

Is the $1 subscription possible for PC?

(An Editorial)

Recommendation that the JACL national membership dues be raised $1 a year to apply for subscription to the Pacific Citizen, the organization's official publication, was discussed and approved at the recent meeting of the Pacific Southwest District Council. This resolution will come before delegates at the forthcoming National JACL Convention in Salt Lake City

It now becomes incumbent for the Pacific Citizen Board to render its views on this proposal so that JACL members can consider the matter and instruct their delegates accordingly.

The PC Board, in determining costs on the "PC with membership" proposal, has seriously studied the possibility of providing the publication at a minimum cost to JACLers - fully aware that a well-informed membership is beneficial. Our annual income from subscription averages $13,000. Of this, 80 percent comes from the JACLer who pays $3 a year and from National Headquarters, which pays $2.40 for each 1000 Club member. It means that $10,400 of the subscription revenue is derived from the membership at the present time

While space here demands that this be oversimplified, the PC Board has concluded that if the $1 rate is instituted, it means an immediate loss of two-thirds income or close to $7,000. It further estimated that if the $1.50 rate, which has been recommended by the PC Board as a minimum cost to augment "PC with membership" and made known generally to JACL officials, the PC still stands to lose 50 cents and if the expected increase should be 5,000 members, the loss amounts to $2,500 in addition to the abovementioned $7,000.

The PC operates without National JACL subsidy at the present time. It is operating on the borderline, however, losing some years and making up on others. Thus, the combined operations may present an annual $10,000 deficit, if the $1 rate is asked.

All these factors were discussed at meeting by the PC Board with PSWDC "PC with membership" committeemen beforehand. Proponents of the $1 rate were present and participated in the discussion, pointing out that a well-informed membership was worth the price and that National should finance the difference. Their hope that increase advertising would make up the difference was too optimistic a view for the PC Board to concede. And were all the commissions (about $3,000 a year) paid to chapters were returned to the PC, a deficit still remains.

However, if the National Council is willing to underwrite whatever deficit the Pacific Citizen incurs,

"The pressure has been especially heavy during the past two years," Masaoka declared.

He said that in line with the national policy of the JACL, stated in a policy statement on international relations, the Washington office has avoided taking a stand on such questions.

an assessment quota should provide for this contingency up to $10,000 a year or two years. This amount may not be necessary, but since the National Council meets biennially, provision should be made for the anticipated loss.

It is difficult to understand how anyone would recommend a program which is earmarked for a loss. If what the PC Board regards as an impossible situation is asked, the National Council should not expect it to perform a miracle. The responsibility must be shouldered by those who agree to such a policy.

A well-informed membership is necessary; however, the facts must be faced. The PC cannot operate each week at the $1 rate. If it is desirable that every member be informed about JACL activities, some have suggested a monthly summary be made available at a nominal cost to the membership, thereby avoid the stress jeopardizing the finances of the Pacific Citizen or raise the chapter quotas. Whatever the alternative, if any change is to be made, they should be for improvement. The PSWDC recommendation appears un-(Continued on Page 4)

STOCKS AND REAL ESTATE - George Inagaki of Los Angeles, one of JACL's elder statesmen, was in town last week looking appropriately prosperous as befits one of Financial Industrial Fund's top salesmen. (FIF is a Denver-headquartered mutual fund and Inagaki was one of its representatives honored with a trip to the home office for an outstanding sales record.)

On his last night here, Tak Terasaki had some of us over to meet with George and debate the hazards of trying to fill an inside straight. It was generally agreed that the odds are against such a probability, although Min Yasui, attorney at law, demonstrated to the financial discomfiture of several that it is possible to come up with a natural flush in a game of five-card stud.

Inagaki noted that in spite of the recession a good many Southern California Issei and Nisei are investing in mutual fund shares, but real estate is still a popular buy. Reason, of course, is families. Nisei wives, like all American wives, hanker for a place of their own and pretty soon the couple has a house and a mortgage. A few years later, when the mortgage has been whittled down a bit, the urge comes for a better house. And so they sell their first home and are in the market for a roomier place in a nicer district.

