Ye Editor's Desk

TWAS LIKE SPRING, but a weekend is Los Angeles. For a while, it was like the morning. But warm by noon. The majestic San Gabriel mountains were in clear view from any house on the North. We heard that the San Francisco fog was coming down the coast. But it's not new as we've logged them before the war—but during recent trips.

There was hardly an Issei or Nisei in Li'l Tokio who hadn't enjoyed this time. It puzzled her so much, she couldn't even open her mouth to say anything. It troubled her so much, she couldn't even open her mouth to say anything. It is true enough that the people of Hawaii are an intricate to observe the tremendous support of the Hawaiian Statehood. Since 1948 both major parties are committed to “immediate statehood.” The time has come to act on this. Any arguments have been: First, the Hawaiian population is too small to be a separate state. Second, the Communist are strong in the island; third—and this argument is not recently made out. But the Representatives and Senators are held under statehood, and the question of a separate state would be Republican.

There is no reason to close out for Hawaii. The fact that the United States is a contributing member is an indication of statehood, but it is only an among many.

The arguments that Hawaiian statehood have been presented from time to time for a generation or so. In 1947, 1950, 1953 and 1954, the House voted for statehood. Since 1958 both major parties have been committed to statehood, in Canada or elsewhere. Since 1958 both major parties have been committed to statehood, in Canada or elsewhere. HAWAII MAINTAINS VIGOROUS CAMPAIGN TO PUSH CITIZENSHIP TRAINING CLASSES FOR ALIENS

HONOLULU - An all-out push to encourage at least 10 per cent of Hawaii's Japanese population to apply for citizenship training classes was launched by the Department of Justice, Immigration and Naturalization Service here in Hawaii.

It was noted that one-third of the 800,000 and fund to help push the Hawaii-Japanese Immigration and Naturalization Act of 1952 was completed in all of the 50 states; only 15,500 Japanese aliens have become citizens.

Hawaii has the greatest ratio of immigrants from Japan to the total population in the United States, Sweezy disclosed.

The organizations involved will be the Hawaii Federation of Clubs and the Japanese Language School of Hawaii, both part of the Thirty-six Thirds Japanese community that probably two-thirds of Japanese aliens are over 20 years old.

Joel Feigelson

He found that many Issei felt they were too old to go to school and learn the things they must learn to become a citizen. "That's why I am telling all the people that all Issei should become a citizen all this time. I'm going to the towns again and again to try to explain why you must become a citizen."

Joel Feigelson said, "We go on the philosophy that you're never too young and you're never too old to become a citizen," and told of 100 people over 90 years old who have become U.S. citizens through the program.

The organizations involved, he said, would provide insurance against the loss of money and property that may have been loaned out at interest.

Those organizations that are becoming alternatives to the Chinese tongs were described.

"They children take care of the immortals," he said, "but as long as they will be taken care of, they are not concerned.

Aside from the intangible benefits of citizenship, Sweezy pointed out, there are tangible benefits that are obtained by all citizens, the U.S., he said, for the procedure is . . . courts, for instance.

"Their children take care of the immortals," he said, "but as long as they will be taken care of, they are not concerned."

Denver Nisei meeting with Japanese team of industrial engineers not JACL tele

DENVER — Stepping overnight there last week to look at a few Colorado small business and industrial projects were 12 management executives and engineers from Japan as part of a six-week tour under auspices of the International Cooperation Administration with a stopover from the Small Business Administration.

While a local newspaper in its Jan. 24 issue said the Japanese visitors were to be guests of the Japanese government for the visit at a dinner, the Pacific Citizen reported that the JACL-sponsored though individuals attending the modest dinner were prominent in local JACL activities.

Even the Japanese visitors paid for their dinner, which was arranged by Miss Tail Disabuse of the SBA. The group then met with members of the local Japanese Association, headed by Dr. F.E. Krueger, Fashion Editor of the Chicago Sun-Times; a Patricia Ball (on the basis of her personality, poise, beauty, and figure).

The group will visit the following stops: Chicago, New Mexico, Los Angeles.

The selection of Nakamura to helm the L.A. Tokio luncheon was a cultural background so auspicious that it could not be ignored. Nisshin Sun was held in Japan, and the Issei attended the dance of his sentiments of being elected to such a high office, a young man of his age. It was a gratifying experience for all those present, and the joy of the occasion was shared by all.

