement that the Nisei has disloyalty during the attack at Pearl Harbor, knowing of the injustice committed upon the nation and the lie that has been told.

- In conclusion...
  - The Constitution which is the supreme law of the land, it remains as restricted and circumscribed the lives and opportunities of those of Japanese ancestry in this country.

Ear-nose-throat specialist honored as '56 alumni of year by L.A. med school

Dr. R. James Haru, nationally known race and threat-specialist of this city, has been named the Alumni-of-the-Year by the 15-member board of directors of the Alumni Association of the College of Medical Evangelists, one of the five recognized medical schools in California.

Dr. Haru is to receive the achievement award and a bouquet to be held on Sunday evening, Sep. 23, at the Pacific Ballroom of the Statler hotel where several hundred members of the College and their wives and friends are expected to attend.

Each year this award is given to an outstanding alumnus in recognition of professional distinction, administrative talents, humanitarian interest, nobility of character and unselfish service. Since the founding of the College in 1896, 57 years old, graduating its first class in medicine, it in 1914, there are now nearly 6,000 alumnus and the first order of the alumni received their professional training in the College. The 25-year history of the Japanese American Citizens League and the past decade of accomplishments as recounted in the final report of JACL's legislative anti-the Anti-Discrimination Committee.
