INOUYE PRAYS U.S. STAY FIRM AFTER 'K' VISIT

A simple but important story was told by Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, first Americanborn Japanese to win a seat in Congress. Inouye was reported last week by his wife, Shig Wakamatsu, on a trip to Japan, where he was a guest at a recent meeting of Japanese Americans from across the country. The story, told during an interview with Tokyo correspondent Toshio Watanabe of the Associated Press, was that Inouye was asked by a Russian reporter if the U.S. could live with a communist government in Japan. Inouye replied that the U.S. could not live with a communist government in Japan, and that it was the responsibility of all Americans to ensure that such a government did not come about.

Negroes urge by newspaper columnist to maintain close ties with Nisei

PITTSBURGH.—George S. Schreiber, Negro columnist for the Pittsburgh Courier, in his column last week, urged Negroes to maintain close ties with Japanese Americans from the West Coast. Schreiber wrote that he was present at a meeting at the recent JCSA-NCC convention in Chicago, where he met many of his old friends from the days when he was a child. He wrote that it was important for Negroes to remember that Japanese Americans had played a significant role in the development of the United States, and that it was important for Negroes to maintain close ties with them.

Yessir! Dissolve Natl' Drip, Wash. Office

Yessir! It's been a while since I've told y'all about why I've been deep thinkin' and I've gotta agree innocent generation just ain't deep enough to understand why y'all should do this. Just one thing, why not put the Washington office somewhere else? Like maybe put it in Washington State, instead of the National Board, National JACL. Why not put it in Washington State, instead of the National Board, National JACL.

Next, demote the national office a sorta figurehead position. Don't need all that coordination business about JACL creatin' a rascally group. But anyways, the folks in Washington State... And then, through the DIS-Unity. And then, through the DIS-Unity. Would that state and looking for means to save. Credit must be given to the political majority of the U.S. Congress. They're the ones who forced the man, forced the man, forced the man, forced the man.

CIVIL RIGHTS—For showing such a patiently concerned attitude toward a civil rights issue, Senator Daniel K. Inouye has been nominated by JACL for the 1957 Outstanding Nisei Young Men of the Year award made by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He was "simple-minded," says our colleague Fred Taomae, English editor of the Shin-Nichibei and also responsible to him to speak extemporaneously last week, all the 300 jammed into the room. "With all due respect to the outstanding Nisei leaders..." Taomae commented, "I think there's nothing to watch the Congressmen. The reason, I believe, is his background. I think the background of the Nisei are thinking of shedding their minority consciousness. They're thinking of shedding their minority consciousness.

What is needed is to do the same thing with the folks in Washington State. That's going to be good if not great, too. Just one thing, why not put the Washington office somewhere else? Like maybe put it in Washington State, instead of the National Board, National JACL. Why not put it in Washington State, instead of the National Board, National JACL.

JACL's long-standing record on civil rights called into question suggestion JACL only interested in Nisei rights related

Editor: Before I begin my editorial, I feel compelled to write this letter as a JACL member and as a newspaper editor. I submit this letter because I find it quite disturbing that the JACL, especially in the past few years, has allocated almost all its resources to the welfare of the Nisei. I believe that the JACL has been misguided in its concern for civil rights legislation. The JACL has always been called upon to be a leader in the field of civil rights. I believe that the JACL has failed in this role.

The JACL has long been known for its support of civil rights legislation. However, in recent years, the JACL has shown a marked lack of interest in non-Nisei civil rights issues. The JACL has consistently voted against civil rights legislation that would benefit people of color, the poor, and the elderly. The JACL has also been vocal in its support of National Security Acts which have historically been used to discriminate against people of color.

I am writing this letter to bring attention to the JACL's narrow focus on Nisei civil rights. The JACL's record on civil rights legislation is a matter of public record. It is time that the JACL begins to address the needs of all Americans, not just the Nisei.

The JACL has a long history of supporting civil rights legislation. However, in recent years, the JACL has become increasingly focused on the needs of the Nisei. The JACL has been criticized for its lack of concern for non-Nisei civil rights issues. The JACL's narrow focus on Nisei civil rights is a matter of grave concern.

I urge the JACL to broaden its focus on civil rights legislation. The JACL should be working to protect the civil rights of all Americans, not just the Nisei. It is time that the JACL begins to address the needs of all Americans, not just the Nisei.

I submit this letter as a call to action. The JACL must be held accountable for its narrow focus on Nisei civil rights. The JACL must begin to address the needs of all Americans, not just the Nisei. The JACL must be held accountable for its lack of concern for non-Nisei civil rights issues.

JACL's record on civil rights legislation is a matter of public record. It is time that the JACL begins to address the needs of all Americans, not just the Nisei.

Eighty Miles from Broadway

NEW YORK - Early on a Sunday morning, 80 miles from Broadway, a group of women met to sing and discuss. The occasion was the 40th anniversary of the song "Sweet Adeline," which was sung in a production of "The Music Man." The group, known as the "Sweet Adelines," was formed in 1920 and has been singing ever since.

The group met at the home of Mary Gardner, who is the president of the Southern California chapter of the Sweet Adelines. The meeting was attended by about 30 members of the group, who sang several songs from the original "Sweet Adeline" production.

Mary Gardner said that the group had been rehearsing for the past three months in preparation for the anniversary concert. The concert will be held on Sunday, April 26, at the Hollywood Bowl, and will feature performances by several other Sweet Adelines chapters from around the country.

The group's founder, Miss Ada Dyer, died in 1940, but her spirit lives on through the Sweet Adelines. Miss Dyer was a pioneer in the field of women's choral singing, and her influence can be seen in the work of the group today.

The Sweet Adelines are a testament to the power of music to bring people together and to create a sense of community. The group's members come from all walks of life, but they share a common love for singing and a commitment to spreading the joy of music to others.

The Sweet Adelines' 40th anniversary concert is sure to be a memorable event, and it is a fitting tribute to the legacy of Ada Dyer and all the women who have come before her in the Sweet Adelines.
