Sunakawa affair aﬄuents

Tokyo--Prime Minister Sunakawa's resignation was announced by the Government on Friday. The Prime Minister's resignation was prompted by the Sunakawa affair, which has been under investigation for the past six months. The affair involves the illegal sale of government land to a private individual.

The Sunakawa affair has been under investigation since February, when a report was released alleging that the Prime Minister had received a large sum of money from a land developer in exchange for the sale of government land. The Prime Minister has repeatedly denied any wrongdoing, but the public pressure has forced him to resign.

The affair has caused a great deal of controversy and has led to a change in the government's policies. The Prime Minister's resignation has been met with mixed reactions, with some calling for his resignation and others expressing sympathy for his position.

L.A. S.F. metro papers urge 'Yes' on Proposition 13

Another metropolitan newspaper in Los Angeles, the Examiner, editorially supported the "Yes on 13" campaign to repeal the California property tax on the Nov. 6 ballot as follows:

ARCHIDGEON IN politics

• Something telling me now Comes 6 after this past poll close, this department will glance to the TV set to watch the national returns, and if we do something to some studio until its end ... Whereas the nominating conventions this past summer were the supreme and climactic news-making activities of the year. The world will be waiting for the news, too. If you want to keep tabs on it, I urge you to watch the network coverage and to have a chance of gaining the White House, And the Republicans are getting just as hard to stay in ... These elections are the most dramatic proof how important a single vote can be.

Our old friend Sam Iukihaka, who may be joining Mike Manata in Japan soon, last week in his capacity as managing editor of the Washington Newsletter, hopes both candidates would "lose some of their more fanatical followers, may not know or remember the issues which could lose him some votes, but yet gain him the White House" ... Sam Iukihaka authored a book, "Revolt of the Moderates", in which he says one of the vital developments of the post-war period in America is the dominance of the "Middle Class" personality of the Party. "... the movement has begun to prosper with international dangers accepted as part of the picture ...."

He concludes the editorial in his Oct. 18 issue under the title, "Ochobuki ..."

• There is no reason, rhyme or excuse for cluttering up Cali­fornia's social, financial and legislative problems with senseless and imprudent laws. Their ex­istence, their current status should be long out of scope, and should be effected in the 1973 session, "Yes on Proposition 13 ..."

SAN FRANCISCO — The San Francisco News came out strongly Thursday last week in support of the movement to repeal the state alien land law, through the passage of Proposition 13 on Nov. 6.

The local afternoon daily said in an editorial:

"The last vestige of a law that has been declared unconstitutional will be wiped from the books with the passage of Proposition 13 on the state ballot.

"This was the Alien Land Law of 1920, which forbade ownership of land by aliens ineligible for American citizenship. A state supreme court held it invalid in 1923, since it violated the due process and equal protection clause of the 14th amendment to the Constitution. Furthermore, all races now are equal in citizenship.

"But the Alien Land Law was passed by the people at an initiative session and it cannot be repealed save by vote of the people.

"We strongly urge a "Yes" vote on Proposition 13.

Bee newspapers recommend '13'

SAN FRANCISCO — The McClatchy Newspapers—the Sacramento, the San Francisco Bee—announced over the weekend that they urge a "Yes" vote on Proposition 13, recommending the imperative alien land law should be wiped off the statute books.

"According to local observers, this is the first time the Bee papers will stand against any alien land law.

"Late V.S. McClatchy went out of the leading figures in the movement which led to the passage of the 1914 alien land law by the state legislature and the 1930 act repealing it.

GARDENA CHURCH PLANS MOVIE NOV. 2-3

The Tacoma Appeal to the Seattle High School officials to have Japanese language included in the courses was advanced by their personal appearance were speaker of the House, John L. G. And Iwao Matsushita, well known Nisei, it was announced yesterday, is to be the instructor of a "cooking bill which would victimize every individual and taxpayer, and increase the tax load on the hands of Standard Oil and a few other giant companies. All of them, being a monopoly control of the oil industry in the state of millions of dollars, has learned that Matsushita, as a trade treaty merchant was active in the front of the Oriental exchanges during War II. WASHINGTON: The Soviet Union has opened a new era, Kremlin gains noted

BY SAM ISHIKAWA

New York

October 15 will mark the start of a new era in Japan-Japan relations which will have repercussions on Japan-Japan-American relations. For on this day in Moscow in the glitzy atmosphere of a formal ceremony the Soviet Union signed a joint declaration ending the technical state of war with Japan.

Except for a territorial settlement dispute, this joint declaration was equivalent to a peace treaty. At the time of its signing the Soviet Union and Japan had been in a technical state of war for 41 years because of their disagreement over the status of Korea and of four of the Kurile Islands.

The joint declaration's salient features were:

1. The joint declaration ended the current state of war, Japan and the Soviet Union will end the existing state of war and enter a "peace" and "good-neighborly" friendly relations.

2. The two nations will recognize each other's rights and obligations which are applicable to everyone equally and will not be based upon discrimination as to race.

3. Principles of the United Nations Charter will govern the relations between the two nations.

4. The joint declaration will support Japan's entry into the United Nations.

5. The Soviet Union will release and repatriate all Japanese citizens still held in Soviet territory, including nearly 300,000 civilians and about 100,000 military personnel.

6. The Soviet Union relinquishes all rights to reparations.

7. The two nations will sign a "West German" formula.

8. The two nations will sign a pact on the joint operation of the sea lanes in the northwestern part of the Pacific between the two nations and the agreement on reciprocal rights of protection for ships of commerce.

9. The two nations agree to continue, after the establishment of diplomatic relations between them, negotiations for a formal peace treaty in the near future.

What is significant about the conclusion of this joint declaration is that it represents a failure on the part of the Japanese government which has now existed for 14 years.

The Soviet Union pledged to "hand over to Japan the islands of Habomai and Torishima, islands and the two Kurile islands of Etorofu and Kunashiri.

The separate protocol signed on the same day provided that the two islands will "undoubtedly be returned to Japan after the conclusion of peace negotiations between the two nations."
