Old clothing will be collected by West L.A. JACL Auxiliary for the victims of Typhoon Vera this coming week, according to Mrs. George Kanegai, project chairman.

The auxiliary, in cooperation with the varsity women's, Debate Dept. Store, on the southwest corner of Angeles Blvd. and Centinela Ave., will be open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily, to receive contributions.

Telephone numbers of electricity lines are being received without charge by the utility companies. City firemen will collect the clothing for free, businesses, service organizations, and individuals are asked to have clothing donated.

The So. Calif. JACL Regional Grassroots Convention was held last week at Ito City, Japan.

No. Calif. groups push campaign for typhoon relief funds

S.F.—Several organizations have also announced plans to conduct fund drives for victims of Typhoon Vera.

Largest groups announcing campaign are the Japanese Nichi Kai, Buddhist Church of America, and the Japanese American Chamber of Commerce.

The JACL "Project for Overseas Relief" started off with a $100 donation from the JACL headquarters.

The BCA "Project for Overseas Relief" was started off with a $10 donation from the Buddhist Church of America.

The Nichi Kai, Buddhist Church of America and their JACL chapters are also being sponsored by the Japanese American Brotherhood, the BCA in cooperation with the Nichi Kai and Buddhist Church of America.

The Nichi Kai is also conducting clothing drives in the area with the cooperation of Friends Society. All types of clothing are being accepted except women's shoes.

JAPAN RELIEF CAMPAIGN OPENS IN SOUTHLAND

Cancelling its plan for its forthcoming golden jubilee banquet November, the Japan America Society of Los Angeles instead is gearing its efforts to raise funds for the residents of Typhoon Vera, which disabled the industrial city of Ito City last week.

Over a million people were made homeless and the latest report of dead and missing was over 2,000.

Nagoya was recently affiliated with the JACL and Major Ford and Mayor Parks here last week had suggested some civic organization establish a relief work program.

The City Council in resolution introduced by Councilman Edward Koizumi and Mayor Takejiro Nakamura, was followed by the JACL. Other individuals and firms making first-day contributions are: Mrs. Isao Shinozaki, 50, Catholic St., 225th St., 225th St. and 30th St. Los Angeles 12.

President Eisenhower last week sent a message to the people and government of Japan congratulating the "International Society of Americans" on the United States' sympathy over the typhoon disaster. U.S. military units joined Japanese rescue units in providing food and supplies to isolated areas and bringing out at least 2,000 victims from typhoon-threatened areas.

SACRAMENTO — This column is a special one to bring to you a very dear friend, Mrs. and Mrs. Coffee Oshima. I met them personally right after World War II. But it seems that coffee is a cancer if I've known them for ages. Easy and Coffee celebrated their (silver) wedding anniversary Sept. 26. About 200 friends gathered to help them salute their many years together.

Coffee — his real moniker is Ho-sho, so you can't blame him for preferring Coffee — and the other day that 25 years is a long time and imagine being married for 25 years? He said that all the children are very, very happy about his youth. He acts like a kid, he loves the kids, it's hard to go wrong with 150. It's got to be. Last I heard, from life-of-the-party was 15. It be trying to pull a Jack Benny.

Oshima is a very successful strawberry and grape distributor. The presence of him was mentioned in the Japanese American community. It incidentally, his titles of the two trips to Japan and one trip to Hawaii could be written in a 1,000-page book.

The Oshimas have three grown kids. Michael, in Japan, for his studies; and Allen, is at the University of California, and Sherry is working with Howard Yamagata, reality and insurance agents.

Coffee was one of those who was instrumental in bringing up to Sacramento some 80 Hawaiian families following the National JACL bowling tournament in Los Angeles a few months ago. In fact, Coffee flew to Hawaii three days before the tournament and flew with the Hawaiian contingent to L.A. He said that all the kids are very happy about his youth. He acts like a kid, he loves the kids, and if he didn't, he'd be 150. It's got to be. Last I heard, from life-of-the-party was 15. It be trying to pull a Jack Benny.

