BY THE BOARD:
Responsibilities begin today in every home

Here in New York good citizenship is taught early. On Nov. 7, 1956, the students at the Japanese American Seamen's House in the East Midtown area of New York were taught their responsibilities as American citizens. The first graders in Public School 199 also held a class meeting at the Seamen's House. There were five little candidates, 21 ballots were distributed, and votes were tallied by the teacher.

Dori Lyn, our six-year-old, came home to tell us she had been elected the vice-president. Prejudiced parents that we are we were naturally happy.

The words we treasure most, however, follow: "Did you know it was her right to vote for herself, besides I like Janice most, so I voted for her.

On the other hand.

In 1959, when New York JACL chapter celebrated its Silver Anniversary, Dori Lyn will be just old enough to vote at the next JACL. During the next 12 years, she will probably be plenty of JACLs in New York. Naturally I hope she will be a good JACLer when she signs up.

The assumption is that JACL will still be in business in 1969. I think it will be.

Our good pal Jim Mitamura, president of the Seacoast chapter in 1952. Currently he is on the board of Governors still has a very close friend in the management of local chapter affairs. Jim is like so many of us—just can't get JACL out of our blood. His daughter, Margie, is now the corresponding secretary of the Seacoast chapter. This is the only JACL father-daughter combination in the Eastern District Council. Could it be there are many more like us out there?

The House of Mitsui certainly deserves a well-earned rest. Although the JACL cf AL fathers, like Jim Mitamura, solemnly promise to make their children become JACLers, too, I am not so sure they will not need a break or two before the future generation enters the adult stage. Our membership will increase many fold.

With so many Nisei organizations in New York competing for attention and existence, our major problem seems to be

So great is the hunger for entertainment and vicarious excitement that even movies are sell-outs week by week. The fullness of the experience in three-dimensional effects, played to capacity houses for years. Currently, the big rage is Michael Todd's "Around the World in 80 Days," a colorful, entertaining tale of a non-stop 80-day 69-minute amusing nonsense based on Jules Verne's famous novel by that name.

Tule Lake renounce restored U.S. citizenship

Kirsten Morten Yoshida of Los Angeles, who was designated block leader for the Tule Lake segment at Tule Lake, did not act on his own free will but renounced U.S. citizenship on Jan. 24, 1943, federal judge ruled yesterday over objections of Aast. U.S. Attorney General, Jack W. Hatfield.

Judge held that because Yoshida had not given an unqualified "yes" to the loyalty question on the registration form, he could not be considered as having a will to serve in the army, if he were to be drafted. Yoshida was ordered to give up citizenship when he later renounced.

Yoshida's attorney, A. L. Win, presented the government with an argument, urging that his negative answer was not an indication of disloyalty to the United States.

207 W. 42nd St., New York

Thank you very much for your receipt of March 12, I have continued some protests from Mr. Hashimoto and Secretary Rokka as well as the rest of the Js. They are not doing much by way of improving their service and I was hoping that the Js could help out our club in the future. I have tried to help them but they are not cooperating at all. I am sorry for the trouble that I caused you.

I certainly appreciate your concern about the traffic situation. Our club is always interested in improving our city and we are always on the lookout for ways to help. I am sure that our club can do something to help the cause.

San Diego sister city of Yokohama

NEW YORK—The City of San Diego has established a town affilia­tion with the City of Yokohama, and San Francisco, another process of forming one with a city in the Far East.

This was the statement released by Mrs. James W. Sparkman, na­tional director of Operation Town Affiliations, Inc., in her New Year's message released last week.

Appreciation was expressed to the Friends of the World, Inc., to Tokyo, and the United Nations Association of Japan for their assist­ance to the organization.

SACRAMENTO--A play, "The Good and Obedient Young Man," adapted from a Japanese folk story and produced by student actors, was presented last week by the Sacramento State College de­partment of drama.

This was the report by a Sacra­mento Beat writer, William C. Gluckin, who said that "the show was the most interesting presentation of Japanese culture that we have seen in an American collegiate setting."

Staged in the manner of the War-time Warner Bros. cartoon, complete with commentator and property man on the stage, it proved the chief light of the program. Gluckin said, "the presentation was completely and told with great charm.

In the beginning of the little life is created by the death of his wife and the construction of a mirror and cleaned up by the writer who is a nun who is killed by an angel."
Budget Message...

As President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon—the first GOP team in more than 20 years to head the Administration—delivered his second-term address to the Joint Session of Congress, there was no guarantee that the segment of Japanese ancestry in America would remain unchanged or indifferent. As President Eisenhower is our 34th Chief Executive and Vice President Nixon our 40th, the occasion of their second term called for an analysis of their programs and the impact of their policies on American society. The following is a report on the highlights of their first term, as presented in the new edition of "Pacific Citizen."
