JACL SAPPHIRE AND SILVER PIN

This is an addendum to our October 1959 PC announcement regarding Sapphire and Silver JACL awards sent out in the form of sample codes of the nomination blank.

We recognize that there would be a desire to review that one of the qualifications for the Sapphire Pin requires at least five years of active service at the District Council and or state level; however, the National Recognitions Committee would like to remind that any one of the qualifications for the Sapphire Pin requires at least five years of active service at the chapter or state level.

2. Once the Sapphire and Silver pin recipients have been approved by the National Recognitions Committee, these pins will be sent to the National Headquarters - address for the Silver Pin and $5 for the Silver Pin. The Awards Committee, upon receiving a copy of approval of candidate's nomination from the National Recognitions Committee, will send pins with the statement to the person to whom the National Recognitions Committee's letter was addressed. In the case of the Pacific Northwest, Northern California, Central California, and Intermountain District Councils, the statements for the Sapphire pins will be sent to the local chapter leaders with the statement that the Districts DC bestows the cost of the Sapphire Pin to the deserving members of the chapters within the District.

DENVER, Colo.

NATIVE TONGUE—In last week's Pacific Citizen, a columnist belabored the theme that the Nisei is a "mouth without a native tongue. He can't speak English and he can't speak English," the writer went on. "He is a man in a tongueless limb, in the pidgin-pidgin land of deflowered vowels and outraged syntax."

In short, to just about anyone, including a Bilingual Bilingual, this is an unpleasant mark with the unhappy talent for missing the mark with both barbs.

The man's object in writing this obvious untruth (and the Pacific Citizen's in publishing it) is not apparent. I wish he could have attended the Mountain-Plains District JACL recognitions banquet here in Denver last week to see how well the folks in the pidgin-pidgin land have learned to handle the English language.

As a matter of fact, when individuals like Masan Satow and Roy Okura, Yutaka Terasaki and Min Yasui rose to speak, I could have sworn English was their native tongue. Not many instructors of elocution would be bold enough to commit their students to such a miscalculation. Their choice of words was precise, their delivery fluid, their mastery of the tongue obvious. I don't know what that means. I think it is pertinent to add that all five of the above named can even make a possible speech in that tongue if the occasion should demand.

COMMUNICATION—Perhaps it is worth pointing out that all eight persons honored with citations at the recognition banquet have had to communicate—express themselves as well as to perceive—to succeed in their various endeavors. Two of them, Larry Tajiri and Katherine Kavanura, are newspaper writers. Two others, Roy Inouye and Kish Otsuka are farmers but far from tongue-tied. As leaders in the Farm Bureau and Soil Conservation movements, as presidents of such organizations as the Rotary Club, Chamber of Commerce, hospital and school boards, they are not unfamiliar with the concomitant nor do they speak in grunts and incantations.

Another honoree, Eizo Sakamoto, is a Christian minister. Preachers don't last long unless they have a cool logical head.

The California State Patrol doesn't require its officers like honoree Will Kagohara, to be able to orate like William Jennings Bryan, but neither does it consider it adequate for a patrolman to be able to shout: "Hey, you!"

Grant Ujifusa, seventh of the honorees, is outspoken. I wish he could have attended the Mountain-Plains District Council Convention this past weekend. On hand to greet the San Francisco people were Pat and Luty Okura of Omaha (at foot of steps), Min Yasui (fat foreground) and his daughter Hollie, MPJC chairman Tetsu Terasaki and his daughter Aloha. Okura was the principal speaker for the occasion and Mrs. Okura is secretary to the Nichinan JACL Branch. The Satows had their Thanksgiving dinner at the residence of Robert Y. Uyeda, Mile-Hi JACL president, while the Okuras had Thanksgiving dinner at the residence of Tetsu Terasaki.

CALIF. ATT'Y GENERAL HOLDS REAL ESTATE MEN TO UNRULY ACT

SAN FRANCISCO—Real estate brokers and agents who discriminate in housing on the basis of race, color, religion, or national origin are subject to fines, imprisonment, and the risk of civil action, in the opinion of California's Attorney General, Earl Warren.

The attorney general issued an opinion Nov. 26, on a question involving discrimination in housing by brokers and agents. The opinion says that such discrimination is illegal and may be punished by imprisonment and fine, in addition to other forms of punishment, including court action.

The ruling was requested by assemblymen John A. O'Connell, D. San Francisco, and Jack O'Neill, D. Los Angeles.

William Becker, president of the San Francisco Association of Real Estate Brokers, who directed the opinion, said it will be of great benefit to people of all races, colors, and national origins and who rent, own, or buy housing in the state.

He said the ruling will end the question of discrimination with respect to all real estate transactions and will stop unfair housing practices.

