The Pacific Citizen is committed to bringing the JACL house organ, serving as a medium by which the entire membership is kept informed of national and local JACL activities. However, sad to say, it is NOT reaching the rank & file of the membership. Hence, the PC office is left to fulfill the role of its prime objective.

If JACL is to grow in strength and number, its membership must be kept informed and informed of our purposes and activities and aspirations. To maintain consistent contact with all our JACL members, the PC, it is invaluable for its steady flow of news and information.

Such, of course, is the philosophy of the PC and goes hand in hand with a deal of time, effort and money being expended.

An alarming fact is the circulation percentage of a medium like the PC is subject to both competition and the economic structure of the community. In the PC case, the total of $500,000 in federal assistance as a result of the 1956 Biennial was not always of benefit.

It should not be the public officials who will determine the community's needs. For PC to attain its rightful function, it is necessary up to individual chapters.

It should be the leaders. As Operation Cleanup began two days later, many returned to find Negro editor Loren Miller. The Yuba City Observeraided by JACLers. The streams inundated the community the 500-mile Terashima Photo. It necessary to make such an appeal.-Editor.

Salt Lake JACL honors 18 naturalized Issei citizens in 5th annual testimonial; supreme court justice guest speaker

SALT LAKE CITY—For the fifth time, the Salt Lake JACL has honored its newly naturalized Issei who became American citizens but last year at a naturalization held Feb. 5 at Deseret News die House.
After a welcome and introduction of honored guests to master of ceremonies Rupert Hachigusa, 18 new citizens were presented with certificates.

STOCKTON.—Kamatori Sakuma, a naturalized American citizen who became America's primary cause of the detention of some 120,000 persons of Japanese ancestry in relocation camps during World War II, is a speech delivered Feb. 21 at the annual installation dinner of the Japanese American Citizens League.

Two-thirds of the internees were Americans citizens and were deprived of their constitutional rights by their evacuation from their homes and businesses and their detention in the centers, he charged.

Sakuma pointed to the advances made since the war in the restoration of evacuation losses, citizenship, immigration, the repeal of California's Alien Land Law, and the future of certain Issei farmers. And he said that persons of Japanese ancestry still are making a great deal of progress in the problems created by American attitudes.

Despite reports of the Office of War Information and the Federal Bureau of Investigation that no one act of sabotage was committed by a Japanese American in the United States or Hawaii, the idea still persists among many Americans that such acts were perpetrated, Sakuma said.

Lou Trojanowka, a landscape contractor, was installed as president of the local chapter, succeeding Richard Yoshikawa, local photographer.

NISEI REF—The Colorado State high school wrestling tournament was held in Denver a couple of weeks ago, and so it was natural that George Nakayama should drop in. George is the Rocky Ford Nisei who's been making a name for himself in southeastern Colorado as a wrestling referee. He was one of a dozen referees selected to work the tournament, and one of the seven selected to officiate in the finals, so he must be doing pretty well.

George Nakayama got interested in wrestling while attending Denver University. He wrestled in the 145-pound class, but by his own admission he was no sensation. He turned to officiating while teaching in a high school at the University of Denver. He started after high school and it is useless trying to tell how long he's been officiating even though he's not a longer (Incidentally, I wonder what became of Sam Bokari, my old friend who was a Pacific Coast Conference referee. He figures he'd do better out in California."

The combination has lured Nisei farmers who are getting rid of the merchandise didn't seem to get much sympathy.

Although he must feel minus a few dollars, it seems to me that the merchandise is not being sold at a fair price. And that's the case in other places, too."

That, George Nakayama had been making a name for himself in southeastern Colorado as a wrestling referee.

Tied in with this thinking is the need for cooperation between the farmers and the railway companies. The farmers need the railway companies to provide transportation for their goods. The railway companies need the farmers to provide crops for transportation.

Looking into the Future

One reason Nisei farmers are moving to California is the high cost of living in Colorado. They have to feed out during the winter.

While he believes a state civil rights bill would pass soon. He added that he has faith that persons of Japanese ancestry will continue to work on the problems created by American attitudes.

Not long ago George put down $1300 for a new house and enrolled in the University of California at Berkeley. He is majoring in business and plans to take out a license and go into the auction business soon as he gets some experience helping out at the Reisch American School of Auctioneering at Mason City, Iowa.

He'd like to be in position by then to help his son, who is going to be related to a rancher. American film makers, including Joshua Logan, have been questioned and it is announced preparation to present a valid picture of Japan in "Sayonara." He has cast all of his other Japanese roles with performers of Japanese ancestry in the actor with a command of English to set the standards.

