BY THE BOARD:
Nominations open for Nisei of the Biennium

Each biennium, the JA-CL at its National Convention, honors the outstanding Nisei of the past two years in the fields of community leadership and individual achievement.

Once again, at the Salt Lake City Convention this August, five Nisei will be so honored, the most outstanding being named the “Nisei of the Biennium” and be seated at a gold medal while the others will be presented with silver medals.

Along with the above, a “Nisei of the Biennium” award will also be presented to the most outstanding JACLer of the past two years and will also be given a gold medal.

Nomination forms and detailed information are already in the hands of all chapter presidents. Nominations may be made by chapters or other interested groups or individuals.

The final judging will be made at the National Convention by a panel of impartial judges and the selections will be made solely on the information presented by the chapters.

Chapter presidents must complete the compilation of information, endorsements, newsletters, etc., before the candidates have time to make their presentations.

Chapters and others nominating candidates are urged to begin documentation immediately as the deadline for presenting nominations is rapidly approaching. The final nominations for the “Nisei of the Biennium” have until August 15.

All nominations as well as requests for further information and forms are to be mailed to the National Recognition Committee, care of George J. Inoguchi, chairman, 3006 11th Ave., Los Angeles 5, California.

FREE RIDERS — An item in the Pacific Citizen last week — that one George Oumura won a varsity letter at Columbia University as a novice of the rowing crew and stashed away a couple of academic awards as well — revived memories of a couple of other Nisei who used to go along for the ride.

Understandably, not many Nisei are equipped to make too small a college in a rowing game where height is almost as important as on the basketball squad. But jockey-sized men with a commanding presence, loud voices and a sense of rhythm are sought after as coxswain, and here the Nisei are a little better endowed for competition.

Up at the University of Washington in Seattle, which is sort of the Notre Dame of the rowing business, a couple of Nisei did take a fling at trying out for coxswain back in the days when Art Sasaki was, in addition to a Nisei basketball player and good enough at baseball to make his mark with the U. W. varsity. He turned out with the crew for a while, but decided to concentrate on academic studies and baseball.

The other was Taft Torihara who stayed with crew long enough to make his mark as the No. 1 Frosh man a sweep in the college rowing game where height is more or less a must. The shortstop.

Tobihara went to Franklin High School in Seattle. He was a small player for team manager he tutored and kept eligible some of that era's most proper athletes. One of the stars of the Franklin High School baseball team about that time was a fellow named Fred Hutchinson who, currently, is manager of the Seattle High School baseball team about that time was a fellow named Taft Torihara who stayed with crew long enough to make his mark as the No. 1 Frosh man a sweep in the college rowing game where height is more or less a must.

Flight of Fancy — Let's say, just for fun, that Denver's Manual High School baseball team is in the field. The team at bat has bases full, no outs. The batter takes a hefty swing, sends a hot grounder to the shortstop. The shortstop throws home to the catcher for a forceout. The catcher throws to third baseman in favor of his book. It was a good decision, too. Last we heard, Torihara was a big man in a General Electric lab somewhere in uptown New York.

The Academy Award Oscar which she accepted the June 11, 1946, was not a dividend on her performance in "Tehora," any more than it was a dividend on her performance in any of the pictures she has starred in. Among the many outstanding achievements of the Japanese heritage in this country, the association of the Japanese community with American culture is one of the most significant.

POINTING Southwestward

By Fred Tokata

Saturday morning we were up bright and early preparing for our trip to Pismo Beach to attend the 2nd Quarterly JSWNK Meeting. We found out that it's a good idea to start your preparations the day before for during the last minute rush you're bound to forget something, which we didn't have to do this time. All this by breaking copies of the agenda which we had overlooked when packing our suitcases.

We were accompanied on this pleasant trip by Mr. "Seven Eleven" Masa, Mr. "McDonald" Osato, and Mr. "Ike" Yamadera. We stopped in Santa Barbara for lunch, and reversed our course to Pismo Beach at Miko's. We were quite surprised to find five hungry hoboers from the PWKJ who were in search of work. The majority of these area men were Yosi Kozu, George Nomi, Jim Hiroishi, Frank Okamoto, and George Fujita. After trying to solve each other's troubles on one another, we all went off on our way to Pismo.