The ruling was requested by assemblymen John A. O'Connell, D. San Francisco, and Jack O'Neill, D. Los Angeles.

GOODWILL—A substantial percentage of those attending the District JACL recognitions banquet were Congregationalists. If the reader was of the Nisei and not articulate on English, they didn't show it. Matter of fact, it seemed they took it for granted.

Story at the Convention was the discovery that the Nisei do not take Americanism casually, that the Nisei are a group who appreciate and treasure their citizenship. Such an attitude in peace time, seems, is both inspiring and refreshing. Now if we pidgin-speakers could only communicate our love of America to the English-speaking people of this country. Or can we?
OREGON JACLERS IN FARM ORGANIZATIONS

I attended the state convention of the Oregon Farm Bureau in Ontario November 4-5 as a voting delegate from the 10th District of Malheur County. Mrs. Maysie Saito who was former secretary to George Saito, was the new and all time district council chairman.

At the time of the convention he told me he is serving on the board of directors of the Malheur County Farm Bureau. Mam is next year's county president.

HOLIDAY ISSUE CAMPAIGN — Subscriptions for the Holiday Issue came to a close this Monday. On ads received after Dec. 7, we shall try to place in the Holiday Issue; if not, they will be carried in the Jan. issue. In order to secure a week's worth of press and develop potential, we finally received an avalanche of ads in the last week with some coming over last year's mark. Now comes the tedious task of sorting, proof reading and layout, which I have been working on as much as possible in order to get the 1960 Holiday Issue to you in time.

We wish to appreciate the wonderful work and response from our chapters throughout the country, for without their help, this holiday issue is impossible. We realize that many of our members took off time from their regular jobs as well as their evenings to solicit ads for us. And to those sincere men and women in behalf of the FC Board and Staff, extend our hearty thanks.

ORIENTAL PANTASY — The Commander (Front Page Post of the American Legion) has just presented a benefit performance of "Oriental Fantasy" at the world famous Moulin Rouge in Hollywood on Tuesday, Dec. 15. Seats for this gala opening night are being sold at $5.00 per person, which includes tax, tip and the special show. On Oriental nights, there will be two shows, but for opening night the two shows will be combined into one spectacular... The proceeds from this show will go toward veterans rehabilitation and community service programs. Tickets are being sold by Post members, Frank Dog, Joseph's Men's Wear, Robert's Appliance and the A.S.I. of the National JAOL.

"Fudetto" Takada's hilarious report on the recent L.A. JACL Convention proved that the "Fudetto" spirit will be published in the Holiday Issue.

Other JACLers in observing the opening festivities were featured in the kind of future leadership that our country needs. In addition, the Sanger head, who has been elected this year, was the house overseas. It is the first JACL youth section to be elected overseas. G.S. Takemoto, a previous member of the JACL section, was represented by Sue Kaneko of Salt Lake.

The JACL board meeting, Salt Lake's chief of Police, a previous member of the JACL section, was elected this year. Great Americans. You have a great tradition to follow. In your lifetime, you are raised at home. and not in the police stations or on the streets.

As an author of "The Naked Emperor", it is the present condition and quote is from a meeting with your American JACL in which the"Communist propaganda" was being discussed.

"We live in the richest generation in the world and we are technologically capable of the high¬est scientific achievement that we ever knew. Yet, in this hour of our world, there is a threat appearing which we cannot ignore. We have to define ourselves as we are the true meaning of our democracy system as we are in the present stage. The convention is the beginning of the methods now being expressed and demonstrated.

Wherefore JACL?

This is a story of the "Master Builder," and moral if the story doesn’t answer the question posed on the page.

The Builder lifted his old grey head. "This chasm that has been naught for me, good friend, may a pitfall be. To that fair haired youth may another come," he said. "I, too, must cross in the twilight dim."

The Builder then added, "If I, a mere student, have come, why should not I, a man, be eligible by now for honorary membership in JACL?"

He concluded, "I, too, must cross in the twilight dim."

far East and the Free World,\l recognizes Japan's Mutual Security Treaty is to be signed.

Spring.

around mid-January, Prime Minister Kishi and Foreign Minister Funimaru will visit Washington where the I'evised United States-Japan Mutual Security Treaty is to be signed. Kishi will also be well advised to make a special visit to Japan, Korea, Free China, and other areas.

The existing Security Pact was drafted by the Occupation Forces and at a time when the Cold War was not so well understood. Most people may well represent the high point in Ambassador MacArthur's assignment. Japan recognizes America's sovereignty and growing leadership in the Free World.

The essence of the revised Pact is that for the next decades the United States-Japan will cooperate with each other for the maintenance of peace in the Far East. We must conclude an agreement of the United States-Japan, Parliament, and the United States-Japan.