But when Logan tried to get two of the top men of the Kabuki theater to double for Marion Brando in long shots, he got a blanket refusal. We spent a good weekend in Portland attending the Pacific Northwest District Council meeting and the joint installation and reception of the Good Government Chapters. We are always impressed with the interest of our members and the upswing of their personal efforts on Sunday to get together for JACL business.

Our weekend in Portland was made all the more delightful by the presence of our dear informants, Helene and Emile, and family. Thank you, Sushi Fujita, Shiz Ochial and Kumi Tambara. The following evening after the banquet, Mrs. Fujita drove an hour and a half north to Woodburn and rescued the Deacon to do the town and wound up with a midnight pizza party. The office of National Director has concentrated efforts in Congress on immigration legislation recently. We may seem incongruous in America to those who uphold the principles of democracy, but through our experiences we fully realize it is not an easy matter to stand up and be counted when many want to declare a moratorium on democracy.

INFORMAL MEETINGS WITH VIPs

Representatives of ten chapters in the bay area had an informal meeting with Mr. Tanaka at Tokyo Yokosuka Mentor, George Cochran Doub, Enn Kashiwagi and Dr. Masa Yoden had a private interview with Mr. Tanaka. The informal session of the group was conducted in Japanese and after the session, Mr. Tanaka had a coffee with Mr. Kashiwagi, who has lived in Japan for over ten years. He succeeded Danar Abe, who had to resign because of poor Japanese and bad travel. Mr. Abe has been a member of the JACL for over twenty years.

INCREASED MEMBERSHIP

The actual drive is over, surpassing previous enrollment with 140 members, or 41 percent increase over last year. The total to 206 for a record high.

We are now organizing the 1957 Berkeley JACL chapter. Karen Ender and Frank Tsunoda are the driving force behind their campaign to lift the number of your members. They are drafting our letter to alert them in the effort to eliminate discrimination.

Eric G. MacNaughton, Masa Nakamoto, Masa Yamada, Charles A. Sprague. In addition to Chris Tomiyama, who modestly stated he did not think he did anything worth this honor, but we know he did do a lot. We are very proud of the American by Americans of Japanese ancestry. It must be highly satisfying to those who serve as our National sponsors.

This is your life!

Because so many of our members missed the original selection of officers for the coming year, we have decided to conduct an election through the mail. We have already sent two thousand copies of the mail. They are available to the chapters in a group of four and, if you choose to have them, you will be notified of the election. The results will be tabulated and a report prepared.

AMERICAN MUSEUM OF IMMIGRATION

During the next several weeks a lecture campaign will be conducted in the northern and central California districts to give our people an opportunity to share in the national campaign for the American Museum of Immigration. The purpose of this effort is to build a museum at the foot of this historic spot. We are writing to letter to alert them in the effort to eliminate discrimination.

The campaign will be conducted in cooperation with the Japanese Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles and the San Francisco Japanese American Association. We feel that the goal of $50,000 can be reached and that many people will contribute a dollar each to indicate a wide support and interest in cooperation with our fellow Americans in this worthy endeavor.

WITH LINKS FOR 1000 CLUB

Our Parlier Charter has been chosen again on its 1000 Club. We have increased two more to bring its total to 25, and Norman Mowry was chosen as one of the two.

The National membership is lagging, but we hope this is because chapters are holding on in order to send in reports summarized in our next issue. We have a record of 231 chapters in operation, and their reports, which have been received.

JACL BINGO HIT

Jack and Bob Sotow and Yoko Mateki were successful in their first attempt at bingo, which was announced this week by Neko Katayama.

At a preliminary committee meeting held at the home of George Shiozawa, it was reported that the present building would be inadequate for any extent, while a new building could be accommodated for $2,000. An effort of the enthusiastic group shown in this project, E. R. A. and the Japanese American Committee, has suggested the committee and a national organization, including Dr. Charles A. Sprague, to consider the question of a school and all-american building projects. The new building might add another dimension to the various experiences with various organizations in construction of buildings, it was pointed out.

SACRAMENTO.—The Placer-Clay baseball league has knocked out the Placer-Nevada league this season, according to Dr. Duane Nishio, current president of the Placer club. He added that the Placer club may join the California Baseball League this year.

Norm Yabe sets two swim marks

DENVER.—The Nisei Intercollegiate Swimming League this year has two new stars, according toC. Paul Uyemura, vice-president of the Colorado Intercollegiate Swimming Association. The new stars are Norm Yabe of Denver University and Paul Otani of Colorado State College. The two have already won some of the most important swimming events of the season.

The Nisei Intercollegiate Swimming League is currently seeking two clubs to replace the Yuba team and become other champions.

Placer JACL quits Placer-Nevada semi-pro baseball league, may join Nisei loop

San Francisco.—The Placer-Nevada semi-pro baseball league, which has been in existence for several years, has been discontinued. The league now consists of only two teams, the Placer JACL and the Nevada JACL. The Placer JACL has decided to leave the league and join the Northern California Nisei Baseball League. This decision was made after careful consideration of the future prospects of the Placer-Nevada league, which has not been as successful as the Northern California Nisei Baseball League in recent years.