Pattern's the same here in Denver among Nisei households. Among households all over the US of A, matter of fact.

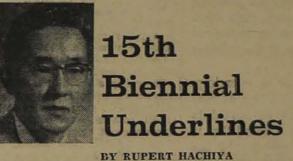

HORROR AT THE ZOO - Among the small fry of our neighborhood, nothing of recent weeks made as much impression as the tragic story out of Washington wherein a small girl was clawed to death when she ventured too close to a pair of caged lions. The story was repeated in tones of delicious horror many times as otherwise nice little girls met and chattered.

Odd thing about their fascination is that today's children are quite casual about such matters as being blasted to death by a ray gun, or being mangled into oblivion in an automobile collision. I suppose that back in the pre-automobile days, out on the frontier when wild beasts were a normal hazard, stories of children being slain by lions and such were quite routine. And when a youngster was done away by a horseless carriage, the news was circulated in hushed and excited tones.

All depends what you're used to, I guess.

PC Letter Bo

LINE OF APPRECIATION

Editor: - My copy of the Pacific Citizen always contains at least one article and oftener more to which I think will surely respond by sending you a line of appreciation; yet somehow I never do. But this spring morning-summer is not quite here in New York-before my family or the neighbors are stirring, I would send you a kind of blanket acknowledgement of the pleasure and the inspiration which the publication which you edit brings me.

I cannot, as I would like in this letter and the time I have before leaving home on a field trip, single out the features and individual writers on your staff whom I would like to thank. It was Bill Hosokawa, Larry Tajiri and Mike Masaoka who really established me as a regular PC reader, but now I never fail to enjoy other special correspondents —and I feel almost personally acquainted with every regular col-umnist. And I never finish my paper without reading Mas Sa-tow's report, if there is one in the issue (he writes every other week-Ed.), and any message from our officers-and I say "our" because I am a member of the New York chapter-and your own editorials. I do, at times, get be-hind in my reading, but usually on occasions, I always find a way to catch up.

Holiday Issue Suggestion

If you ever wonder why PC holds such an interest for me when pressure has crowded out most of my daily newspaper and other reading, I can only explain that it is partly because of the human quality of the reporting, and the fact of which I wish most of my fellow citizens were conscious, that PC is a unique and effective recorder of a segment of American history which is as fascinating as it is gratifying to me as a citizen. As I see it, our people of Japa-nese ancestry are writing a very special chapter in the history of our country which is marked by the utilization of the tools of de-mocracy to advance their interests and not quite matched by any other group. It is this continuous thought that leads me to suggest for the next Holiday Issue, or if not the 1958 then the '59 issue.

Aside from the deep interest, or better said, concern, which I happen to feel for this group of Japanese ancestry, I am continually aware of the great value of our paper as a source of information and inspiration for the future scholars and especially the rods. The Sunday outing set at historians of American life and culture; and so I am thinking that in addition to what is being recorded so well as we go along, we should reach back occasionally, as we might in special issues, and pull together what we can, while we can, of the stories of the convention fishing. There is noth- Issei. I am wondering if this subject would not be good for at mountain trout outdoors right least one Holiday Issue. I am not forgetting what has already been done in former numbers, but there is no danger of overdoing it, especially when we think of its contribution to history.

EAST WIND SIX — While on the subject of cars, I see by a Hong Kong dispatch that Communist China has produced its first automobile, a streamlined six-seater sedan named "East Wind." (Why anyone would need a streamlined car, allegedly able to make 80 miles per hour on the kind of roads China has, is a good question.)

As if in answer to the "dollar grin" featured by Detroit products, the Red Chinese car is reported to have a dragon emblem decorating the grill. And instead of a fishtail or fins the headlights and rear lights are designed in the form of Chinese lanterns.

The news dispatch doesn't explain what the automobile is called in China outside of the translation, "East Wind." Now the word "east" can be pronounced "To" as in Tokyo which literally is Eastern Capital. And "wind" is "Fu," as in taifu or big wind, a word which has been corrupted into "typhoon" in the English language. Using these pronunciations, East Wind becomes Tofu, which is also the word for soy bean curd.

