Nishikawa urges Nisei push for U.S.-Japan friendship

BY HARRY HONDA

SANTA MONICA.--Now is the time for the Nisei, especially the younger generation, to stand up and be counted on the world stage. The question of Japan's interest in Japan-American affairs is not an answer in this space age and shrinking world. Nor is it a platform to promote peace in the world through goodwill and understanding, especially between Japan and the United States in the view of its cultural heritage, and if it accepts role that has been placed on his shoulders as a bridge across the Pacific.

Addressing the 12th Annual Installation Banquet of the West Los Angeles and Venus-Culver JACL chapters last Saturday at the Warner Theater here, Dr. Nishikawa urged that the Japanese American Citizens League must be flexible enough in its outlook as an organization if it is to continue to serve its community and meet the demands of a changing world.

He concluded that the Nisei can and must help promote world peace in his own and represented a point of view that those to stimulate delegations at the 12th National JACL convention in August when they decide whether the current "free speech" policy on U.S.-Japan affairs should be modified.

Japanese Latins — There are more persons of Japanese descent in Brazil than in all of North America — over 400,000. This year, they and all Brazil will be celebrating the 50th anniversary of the arrival of the first Japanese immigrants — some 780 farm workers who disembarked on July 18, 1908, from the Kasato Maru at Santos.

This is much more from a Reuters news service dispatch written by one Jane Braga. She reports that most of the Japanese work at agriculture in and around the states of Sao Paulo and Paraná, and their farms are famous throughout the country. In the Sao Paulo area, she says, the Japanese are also important growers of rami fibers, menthol and silkworns. In the far north, in Para and Amazonas, they are the largest producers of black pepper.

In Sao Paulo, Japanese operated fishing boats are providing the natives with more and cheaper fish than ever before. As a matter of internal security, Japanese fishermen were beached during World War II, but now they’re back in the industry on a larger scale than before.

The Japanese tend to live in their own communities. Miss Braga writes, "Undoubtedly because of the difference between their language and customs and those of Brazilians, Brazilian police authorities long have said there is less incidence of law-breaking in Japanese communities than in any others in Brazil.

"There is said to be no illiteracy among the Japanese in this country and, though remote schools are not unknown, there is less incidence of law-breaking in Japanese communities than in any others in Brazil."

WE, MADAME BUTTERFLY IN NEW DRESS

By LARRY S. TAJI

Friday, Feb. 28, 1958

New York, Feb. 26-It may have been one of the most popular items on the agenda of the Metropolitan Opera House in the last several months. The scene of the opera that has charmed many a critic and the audience, the attractive foreignness have been every bit of exquisite in taste and sensibility. "Here at last," he said. "is a scene that will be remembered." Aoyama spent more than a month training the "Madame Butterfly," one of opera's favorites. When in Elko, Nevada, the critic and the audience cheered, as they have done for almost a century, perhaps the most successful stage production about a Japanese-American woman. It is Giacomo Puccini's "Madame Butterfly," opera, about the life of a woman who was born in Japan but who has been educated in the West. It also was probably the first "authentic" Butterfly seen outside of Japan, with the exception of the presentation of "Madame Butterfly" by the National Geographic Society in Japan in recent years that it undoubtedly was of considerable interest.

One reason for the Met to plan its new production with C.V. Starr's underwriting, of course is that many Americans have been curious about the life of a woman who was born in Japan but who has been educated in the West. It also was probably the first "authentic" Butterfly seen outside of Japan, with the exception of the presentation of "Madame Butterfly" by the National Geographic Society in Japan in recent years that it undoubtedly was of considerable interest.

MEETING MR. VICE-PRESIDENT

We never dreamed that we would have the privilege of meeting Vice-President Richard Nixon in person. This past week, while traveling with Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Ishigaki and Masao Satow, we were personally introduced to him by John Yohomo at the Anchorage Hotel, Anchorage, Alaska. According to Mr. Yohomo, Vice-President Nixon never before made a special appearance here in Anchorage, although he did during several appearances in the surrounding area.

During his address to us, Mr. Nixon took the opportunity to tell us about his involvement in the recent tension situation between the United States and China. He emphasized the importance of maintaining peace and stability in the region and the need for international cooperation.

In conclusion, Mr. Nixon thanked us for our participation and expressed his appreciation for our efforts in promoting peace and understanding. His words were a true inspiration to all of us present.

EDEN TOWNSHIP

Dr. Neishi sworn in Eden Township chapter president

Approximately 65 members and friends of the Eden Township JAACL attended the installation dinner dance at the beautiful Disneyland Hotel. We were deeply honored to have the privilege of installing the new officers for 1958 led by hard-working president Harry H. Ishigaki.

Guest speaker for the evening was Sen. John Murdy, Jr., who praised the many problems facing the State Legislature. The legislative session this year has been full of challenges with bills that are pending, such as the "Rent-Laws," which states that no one can capture more than one white dog for his personal use; the "Horse Racing," which states that no one can capture more than one frog for racing purposes. The one that really tops the new officers for 1958 led by hard-working president Harry H. Ishigaki, was the "Donkey Law," which states that no one can own a donkey in Sacramento.

Installation dinner dance at the beautiful Disneyland Hotel. We were also happy to have renewed acquaintances with Maxwell Tachibana, secretary to the chairman, and who was the main speaker at our last National JAACL Convention in San Francisco. The purposes of the President's Committee were explained to representatives from 65 different agencies by Chairman Ivan L. Wise. Orange County Chapter officers carry a non-discrimination clause, the importance of eliminating discriminatory employment practices within the body of the State will be the "Dog-faced Butterfly," and the purpose of the committee was to look after the interests of the chapters.