THE RETURN OF T. JOHN — It was characteristic of T. John Fujii that he should fly into town at 1:10 a.m. He was off to do one thing, he said. T. John was not a conventional person. He is a personality — ebullient, lovable, looking after all the sensations of life—one of a handful of rugged, rugged, likable individuals who grew up in the Nisei world during the hungry Depression era.

The years had changed Fujii but little. Slightly rotund, he walked with a strut as he left the airliner, almost like an unexcepted Oriental potentate leaving his private plane, not just another guy coming in on a coach flight. He wore the same dark framed glasses and small mustache. His hat was perched far back on a shock of hair just beginning to recede.

The accident of birth made Fujii a Japanese. His father, a Methodist, brought him to the United States as a small child and he was indistinguishable from other Nisei except in the eyes of the law. The law was imposable. T. John Fujii was an alien and the law at that time said that alien was an American. Perhaps that was one of the big reasons he did not hesitate to quit New York, which he loved, for a newspaper job in Singapore.

The war caught Fujii there. If his heart was still American, Fujii had no choice then but to accept the fact that he was legally a Japanese citizen. The British shipped him to a concentration camp in India, and eventually he was sent to Japan as an exchange of civilians.

STRAINS AND ADVENTURES — The war brought stranger adventures to T. John Fujii. Anxious to utilize his knowledge of the English language, the Japanese sent Fujii back to Southeast Asia — Singapore, Rangoon, Shanghai, and back to India. Handcuffed, blindfolded, like a man, on his feet in adversity and misfortune. The knock saved him in Burma, saved him in Malay in adventures too numerous to mention here, and landed him broke and hungry. His hat was perched far back on a shock of hair just beginning to recede.

American news agencies were crying for men with bi-lingual gifts. Not only could Fujii speak both languages fluently, he was something of an expert, experienced, fast-working newspaperman. He got along fine.

Last fall, he returned to the United States on a brief trip. It had been exactly 20 years since he had seen any of his friends in the United States. He had been in Singapore.

VIEWER'S VISITATIONS — Fujii's current mission took him from San Francisco to New York and back. This was a route he had traveled during the Depression in a dirigible. "Times haven't changed too much," he quipped. "This time I'm bumming my way around the country by airplane."

Fujii, a skilled observer, had some pertinent comments about the Nisei with whom he is still allied by blood. He had broadened his horizons immeasurably in 20 years. They are citizens of the world, and their interests are as broad as the world. In short, they have reached maturity.

"In short, they have reached maturity. The Nisei are rich, really rich, and some are as poor as their parents. They do not need the Nisei are rich, really rich, and some are as poor as their parents. They do not need the Japanese language as a means of communication. If you can talk English, please talk English. Please contact San Francisco Confectioner.
THOUSAND CLUB NOTES

By Bill Matsumoto

IT'S LATER THAN YOU THINK.—With the Yuletide spirit fast approaching, it is time once again and see if all of our 1000 Club members are in good standing to be included in the annual Pacific Citizen Holiday Issue "honor roll". I have been notified that the deadline for names appearing in the "honor roll" is Dec. 1, 1959. I understand some of my 1000 Club members did not receive the recognition they so well deserve. Hence, all chapter 1000 Club members are urged to comply with the annual deadline of members this year. The 1959 Honor Roll will include those in good standing as of Dec. 1. To the members whose renewals are still due in the next few weeks are urged to settle that matter as quickly as possible.

ONE OF THE FINEST.—According to reports from the recent EDC-MDC convention in New York, it was one of the finest conventions enjoyed by those who attended. Our folks go off to chairman Akira Hayashi and his hard-working crew. The arrangements were excellent. The whaling was really a whale of a good one. At the meeting over, I believe there will be no further explanation necessary to show how the Institute serves as the chapter's representative to the State of Washington and its people.

As a referendum measure, to be placed before the voters of the State on March 19, this general election has already been approved by the Washington State Legislature. It is therefore to the Institute to be honored. A feature-length Japanese movie and selected subjects will be shown tonight at the regular meeting in Philadelphia tonight

SEVEN YEARS.—According to reports from the recent District Council meeting on Thursday, Dec. 10, the Pacific Northwest District Council has requested that the chapter be invited to send representatives to the Pacific Northwest International Day celebration to be held at the University of Washington, Seattle, on Dec. 21. The 1960 Pacific Northwest International Day celebration will be the 16th biennial national JACL convention in the State of Washington and the 16th joint meeting of the chapter and the chapter's sister organization.