Which recalls to mind that Henry Ford used to talk about making cars out of plastic-like material to be manufactured from the versatile soybean, one of the chief products of North China. And so the cycle is completed.

AMERICA'S FIRST ISSEI CITIZEN

Shigeki Oka, the publisher of a weekly newspaper caller the America Shinbun in San Francisco, has come forward with a suggestion which has considerable merit. Oka has accertained that it will be exactly 100 years next month (June 30, 1858) when the first person of Japanese ancestry was naturalized an American citizen. The man was Joseph Heco, the castaway from Japan who was to become a man of considerable importance in the affairs of his native Japan and his adopted United States.

Heco was 13 years of age in October, 1850 when he went with a party of 17 persons on a sailing trip from his home in Hyogo prefecture to Yedo, now Tokyo. On their return the ship sailing was wrecked at Enshunada. Heco was picked up by an American freighter, the Oakland, and taken to San Francisco. He was befriended by a wealthy San Franciscan, Beverly C. Sanders.

Heco, perhaps the second Japanese of record to come to live in the United States-the first was Manjiro, the fisher boy who was blown to sea and rescued by a passing American ship in 1841—was baptized a Catholic in 1854 and took the Christian name of "Joseph."

Four years later, at Sanders' suggestion, Heco was naturalized. He thus became the first American of Japanese ancestry. The fact of Heco's naturalization was verified by Attorney Minoru Yasui of Denver who checked with the United States District Court of the District of Maryland. "The record still exists in the possession of the court," Yasui reported, "and discloses that Judge William F. Giles was presiding at the hearing, and that Thomas Spicer was the clerk of the court at that time."

In his years in the United States, Heco had many adventures, not the least of which was being arrested in Baltimore in February, 1862 on suspicion of being a Confederate spy. In fact, the Union officials who held Heco suspected him of not only being a Rebel agent but a very particular one, a general who had been traced to nearby Alexandria.

Heco, then 25, was in Baltimore after having visited Secretary of State Seward in Washington and having obtained promised of a job as an interpreter in the American consulate in Kanagawa, Japan.

Upon his arrest friends of Heco came forth to post $25,000 in bonds for his freedom, and the young Japanese was set free and was thus able to visit the White House to meet Abraham Lincoln. Heco, the only Japanese to meet Lincoln, recorded his experiences in his diary under the date of March. 12, 1862:

"We (he was accompanied by Secretary Seward) entered the President's office and found him seated in an armchair tilted back on to its two hind legs, with his ancles crossed over each on the desk in front of him and his spectacles up on his forehead. . .

"Allow me to introduce my young friend, Mr. Heco, a Japanese gentleman," Secretary Seward said,

"The President stretched out a huge hand, saying he was glad to meet one coming from such a faroff place as Japan. He shook hands with me very cordially, and then he made a great many inquiries about the position of affairs in our country

Later, Heco recorded his impression of Lincoln in his diary: The President was tall, lean, with large hands, darkish hair streaked with grey, slight side-whiskers and clean shaved around the mouth. He was dressed in a black frock coat. It was said he was a most sincere and kind person, greatly beloved by all who came in contact with him, and more especially by his party and his friends." Heco also noted that he found Lincoln greatly preoccupied with the problems of the Civil War.

Heco returned to Japan an American in 1863, ready to take his position as interpreter to the American consulate. He was aboard the U.S. warship Wyoming at Shimonoseki when Capt. McDougal ran amuck with deadly effect against the batteries and warships of the warring Choshu clan. He stayed in Japan to play a part in the nation's emergence from feudalism. He learned of the plots and intrigues which undermined the Tokugawa ruling clan and led to restoration

SOMETHING NEW IN THE PSWDC - This past week we were honored to have the privilege of installing the new cabinet of the West Los Angeles JACL Women's Auxiliary at Brands Restaurant in Mar Vista. Delicious steaks headed the menu. We were quite shocked to find that we were the only male in the whole crowd, but we suddenly realized that we never had it so good. We were really amazed at how the ladies conducted their meeting after dinner. A recommendation is made by one of the members, then there is a discussion with everyone talking made and at the drop of the gavel the decision is made me everyone gentlemen, we could certainly learn a great deal on how to accomplish something by attending these Auxiliary meetings.