The JACL has a long tradition of promoting cultural exchange between Japanese Americans and their neighbors. In recent years, the JACL has worked to promote cultural awareness and understanding through various programs, including the JACL Cultural Exchange, which brings Japanese and American artists and performers to Los Angeles to share their cultural heritage with local audiences.

The JACL has also been active in promoting the arts and cultural heritage of Japanese Americans. The JACL has sponsored numerous cultural events, including the JACL Film Festival, which promotes Japanese American films and filmmakers, and the JACL Music Festival, which features live music performances by Japanese American artists.

The JACL has been instrumental in promoting Japanese American culture and history. The JACL has worked to educate the public about the history and culture of Japanese Americans through various programs, including the JACL Oral History Project, which documents the experiences of Japanese Americans during World War II and the years that followed.

The JACL has also provided a platform for Japanese American artists and performers to share their cultural heritage with the public. The JACL has organized numerous events, including the JACL Art Show and the JACL Dance, which feature live music and dance performances by Japanese American artists.

OAKLAND. — Oakland JACL will again have a prominent Native American speaker for the occasion this year.

Maria Sato was elected in 1960 to the U.S. Senate to succeed Mrs. Mieko Kajiwara, it was announced last week.

She and the new chapter officer will introduce the guest speaker at an installation dinner dance on Saturday, Feb. 7, 7 p.m., at House of Harmony.

Comprehensive anti-bias housing bill introduced

SACRAMENTO. — A comprehensive Anti-Discrimination Housing bill, introduced into the State Legislature by Assemblyman Joseph R. Turcotte (Alameda-Le.) is expected to be brought up for floor debate soon.

The bill (AB 180) would prohibit discrimination in all forms of public and private housing, and in the sale and rental of lands financed by the Federal Housing Administration, the Veterans Administration, or the Rehabilitation Administration.

Declaring "housing discrimination to be the major barrier to equal opportunity," housing advocates have been pushing for this bill for months and its passage could result in a more equal housing market in California.

The bill, if passed, would ensure that all Californians have equal access to housing regardless of race, gender, sexual orientation, or other protected categories.

Following the "expedited" hearings, the Committee began to "mark up" the bill, that is to prepare the legislation for final enactment. The chairman, Assemblyman Joseph R. Turcotte, was expected to introduce the bill to the full House on Tuesday.

On the floor, Rep. Jason Matsunaga and Rep. Gordon Kashiwagi, both of whom have been active in the bill's passage, are expected to lead the debate on the bill.

This is the year in which the bill was prepared and probably the last year that the entire state will be covered.

Instead of sending a huge delegation from the Pacific Islands to testify to what Committee members already know, they restricted themselves to a single businesslike representative. Even the Delegate, John A. Burnes, sponsor of the principal bill, refrained from the fraternal outdoor of the case by the most concerned spokesman. Their silence was replaced by a sense of satisfaction.

Instead, the major witness was Secretary of the Interior Francis J. Burger, who gave the most impressive and comprehensive testimony to the urgent necessity of statehood for Hawaii as has ever been presented in the same forum in the history of the bill. Secretary Burger has adhered to, then there will be plenty of time for Senate agreement on the principle involved, although die-hard representatives from Texas and Florida raised extraneous arguments.

Was submitted in opposition, and that from a Long Island congressman policy is concerned in its action last year the oft-advanced argument against equality for the Pacific Islanders. Now, more than ever before, the racial ambiguity of the bill and the heart, and not of race or ancestry. The JACL was furthered as Americans of Japanese ancestry both in Hawaii and in the continental United States worked together toward the same end.

The once-favored bill (AB 350) would have admitted as the 49th state, delay in welcoming Hawaii as the 49th state would have been offered in annual hearings and investigations since the end of World War II.

There are reports that even the Rules Committee is in favor of statehood, but the initial opposition of the major witnesses is expected to be a barrier to the bill's passage.

Even the Delegate, John A. Burnes, sponsor of the principal bill, refrained from the fraternal outdoor of the case by the most concerned spokesman. Their silence was replaced by a sense of satisfaction.

Instead of sending a large delegation from the Pacific Islands to testify to what Committee members already know, they restricted themselves to a single businesslike representative. Even the Delegate, John A. Burnes, sponsor of the principal bill, refrained from the fraternal outdoor of the case by the most concerned spokesman. Their silence was replaced by a sense of satisfaction.
