TV shamed for anti-Japanese movies by Hearst columnist

Dr. Nishikawa's article is a call to action against anti-Japanese films and a reminder of past atrocities. He is concerned about the impact of these films on young people and the potential for them to influence viewers' perceptions of Japanese Americans.

The article highlights the importance of education and awareness in combating the negative stereotypes perpetuated by these films. It emphasizes the need for people to be knowledgeable about the history of Japanese Americans and their contributions to society.

Dr. Nishikawa encourages people to support organizations and initiatives that focus on promoting positive representation and understanding of Japanese Americans.

The article concludes with a call to action, urging people to take steps to ensure that anti-Japanese films are not allowed to be produced or distributed. This includes supporting organizations that work to prevent the production of such films and advocating for laws and policies that protect against the creation of such content.

In summary, Dr. Nishikawa's article serves as a powerful reminder of the impact that media can have on society and the importance of acknowledging and correcting inaccurate representations of groups like Japanese Americans. It highlights the need for continued efforts to promote understanding and positive representation in media.
Ye Editor's Desk

IT'S NOT VERY often when friends on the street stop us to ask if we had seen a particular news item. Last Monday, we were asked several times when we were finished with the paper, and conversely, his Issei friends who heard the talk in Japanese suggested the delinquency story should also be made peremptory. We have to admit that we were not aware that any delinquencies were occurring among our younger generation. We were also surprised to learn that the FBI had predicted that there would be an increase in crimes against the Nisei community who have lived here for several years. We have passed the 200 count. It's our responsibility, not only as parents but as citizens of our community, to help in our own way to stem this appalling prediction. Mr. Wayne N. Aspinall, who will be Chairman of the Rules Committee in the new Congress, was the first to promise support to the principle that territorial laws be enacted into law. The FBI has predicted that within a few years, more than 50 percent of all crimes, including juvenile delinquency in Los Angeles, will be committed by Nisei. The same speech, translated into Japanese, was made the same morning by Chuman Sumii last spring at a China­town dance. Yamashiro is now in the care of the California government office building. Nonethe­less, in the spirit of the advertising deadline-Nov. 30-Dec. 6, we shall go to press a day earlier and hence can't grudge the $36.9 million compensation paid to a group which believed, with dignity and loyalty in the most trying circumstances, that the money of court cannot compensate for intangible losses, but it is at least a partial measure of a nation's conscience. Mike M. Masaoka, a representa­tive of the Nisei community who attended the ceremony in the Attorney General's office the day after his release, has been a symbol of the educational program being conducted by the Japanese Americans Youth, Inc. Declared the First Amendment to the Bill of Rights, the FBI predicts that within a few years, more than 50 percent of all crimes, including juvenile delinquency in Los Angeles, will be committed by Nisei. Flower County Chapter's annual goodwill banquet was not only, not in the chapter program, but a warm-neighborhood event. Community officials and dignitaries attended as guests of the chapter, and Mr. Tatsuo Kurumada, President, said that the banquet demonstrated that "it is we 'hakujin' who have learned a great deal from the Japanese, even in their evaluations of our cuisine," so that he decided to become a minister. Mr. Kurumada now serves the St. John's Church of Berkeley, Calif.

With the passing of Mr. Tabel Matsunaga last November, Chicago lost its most respected Issei leader, revered by both the Issei and Nisei. It was typical of his life, and he was, on the move. With Mrs. Matsunaga, he had visited friends in Denver and had gone to San Francisco, when death occurred.

Last Saturday, as his body returned to Chicago, representatives of community organizations turned out in an unusual funeral scene. Seeing the many familiar faces among the Issei assembled at Denver's St. John's Cemetery, it became apparent that in order to mobilize maximum support of the Issei to support the Denver Post, the Chicago Anti-Discrimination Committee got into high gear as a result of the decisions made at the 1946 National JACL Convention at Denver.

Togo Tanaka and Harold Gordon were named co-chairmen during the opening of the convention. During the opening session, it became apparent that in order to mobilize maximum support of the Denver Post, the Chicago Anti-Discrimination Committee got into high gear as a result of the decisions made at the 1946 National JACL Convention at Denver.

At that time, Mr. Matsunaga was about the only Issei leader to recognize the importance of the 1946 Denver Post for the Issei. This was a unique appointment with a deep understanding of Issei problems in general. A few years prior, in 1944, he became one of the founders of the Chicago Issei ADC, which was organized to help with the many evacuees problems in Chicago. It was he who had been the Chicago JACL's chairman was a responsibility which he carried with zeal through six long years of successful completion of JACL's legislative program in 1952. As one of the few Issei college graduates and the president of a second generation, he led a command of both languages, he was an ideal chairman.

WHAT WAS MOST INSPIRATIONAL about Mr. Matsunaga was the moral, spiritual, and historic importance of the Issei. This ability to articulate this message and to understand his Issei audience with the clarity and depth of his own thinking were unique.