Seriously speaking, this new auxiliary has a very fine program, and are already very active in the community. Besides helping their chapter with their program, the Auxiliary is a member of the Co-ordinating Council of the community. made up of various organizations, and have made many plans to improve the community. We know that this new group, with such enthusiastic members, will really set an example for other Cnapters in the PSWDC, which are planning similar set ups in their own chapters.

The WLA Chapter has quite a unique situation with Mrs. Milton Inouve serving as their first Auxiliary president, and "hubby" Milton serving as Chapter president. We know they'll see eye to eye! The other newly elected officers are Mrs. Chuch Shishido, v.p.; Mrs. Kiyoshi Sonoda, rec. sec.; Miss Suki Uyeno, cor. sec.; Miss Yuki Sato, treas.; and Miss Barbara Nishi, hist.

We certainly want to thank the ladies for a real enjoyable evening, and a real historic one at that, since this was the first installation of an auxiliary in the PSWDC, and the very first time that we had dinner with 22 charming women at one time (Amen)

7TH ANNUAL NISEI RELAYS - Once again the Los Angeles JACL Co-ordinating Council is sponsoring the annual Nisei Relays to be held June 1 at the Rancho Cienega Stadium. Over one hundred boys are signed up with many more entries expected before meet time, which indicate that this will be the biggest relays held to date. Teams are expected to invade the Southland from the norm, and should really add color to this annual event. We also feel with the calibre of boys entered this year, many long standing records will fall.

We certainly want to express our appreciation to the following airlines, which come through each year to help us out on this annual event. This year as in the past Northwest Airline, Pan American World Airways, and Japan Air Lines, have donated flight bags to be given to record breakers at this meet

The Nisei Relays queen will be selected this weekend, with the queen and her court serving as official hostesses for the meet. We were quite delighted to be informed that we would be one of the judges, along with the Chapter presidents of the co-ordinating council. The co-ordinating council is made up of five of the local chapters, Downtown LA, Pasadena, East LA, Hullywood, and Southwest LA, and is open to any of the other Chapters in the PSWDC interested in participating in various community affairs.

This year the meet is being handled by two capable chairmen, Dr. Bob Watanabe and Arnold Hagiwara, who have been with the meet since it was first inaugurated back in 1952. We know that all of the local JACLers and friends will have a real bang-up time coming out and watching this thrilling meet.

TRADITIONAL GOLF RIVALRY RELIVED

The sports and athletic scene in Seattle has presented many sided picture throughout the history of this com-numity since the time, about 1903, that a group of Issei med a baseball team and challenged the University of Washington.

We have somehow survived through the period, as we shall call it, of "athletic factions", when during the roaring 20s two rival clubs were formed to sponsor baseball, football, basketball teams under the respective club names. and Intense hard feeling types of rivalries developed, which vere stupid and destructive in that they were undermining the economic life of the little ghetto-like community which was hardset by matter of fact problems of existence. It got so that supporters of one athletic faction wouldn't patronize the businesses operated by members or supporters of the rival athletic club.

But the history of mankind and his community life presents an ever changing picture, and fortunately, some of the deplorable circumstances and attitudes of the distant past just die a natural death. Nothing that even resembles the old setup exists around here in this enlightened year of 1958.

The most traditional sports rivalry we have now is a contest between golfing gentlemen. It started twenty years ago, and come to think of it, the originators and big percentage of the participants are hard core JACLers.

The Yamaguchis, father Tad, and Kay, and Min, run the. North Coast Importing Company. The Kashiwagi brothers, "Shang" and Mits run a complete men's clothing enterprise which is not unknown, even in L.A. In 1938, the Y's and the K's challenged each other to a little golf competition; four players on each side. The original players are still upholding the tradition, although this year there were 36 players on each side.

The rugged old timers are Kay and Min Yamaguchi, Frank Hattori, and George Okada. The other camp was represented by Shang and Mits Kashiwagi, Frank Nagamine, and "Sparky" Kono

In 1939, when the second season came around, the Yamaguchis mentioned the fact that father Tad plays golf also; so the entry list was increased to eight on each side. That's the way it has been growing ever since.