While traveling along the highway we were listening to the Kentucky Lorry on the radio, when Tom Ho and the Pasadena lunch band whirled by beating their horn. The radio announcer wasn't calling any of his own patter, evidently he must have been carrying away some of Sullivan's way. He was rocking out with a two caroteo of contemporary JAC music. "Yakko" and "Yagy" were not alone but also "Alice" and "Nona" from Frank and Ruby Chanman and the members of the Pismo Beach Police. After which a new stamp was put on the big Chin windows. A debate went on for at least five minutes orWhether we should go on or not, until hunger finally won out over the discussion. We were shown the hotel and were offered dinner, which we accepted with the promise of a bar-b-que steak dinner, with as much of that as you can eat. It was well planned, after a noisy and bang morning, we were all invited to show us the choice clamming areas. The next half hour we all had our limits. The lucky clamners were "Yogers" when we came in, but we countered with "You all's" when we left. "Yogers" was the obvious plan to use. (A party?) After a noisey and bang morning to show us the choice clamming areas.

Mr. Fisher, having proposed the resolution to the community. The resolution was presented to Mr. Kushida, a Resolution to attend. Harry S. Kawai, prominent citizen and board member of the Seattle Chapter of the Nisei Veterans Association, a second generation Nisei, was a banker, a retailer, a real estate broker, and an art museum owner. He was the son of a 5th generation Japanese immigrant who came to the United States in 1906.

Kawai was born in the United States and grew up in Seattle. His father was a successful businessman who owned several businesses, including a hardware store, a tobacco shop, and a hardware store. Kawai attended the University of Washington and graduated with a degree in business administration.

After graduation, Kawai worked for his father's business, then joined the Nisei Veterans Association, where he served as a board member. He was also a member of the Midway Club, a social club for Nisei veterans, and was involved in various community activities.

In 1945, Kawai purchased a jewelry store in Seattle, which he operated until his retirement in 1980. He was also a member of the board of directors of the Seattle Chapter of the Nisei Veterans Association, which he served as president.

Kawai was a prominent community leader and was involved in various community activities, including the Seattle Japanese Language School, the Seattle Japanese American Community Center, and the Seattle Japanese American Citizens League.

Kawai passed away in 1990, but his legacy lives on through his involvement in the community and his contributions to the Nisei Veterans Association and other organizations.
Proceeds from the fourth annual Emerald Ball, sponsored by the East Los Angeles JACL, on May 17 at Park Manor, will be used to purchase medical equipment for the Japanese American Community Center and Hospital, according to President Roy Yamadera.

The chapter dedicates itself in "being the richest" in the Pacific Southwest District for 1959.

As to their annual membership, the chapter has 850 to date, and, as it is believed the genuine, loyal chapter can surpass last year's figure with an extra bit of campaigning.

Of the numerous medical services rendered by the Maryknoll Sisters and Brothers in Los Angeles County during the many years the chapter has been in operation, one of them is cataloging Japanese orphans coming to the United States for adoption.

Yamadara said that under the new expansion program, the installation is seeking one million dollars for the hospital and nursing quarters. Only last Sunday, a "kick-off" dinner was held to start the drive raising money. According to Sister Mary Mary, administrator, half of the amount has been donated by Patrick J. Flynn, Jr., but an additional $250,000 is required to equip the new facility.

PUSH CAMPAIGN FOR SCHOOL BOND PROPOSITIONS

George Konishi, math instructor, is assigned to campaign for the school bond proposition in the East Los Angeles School District. He is trying to provide additional resources for the education of the children in the district.

"Many students have to travel long distances to attend school," he said. "We really need a new building to accommodate all the students." But he did get our name next to some of the prominent JACL officers in town, including PC Municipal officer Saburo Kudo.

Committees were established under the chairmanship of Frank F. Chan, Mac Hwang, Tsu Tsuba, Kay Kwo, Mrs. H.H. Kodani, Frank Ueno, Roy Matsuyama, George Nakamura, Wilbur Sato, Eiji Tsuchiya, James Watamura and David Yokolishi.

The proposition—go to the June primary ballot—are planned to take two or three campaigns in classroom and house-to-house educational efforts created by the doubling of Los Angeles population in major sections of the city.