The decision to leave the Placer-Nevada league was not an easy one for the Placer JACL, but they feel that it is necessary for the continued success of their team. They believe that the Northern California Nisei Baseball League offers a better opportunity for growth and development.

Figure-skater loses in world meet, but wins hearts of U.S. audience

COLORADO SPRINGS.—White Good's Hart Hotel successfully defended his world championship at the Broadmoor Hotel in Colorado Springs, with the hearts of the audience won by the American figure skater. The 10-year-old Japanese girl showed off her skills to the delight of the American audience, and was awarded the highest score of the competition.

The JACL clubs are widely known as the "last frontier," but just last week the papers reported a motel sold for 250 grand. Fine wilderness accommodations are available too. Just consult your newspaper for details.

DON'T MISS THE FIRST GOLF TOURNAMENT AT TITUSIANA MARCH 24

SANDIEGO.—The Titusiana Country Club, south of the border, will see the start of the San Diego Nisei Golf Tournament March 24. It was announced last week by Mr. T. O. and Marion Johnson, public relations officers of the Nisei Golf Association with a membership of 800 local golfers.

Against this backdrop of competitive golf, however, there are turmoil and confusion. The Nisei golfers are遏出 for the New San Diego Nisei Golf Association, with membership of 800 local golfers, she said. A recent survey showed that 200 of the Nisei golfers would like to see the new association take place at the local state golf courses. The tournament association held at Pontiac, Illinois, will be installed as president of the Colorado Nisei Golf Association. The tournament will be held at the Broadmoor Hotel in Colorado Springs, with the help of the Colorado Springs Golf and Country Club.

The tournament took place at the recent state Haireadores Convention held at Pontiac, Illinois.
Buena Park, which is hosting the two-day events.

The fifth biennial convention of the Pacific Southwest District Council, Emerald Ball—the third this year—hasn’t done time at the Elk’s on Saturday night. John Watanabe will precede the shindig, according to Ritsuko Kawakami, chairwoman Saturday at the Elks Lodge Hall, 423 N. Los Angeles St.

As the civil rights bills and other generally regarded as "liberal" legislation were breezing through both Houses, much talk among so-called "liberal" Demo­crats and "modern" Republicans of the many conservative Republicans and Demo­crats, respectively, who opposed them. But little has been said of the conservative Republicans who opposed "liberal" legislation. However, the GOP retains control of the Senate.

immigration matters might be more sympathetically viewed as President, who. has been in office since 1953, has seen Sen. John McClellan (Ark.) on the Government Opera­tions Committee, Francis Case (S.D.) of the Public Works Committee, Judge John C. H. Hrak, Jr., of California, and will be continued with the backing of the "modern" Republicans, the 1960 White House nomination.

Other chairmen's see no objection to the "modern" Republicans chairing the Ways and Means Committee; the "modern" Republicans chairing the Appropriations Committee; the "modern" Republicans chairing the Rules Committee; the "modern" Republicans chairing the Judiciary Committee; the "modern" Republicans chairing the Banking and Currency Committee; the "modern" Republicans chairing the Finance Committee; the "modern" Republicans chairing the Commerce Committee; the "modern" Republicans chairing the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee; the "modern" Republicans chairing the Agriculture Committee; the "modern" Republicans chairing the Interior Committee; the "modern" Republicans chairing the Armed Services Committee.

As far as JACL concerts are involved, civil rights and immigration matters might be more sympathetically viewed by Nitou that the Republicans might recognize a lesser, but still significant, role for themselves.

Returning to the Texas elections, Houston is the main GOP candidate with the backing of Eisenhower running against 21 Demo­crats and another Republican. Under the laws that will have been in office since 1953, has seen Sen. John McClellan (Ark.) on the Government Opera­tions Committee, Francis Case (S.D.) of the Public Works Committee, and Senator J. T. Currie (N.Y.) of the Rules and Administration Committee.

The main division in Democratic ranks, according to polit­ical observers, is over Ralph Yarborough of Texas, who is opposed by Senator Daniel for the governorship this November. Generally believed to be "the man for an American future," this senator, who is the primary Democratic candidate, has gone for Eisenhower in both 1952 and 1956 and the Republicans hope that the Democratic will split their votes between the two candidates so that their standard bearer will come out the winner. The two candidates, under the laws that will have been in office since 1953, has seen Sen. John McClellan (Ark.) on the Government Opera­tions Committee, Francis Case (S.D.) of the Public Works Committee, and Senator J. T. Currie (N.Y.) of the Rules and Administration Committee.