Funny thing about this traditional rivalry; no one remembers the record of wins or losses throughout the years, or anything like that. It is only since the past four years, when the players chipped in for a cup, that box score records were kept.

Allowing for no competition during the war years, this year is about the 15th time that the two groups have met, and as always, the score was close. The Yamaguchi North Coasters won by nine points to take the cup away from the Kashiwagis. The contest was held on a course about 40 miles from Seattle, at the foot of picturesque, rocky, towering Mount Si, near the Stevens Pass highway, Route 2.

Father Tad Yamaguchi 71, is the oldest player in the annual event, and always shows a consistent potential in the scoring column. Second oldest player is George Shimizu, 68, who with a club handicap of 12, frequently grosses under 80.

Erv Furukawa is a former Kashiwagi player who keeps in touch with the boys, we suspect with the nostalgia of a Seattle visit in mind just about tournament time.

This year, champs from each club, Dr. Bill Takano (K) and Kuni Nakamura (Y) broke the par 72 with a 71 each. That Takano is a practicing orthodontist, and Nakamura is a graduating dental student, is purely coincidental-ha; please forgive the lousy pun.

In talking to Shang Kashiwagi, we found that the future of Seattle golfing is indeed bright. There are some high school (Sansei?) golfers who played this year. They consistently shot in the low 70's in school competition, but perhaps tightened up a little (not too much) in this years competition with the adults—but "Watch the rising generation" Shang says.

Each side to this annual event has a waiting list of sharp competitors ready to get into the annual hassle. Sometimes at midnight, substitutions are made when a player with sen-iority suddenly finds he can't make it. It happened this year.

Over 100 athletes anxious ready for June 1 thriller

BY GEORGE YOSHINAGA June 1 at Rancho Cienega's spacious oval.

The long list of athletes sparkles with names of the brightest Nisei and Sansei thinclads competing today in prep, JC and college ranks. This bumper crop of standcut athletes should insure one of the most entertaining meets ever put together by the Nisei Relays committee.

Nearly every event on the 23event card is expected to produce spine-tingling competition with the possible exception of the shot put where one man stand head and shoulder above his competitors.

Fowler Shotput Star

Tom Sano, the greatest Nisei weightman of all time, will be gunning to make a shamble of the present meet mark. He could accomplish this feat during warmup throws.

The 6-1, 214-pounder is the California Collegiate Athletic Association champion. He competed for Fresno State College and put the iron ball well over the present mark with a 16-pound shot. The Nisei Relays utilizes the standard high school 12-pound pellet.

Flicking the 12-pound ball, Sano should reach the 56 or 57-foot mark!

While Sano's feat may draw the raves of the fans, another entry nings that he pitched. in the meet may steal some of the limelight.

Vic Mitsuno, the lad who was short-changed last year in the 'quartermile run" will be out to make amends this year. Last year, the LACC runner turned in a 48.6 clocking for the 440. So astounding was his feat that the committee measured the course and found it the game. to be 40 yards short.

Quarter-Miler Mitsuno

This year, however, if Mitsuno duplicates the same clocking, no SANGER, - Mike Tonai of Sanone will question it as the speedster has a time of 48.6 while competing for LACC, in a meet against Compton. This is without Sanger defeated Kingsburg high a doubt the fastest quarter ever turned in by a Nisei. Mitsuno also has a 1:58.6 in the 880. This makes the former Marshall High star the first Nisei to break both the 2 minute and 50s barrier in the half and quartermile events.

Annually, the feature attraction of the Nisei Relays is the 100 yard dash. This year will be no exception.

This year's field may be the fastest ever put together by the meet.

It will feature the first meeting between two gridiron greats-Dennis Ekimoto of Antelope Valley and Larry Iwasaki of Fresno State College. Both can ramble near the 10s mark, as Ekimoto has been doing for his school this past season.

PARKING METERS IN CIVIC CENTER.

A major problem of any business section is the lack of adequate parking space for patrons and Li'] Tokio is no exception. The few near First and San Pedro Streets are not enough to accommodate the many patrons here.