BUSY OCTOBER.—For the general meeting, Oct. 22, at the Institute headquarters, there were 28 renewal memberships received during the last few weeks. The World Series has finally come to an end for us in Los Angeles and things will start getting back to normal. The phone will begin to ring slowly and we can get out of the office, which was just to the contrary earlier this week. Yes, Los Angeles certainly became baseball crazy and fast-boat crazy this year. We were fortunate to see one of the World Series games through courtesy of our buddy Joe Komuro, who had a couple of those priceless ducats. Our first time at a World Series game was through courtesy of our buddy Joe Komuro, who had a couple of those priceless ducats. As we glanced around we noticed that this young, energetic, friendly, and fast-boat-crazy Los Angeles was just beginning to find out what a real baseball fan likes to go to the games, what a real baseball fan likes to do. Christians will not flourish in Japan until wave of materialism collapses, says California-born missioner

Japan is rising the crest of a wave of materialism as Japan emerges from 20 years of economic decline.

When the economic upswing breaks through, the Japanese are not considering the spiritual values in life. They are determined to enjoy life the way the Westerners do. Individualism was the ruling factor in the Japanese's past.

But to this die-hard and loyal Cub rooter (and the Veteran Thousand Clubber, Harry Mizuno, displays -- I'll tell you why later), the song for the day, however, after the conclusion of the second game is appropriately enough, "What a Difference a Day Makes" as the Los Angeles fans (also known as the Black Sox) lose by such a small margin.

Office manners and sports protocol were completely dispensed with, and the usual musical strains to soothe the savage beasts we hear from 9 to 9 through the courtesy of "Muzak" which now takes its place in the various establishments.

Living Standards Higher

While living standards are not too high, what is lacking is the amassment and distribution of the wealth. The consumption of material goods, TV sets, refrigerators, cars, etc., has brought to them a supreme happiness, an illusion of wealth.

Lack of spiritual tradition.

There is no lack of athletic tradition. Shandong and Ho-chi- as a whole, have no influence on their lives. When questioned why they play baseball, they shrug, "Don't know why. Probably out of respect for Christianity as they see it manifest in baseball." (High degree of natural goodness and a sense of duty -- they "hate" the Gospel messages of salvation, "sin" and "God's will").

Tommy Kono of Honolulu last week raised a total of 425 kilograms (937 pounds) in three lifts to win his third world middleweight weightlifting championship in Warsaw. The 29-year-old Miss successfully defended his title against veteran Ted Birkett of Australia, who failed in a final supreme effort to overtake Kono Birkett, who scored a total 873 kilograms in his last lift. In addition to his previous world middleweight records, Kono also holds the Olympic title for lightweight in 1936 and for middle heavyweight in 1956.

RESPECTFUL of the domicile states of residence. This latter eliminates the units might be kept together is another of JACL's longtime objectives. Of course, proper safeguards to protect community relatives of United States citizens and lawfully resident aliens, the spouses or children of United States citizens or aliens based in this country until June 30, 1961, and the period McCarran Act of 1952.

Both provisions are amendments to the Act of September 11, 1949. Recognizing in part this JACL principle, Public Law 86-363, signed by the President September 9, 1959, permits adoption of orphans by any United States citizen or alien residing in the United States. Any other provision may apply to any other organized unit.

Domestic airlines eye Oriental stewardesses as color ban hit

WASHINGTON - Increasing numbers of American airlines serving in the domestic field have been reported in favor for air stewardesses, the Hokusei Manbini was informed.

This is good news for a large number of American airlines for the job with Pan American Airways, Trans World Airlines and others who meet all required qualifications. However, even this crucial test—ability to speak Japanese—remains an unanswerable question.

Japanese citizens require no ability to speak Japanese. The Pacific Airlines initiated its service to Lake Tahoe, Scotts Valley and other short-stop points only after a Nisei employee was selected from its pool of Oriental-speaking flight attendants.