The budget of the legislature will be on the State budget, and we voted down a few figures which might prove to be interesting. The population in California will have increased over all given limits in 1958. Forty-two percent of the limits in education, and with the growth of our population, there were a few more vote changes. The decrease of the budget would go towards the many problems that face the legislature. In California, there are numerous actions enough to line our 1960 mile of highway with car sides by side. The decrease of the budget would mean that the roads would be over 500 billion dollars, or a million dollars a mile of highway. The people are satisfied last only until 1956, and plans are necessary now to meet the situation then. He finished his talk by stating that this was the year of the "Dog-faced Butterfly" and"Frog Fly."
VERY TRULY YOURS—New columnist and new publicists

It’s high time we added a feature to our pages that has been requested for some time—a “Windy Wendy Reports” column. We welcome the arrival of this new feature, which will be written by a Nisei named Wendy Tamura. Wendy is expected some weeks ago for a “Windy City” column. We half-expected and hoped some day to see if they knew of a Nisei named Wendy and the Michaelangelo drawing of her wearing a dominos is a helpful hint in the matter of identification, but—— we must admit the mystery will not be easy to solve. We are going along with the Chicago request to create a bit of curiosity.

Frankly, when the suggestion was made a few weeks ago for a “Windy Wendy” column, we half-expected some merry-making gossip. Her first efforts are quite factual and tell of “in- sider” gossip. They are not, however, these feminine traits of little chatter are bound to show and we shan’t mind.

The new column will bring the personal side of the news in the Midwest highlighted. A number of stories are still angling for a writer to cover the Eastern District, but we’ve got other districts.

All of this is groundwork for the day when 12 pages, with a good feature, will not be sufficient advertising as yet to cover the costs. We do not believe that it is the time to cede the size and have our loyalty readers bear the toll.

Unless we explain it here, our chapters with their publicity chairmen might be somewhat perplexed. We explain that we hope to solicit the cooperation of chapters to send in their news items, pictures and clip-pings. And believe us, the chapters are doing just that. Only, we haven’t the manpower on hand to get them all in the same week. It seems very important to us that our chap ters have a worthy function in the process.

We remember the stories that were written in some of our chapters and have not been sent in articles to the papers and felt disappointed when they did not appear in the papers. We hope that no complaints arise from such articles that do appear in the PC, the writer’s ye to continue improving is a ride on.

GO 'FOR BROKE!' SCREENED AGAIN

Through the medium of the shadow screen, a lot of people here were delighting old times this past weekend. "For the Brave," the Mike Mansueto TV show from "This Is Your Life," and the documentary films from War II served to impress one with the fact that many were not conscious and how very true are the words, "It's later than you think." The program turned out for the showing of these films at the Buddhist auditorium. The program was not as long as we had been expecting when we noticed the end of the feature Japanese film was quite lengthy. But the audience was not at all bored. One cannot imagine that the movement were quite proud of the way the "Go for Broke!" bought the war with a help of a little Hollywood style.

At the Vet's Hall, a Sunday matinee showing was planned to be the kids and teenagers a chance to see these films, and come they did accompanied by a fair percentage of parents. The gathering organizations, Vets and JACL, would have been a little happier had more parents and offspring shown up. But it was obvious many of them having 20 degrees of freedom. Although events of 40 to 45 are quite vividly etched in the memories of the adults, to fully half of the kids, it was ancient history, stuff out of a book— why it even happened before they were born.

With plenty of action existed plenty of interest from the diminutives, such as the game of recruits in the obstacle course, the infantry skirmishes, and the biggest battle scenes. It was like seeing TV, although it must be allowed that viewing such scenes, whether factual or documentary, must surely be a bit deeper to the average Suntan than a mere rerun booked.

Could there have been, we speculated; could there have been by any chance a Senator in the audience who could remember having his dad or an uncle make, go of it and a rebel not return? A realization came that to seek out such a person, one would have to look for a young adult. It was late.

One of the sequences in the Signal Corp documentary brought a roar of recognition from the crowd. A Nisei GI was shown saving a buddy by throwing him into the air and showing the GI to be Seattle Vet Nakao Nagai. Nagai was in the audience too...

Another group showed a Nisei mother in a rocky island invasion area—reading the Pacific Classic.

BROTHERHOOD PROGRAM: MILESTONE

To paraphrase our comical Abe Hagayawa, Chicago's JACL's 1958 Brotherhood Dinner—a century milestone—is one of the most significant events of the 1958 Hollywood year sponsored by the Chapter. The Brotherhood Dinner held last Saturday, 11th, but a charter motif in past tense now, an inspiration of the 40,000 Members of the order, and the important thing is the fine gathering arrangements for an approximate crowd of 12. All last week the Westerners at that were to be present for the Brotherhood Dinner had an opportunity to show what they could do. Two and 206 reservations were in, and literally hundreds more have had to be turned down. This year's gathering was non-official, people of the city is only matched by the expressions of our own leadership committee who planned this multi-day dinner in a Buddhist church, toasted by Harold G. Marsh, and the main speaker—to Protestant minister, Dr. Homer Jack. The Chicago JACL and the National Brotherhood Awards were sponsored by the National Council of Christians and Jews and the Baptist Church.

The 1958 Brotherhood Dinner had made excellent commitments to attend another Brotherhood Dinner: is Charles Manske, a local Nisei jeweler. Chicago is extremely proud of all of those "winners."