Last fall when the local Japanese Chamber of Commerce circulated a petition to have the city install parking meters in the area, some of the merchants objected and the petition was dismissed. This week, however, the City Council ordered 550 meters to be placed in the Civic Center area including First Street between Hill St. and Central Ave.; and San Pedro St. from Central Ave, between First and Jackson Sts.; First to Aliso Sts.

Li'l Tokio merchants in favor of parking meters hailed the order as a boon to the patrons whos hops via automobile. Installation of the meters was not on the strength of any Japanese C. of C. request, but a City Hall measure for civic center enterprises and services.

EAST L.A.'S NISEI WEEK CANDIDATE

East Los Angeles JACL's fourth annual Emerald Ball went into the records as another successful evening with over 600 attending the dance at a westside ballroom. It also served to introduce Miki Tsuboi as the Chapter's candidate in the 1958 Nisei Week queen contest. Born in Tacoma, Wash., she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Iwaichi Tsuboi, and is employed as secretary at Eiji Tanabe's Far East Travel Service.

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY FOLLOW-UP

So Calif. JACL regional director Fred Takata had one of those busy Friday afternoons last week when he chaired the second meeting of community leaders, who are mapping concrete measures to stem juvenile delinquency among the Nisei-Sansei after being aroused by the recent killing of a by-stander by a gun-toting teenager. Kenji Ito, JCC president, voiced the urgency in the matter when he said "This is no time to be laying the pipes; the fire is here!" Many Issei parents are asking their Nisei offsprings, now the parents of the Sansei: "We took great pride in raising you to become good citizens. How is it that you can't do the same with your children.'

Should the Nisei blame themselves or can we blame the changing times? No one had the answer at Friday's meeting. ON THE FAMILY FRONT

Our second heir-apparent to the Mori Million crashed a May Dance at Bennett's school the other day, Dana, 21/2, joined the school children in all kinds of merry dancing and parading. Then, the woman principal approached Dana and whispered into his ear. He scurried back to Mom and there he stayed until the program was over, so we were told That's what you call real discipline. We like to learn that formula of what the principal said to him.

the air, and for the Midwest JACLers, host chapter Cleveland (not to be outdone by anyone) is spreading out its welcome mat to all JACLers and friends to attend the Midwest District Council meeting over the Mrmorial Day weekend at the Hotel Statler. The meeting will be keyed to its theme, "Ready for Count Down," to tie in with the "new age," according to convention chairman Gene Takahashi, and the formation of a Midwest Junior JACL District Council is their goal.

Conventions and meetings serve a two-fold purpose. Mainly, they are where leaders of the organization converge to chart the futire course of JACL's program and policies. But there are other reasons why boosters come in droves to these conventions — to these booster delegates, it means a chance to see the organization "in operation," a chance to make new friends, opportunities for reunions, and good fellowship. Cleveland, one of the nation's largest manufacturing centers which has revertbeless retained its warm friendliness, has a host of wonderful offerings for all convention-goers. Delegates (if they can find the time) will delight in discovering G.E.'s unique Nela Park, or perhaps a visit to the Rockefeller Park to see a chain of lovely gardens known as the Cleveland Cultural Gardens sponsored by sixteen nationality groups and dedicated to the culture represented by them and to peace, or even still, a fascinating trip on the Cuyahoga River boat to view the panorama of the city spreading back from the water-front. Planned convention activities include a Koffee Klatsch, Smorgasbord, 1000 Club Whing Ding, Junior JACL social, Luncheon at Cleveland's famed Halle Brothers department store, oratorical finals, Workshop clinics, and of course the convention banquet and ball, and more - tennis, bridge, bowling, golf, and sightseeing! In the words of Chicago's amiable Chairman, Dr. Frank Sakamoto, it s up to us to make ours a worthy organization. We must each contribute our time and talents - and attending our conventions is one way to do this. You'll find the convention doings over all too soon. Come join the convention band-wagoo --- we hope we have the pleasure of meeting each of you! Your MDC officers and your host convention chapter have planned this conclave with you in mind, so that all conventioneers will leave Cleveland a more enlightened, stimulated, and wonderfully entertained person!