In the Chicago JACL's安装 dinner at Famous Jack's Restaurant, Mr. Matsunaga gave a speech that was treasured by the members of the chapter and served on the board until the successful completion of JACL's legislative program. After the passing of the Walter-McCarran Immigration Act, 1948, he was awarded an honorary doctorate degree by the University of Chicago.

Mr. Matsunaga, who was honored as the Vice President of the National JACL, in August, will discuss highlights of a recent trip to the Far East, during which he talked to the JACL about his experiences as a result of the Oriental. His Oriental’s observations on the explosive Far East situation carried in a series of articles featured by the Denver Post.

The Mountain Plains district installation dinner will meet for two days, with the dinner and a dance on Nov. 28 and meetings for delegations on Nov. 29. ### From the Frying Pan

By Bill Hosokawa

Denver, Colo.

THE SERIOUS SIDE—A few weeks ago Editor Harry Honda observed accurately that my reports from Asia to Pacific Citizen readers have concentrated on the lighter side whereas I had written on much more serious matters for The Denver Post. Perhaps, in winding up my observations collected during a five-week trip, it would be appropriate to make a thoughtful appraisal of the Far East.

No matter how you look at it, Red China poses an extremely knotty problem for the United States. Officially we do not admit that the Communist Chinese government exists. Yet, the largest part of our troubles in the Far East can be traced to Red China's aggressive, expansionist policies.

We are pumping billions of dollars, drawn from tax payments, into the countries of Free Asia in an effort to build up economies which will be able to withstand the temptations of going Red. We have risked World War III in standing firm against Communist threats to seize the Quemoy.

How long must this state of mutual belligerence continue? It is necessary to support China at the risk of World War III? How long can we go on ignoring the fact that the Communist regime in China is, in fact, not, not, not, going concern which governs something like 600 million human beings? And if we acknowledged the Communists as the government of China, could we live with them in peace, friendship and honor?

UNANSWERABLE

Some of these questions, of course, are unanswerable at this time. However, Secretary of State Dulles has made it clear that we recognize the Nationalist government on Formosa as the spokesman for Free China and as the hopes and aspirations, entertained by the great mass of the Chinese people. We also recognize that the Chiang government "considers that the restoration of freedom to its people on the mainland is its sacred mission."

On the other hand, Red China has never given us any reason to hope that we can become friends. They have harrassed us at every turn, embarrassed our friends in Asia by propagandistic and economic aggression, tried to infiltrate and subvert neutral governments, provoked aggressive war in Korea and Vietnam.

"The Red Chinese are no longer gandists," is proof positive that life under Communist can be agreeable. Military might, in the form of the great armada of Red China, has quelled the entire United Nations to a standstill. The UN is impotent. The French, in particular, have decided that they simply can't bear to fight the entire United Nations to a standstill.

We also recognize that the Chiang government "con­"

PAY TRIBUTE TO NEW CITIZENS

TOKYO Far East: No. 21, 1951

Ernest Bonelli, was the first to speak. His speech was carried in the JACL Bulletin. Of course when we meet a supervisor the very first question that pops out of our mouths is: "When are we going to lick the Los Angeles smog out of the air?" Bonelli gave five years as the time in which smog authorities can eliminate the foul air from the basin. He blamed 72 per cent of the smog to cars, trucks and buses in the city. He wanted to have an affecting device attached to each vehicle that would cut off smog at its source before it gets into the air.

The Rev. Nicholas Iyoya acted as toastmaster.

Republican Policy Committee, Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, would have moved the world.

In this country need as an ally in this dangerous and troubled world, which grew out of the war, Senator Knowland earned the title in terms of those special interest to Americans of Japanese ancestry and to JACL.

ONE OF THE MOST far-reaching—and least mentioned—recommendations of the JACL's 1959 policy statement would be less concerned with what happens in the Far East and more directly with the relationship of the JACL American citizens of Japanese background. The most fact, much of JACL's legislative achievements were postulated in its 1959 policy statement. What a change in the country need as an ally in this dangerous and troubled world, of which has been favorable to Japan. And this, turn, has made it easier to equate the welfare of Japanese Americans, in this country to the needs of the government, on the battlefield of free world conflict. As a matter of fact, much of JACL's legislative achievements were postulated in its 1959 policy statement. What a change in the country need as an ally in this dangerous and troubled world, which grew out of the war, Senator Knowland earned the title in this country need as an ally in this dangerous and troubled world, which grew out of the war, Senator Knowland earned the title in terms of those special interest to Americans of Japanese ancestry and to JACL.

Up to the end of World War II, almost without a break since the founding of the Republic, our foreign policy has traditionally win without any serious opposition. Accordingly, the Republicans will be as cooperative with him as they have ever been to be less concerned with what happens in the Far East and more directly with the relationship of the JACL American citizens of Japanese background. The most fact, much of JACL's legislative achievements were postulated in its 1959 policy statement.