Central Airlines, in far away Texas, recently carried advertising which uses the word "stewardesses of Oriental descent" in a manner that would apply to our own organization and are very applicable in looking for a Negro pilot and are flying for New York Airways, a heli- ter service, and Seaboard, a freight line.

$10,000 added to JACL endowment

SACRAMENTO, Calif. - The National JACL Director Minutes Salvo announced the recent addition of $10,000 to the National JACL Endowment Fund (F) from additional registration fees and Donor's Fund claims awards.

In his address at the annual convention, he said that the public acknowledge enormous contributions, Salvo underscored the need for additional funds to support the national organization for this fiscal year.

The Washington State Roosevelts have announced the following finding a public hearing on Sept. 7. The Roosevelt Golf Clubs of the Roosevelt Golf Clubs, Beacon Hill Women's Golf Club, and Olympic Hill Men's Golf Club.

"Negro golfers have been repeatedly denied service at these clubs because of their races," the Roosevelt Golf Clubs.

"We are forwarding recommendations in these clubs to the State Department of Community Planning to the effect that the Roosevelt Golf Clubs, Beacon Hill Women's Golf Club, and Olympic Hill Men's Golf Club.

The Roosevelt Golf Clubs have been cited for discrimination against Negro golfers.

A poll of all NVL members will be held to determine the number of Negroes residing in the state of Oregon. The results will be sent to the JACL headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Nisei Voters League light on for recommendations

SACRAMENTO, Calif. - The JACL has proposed that immigrants on the second, third and fourth preference waiting lists be allowed to enter this country on a permanent basis under the terms of the basic 1952 Act.

Public Law 86-363, signed by the President September 9, 1959, permits adoption of orphans by any United States citizen or alien residing in the United States. Any other provision may apply to any other organized unit.

By the JACL, consultation is to be conducted with United States citizens and lawfully residents of the United States for the purpose of facilitating the process of adoption of orphans within the provisions of the Relief Act of 1953. Provided that their petitions for adoption have been approved by the Attorney General prior to January 1, 1955.

Previously identified as a "test to provide for the entry of certain relatives of United States citizens and lawful resident aliens," the new rule contains two basic conditions.

The first condition is that the adoptee be a child of an American citizen who is or has been a citizen of the United States;

The second condition is that the adoptee be a child of a lawful resident alien who is or has been a lawful resident alien of the United States.

The admission of childless persons in the category is one of the major objectives of the JACL's immigration objectives. Of course, proper safeguards to protect community health are provided for.

SINCE ENACTMENT of the Walter-McCarran Act, JACL has proposed that immigrants on the second, third and fourth preference waiting lists be allowed to enter this country on a permanent basis under the terms of the basic 1952 Act. Public Law 86-363, signed by the President September 9, 1959, permits adoption of orphans by any United States citizen or alien residing in the United States. Any other provision may apply to any other organized unit.

Previously, the JACL maintained that the provisions of the Relief Act of 1953 were intended to facilitate the process of adoption of orphans within the provisions of the Relief Act of 1953. Provided that their petitions for adoption have been approved by the Attorney General prior to January 1, 1955.

Previously identified as a "test to provide for the entry of certain relatives of United States citizens and lawful resident aliens," the new rule contains two basic conditions.

The first condition is that the adoptee be a child of an American citizen who is or has been a citizen of the United States;

The second condition is that the adoptee be a child of a lawful resident alien who is or has been a lawful resident alien of the United States.

The admission of childless persons in the category is one of the major objectives of the JACL's immigration objectives. Of course, proper safeguards to protect community health are provided for.

DC. JACLers hear talk on Communist China

WASHINGTON — A fruitful series of discussions between Chinese and Russian émigrés were held at the Dr. Howard C. Hinton of the State Department's General Assembly, the general meeting of the Washington, D.C. JACL, which has been increased from 25 percent to 30 percent, thereby doubling the proportion of members who are eligible to vote in the coming elections.

In addition to these three major public measures, Congress compromised and postponed until early next session, which begins on January 6, the grave issue of meaningful civil rights.

The JACL is now working on a number of fronts in order to keep the federal government out of the field of civil rights. The JACL is also working on a number of fronts in order to keep the federal government out of the field of civil rights.