Civil Rights Roundup

Last week (May 17) marked the fourth anniversary of the historic decision of the United States Supreme Court outlawing racial segregation in the public schools. Last week also witnesses a number of singular events in the field of civil rights.

NEGRG CONFERENCE

For the first time since 1906, when a similar parley in Niagara, New York, gave birth to the National Association the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), Negro for leaders of the nation were called to assess Negro problems and potentials by the National Newspaper Publishers Association, representing the Negro press. Meeting in the nation's capital, President Eisenhower counselled them to "patience and forbearance" in seeking equal rights a week ago last Monday (May 12). He described civil rights as "human problems, because they are buried in the human heart," and declared that "better and more profound education" must be depended upon more than the "letter of the law" in the anti-d anzimination light.

Almost without exception Negro leaders both attending the Conference and clsewhere criticized the President's advice. Thurgood Marshall, legal counsel for the NAACP and their attorney in the litigation before the Supreme Court on issues of segregation, retorted that "The whole racial structure in the South was created by law. It was the law, not the individual wishes, that kept Negroes and whites apart. And these barriers should be removed by law." Judge William H. Hastie of the United States Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit, the highest ranking Negro jurist in the country, declared that no society could afford to be patient "about the open violation of the law." Roy Wilkins, executive secretary the NAACP, summed up the concensus in these words: "We have been patient and moderate and all we get for it is a kick in the teeth.'

USE OF TROOPS

When asked at his news conference a week ago last Wednesday (May 14) whether he would again use troops as he did at Little Rock, Arkansas, to enforce school integration, the President did not answer directly, but he left reporters with the strong impression that he would, if need be.

"There is no person in this room," the President made clear, "whose basic rights are not involved in any successful defiance to the carrying out of court orders."

TIFFANY CONFIRMATION

Last week also the Senate overrode stident Southern objections and confirmed the nomination of Gordon Maclean Tiffany as staff director of the Civil Rights Commission 67 to 13

The nomination had been pending for almost three months. Confirmation will permit the new Commission, which was created by the Civil Rights Act last session, to start its work.

Although its six members-three Southerners and three Midwesterners-were confirmed several months ago, and operational organizations determined, its real work could not begin until after its staff director had been confirmed, because the law vests in him the principal executive and administrative responsibilities.

ASSISTANT ATTORNEY GENERAL

A related nomination-that of W. Wilson White to head the Department of Justice's new Civil Rights Division as Assistant Attorney General, also as established by last year's Civil Rights Act-remains bottled up in the Senate Judiciary Comnuitee.

Southern members of the Committee, whose chairman is Senator James O. Eastland of Mississippi, an ardent champion of "white supremacy", have said that they want to have Mr. White appear before them again to answer certain questions. But, no date for such a hearing has been set as yet.

of Investigation (FBI) to investigate the bombings and attempted bombings of Jewish synagogues and community centers in Florida, Alabama, and North Carolina.

According to the AJC, six bombings or attempted bombings have occurred in the last six months. No arrests have yet been made. There is evidence suggesting the possibility, if not the likelihood, that these incidents are interconnected and that they are all the work of a single group operating in a number of states and calling itself "The Confederate Underground". It appears also that the incidents are connected with equally outrageous assaults upon the Negro community of the South and a particularly crude effort to intimidate a federal judge.

The consensus of expert opinion is that only intervention by the Federal Government, and particularly by the FBI, can prevent other dynamite assaults or lead to the arrest of those responsible for these criminal outrages.

SUMMARY

While it is conceded that the United States has taken some long steps toward equality for all of our citizens, there is still much to be accomplished in the field of civil and human rights.

During World War II, Japanese Americans were appalled the apathy and indifference of most Americans to the violations of our civil rights by the military. Now that Japanese Americans are generally well accepted and enjoy a full measure of civil rights under the law, shall we ignore and remain indifferent to the outrages being committed against some of our fellow Americans because of their color and their religion and their efforts to secure for themselves equality and dignity? In the Line and I all I should be the
