SENATOR FONG TO ADDRESS D.C. INSTALLATION

Chapter Inaugural Slated Jan. 25 at Naval Weapons Plant

BY EMILY SANO

Special to the Pacific Citizen
WASHINGTON — U.S. Senator Hiram Fong of Hawaii will be the principal speaker at the installation of the new JACL Washington, D.C. JACL on Jan. 25 at the Naval Weapons Plant Officers' Club.

It is expected that Senator Fong will discuss his views and standards on civil rights, immigration law and other major issues. He will probably also comment on the participation of Japanese Americans in the general community of American citizens.

At the 1963 installation dinner
Rep. Sparky Wilson of Hawaii was the main speaker. In 1962 it was Daniel Inouye, then representative and now senator from Hawaii. Both have been honored as the year's highest guests at the year's dinner.

Senator Fong was elected to the Senate in 1958. The first U.S. Senator to be born in the U.S., he is a member of several important Senate committees: the Judiciary committee which includes constitutional rights; the Select Committee on Small Business; the Public Works Committee; Post Office and Civil Service committee; and the Appetite Control Committee.

Personal Background

Senator Fong was born in Honolulu in 1907, the first of 11 children of immigrant parents. As a child he picked cotton and took on numerous other jobs to help support his family. He worked his way through the Univ. of Hawaii as a bill collector for the Honolulu Advertiser, and as a guide. After graduating from the University, Fong went on to Harvard Law School where he received a law degree in 1933.

The Senator's first public office was that of district attorney for Honolulu during 1933-34. He served as a county supervisor, police chief, including 4 years as an speaker of the House of Representatives and 6 years as speaker of the Senate. He was vice president of the Hawaiian Chamber of Commerce in 1959 and an ardent advocate of statehood.

During World War II, Fong served in the U.S. Army Air Corps as a pilot and became a member of the Seventh Fighter Command of the Seventh Air Force. He entered as a first lieutenant and was a major when he left active service. He is a member of the Air Force Reserve.

Private Enterprise

As his public service, Fong has been extremely successful in the world of private enterprise.
He is founder of the metropolitan firm of Fong (Chinese), Mike (Japanese), Choy (Korean), and Wilson (White) Construction Co. Ltd.
He is founder, president, and chairman of the board of some eight corporations, president of Great Western Corp., L.A.; chairman of the board of Hawaiian Construction Co. Ltd., and a director in several other companies.

The Senator is married to the former Elyne Lu of Honolulu, former Miss Honolulu, and has two sons and two daughters, all in high school or college.

The installation dinner is the major annual event of the Washington chapter. The board of directors, headed by chairman Ken Kobayashi, will be joined by Kari Hirota, chairman of the Eastern District Council.
Persons interested in attending this event, which includes entertainment and dancing on the program, may contact Edwin Motions, 11114 Dewey Rd., Ken-twood, Mich.

By Tak Kubota, National 2nd Vice President

SEATTLE. As we begin a New Year, let us pause for a moment to count our many blessings. We are grateful that Japanese Americans throughout the United States have enjoyed the fruits of good public acceptance during the past year.

However, call to your attention this fact that general vigilance is essential because history has shown that the disengaged groups are the first to suffer entrapment of rights.

As our JACL's brochure points out, "Good public acceptance, especially by the white majority, which even now achieved we have. However, their permanency depends upon protecting and extending the gains that have been made."

I believe that with the ever-increasing support of our Japanese Americans in JACL, after all, the participation of the Japanese American community in our society will be able to keep our voices strong and articulate.

We do not fear the trials of life; we do not fear the fate of some Japanese Americans in states which are confronting one other Negro Americans in their communities.

Let this grim reminder of the happenings of 20 years ago.

An letter by James Y. Nakamoto, then President of the National Japanese American Citizens' League, to our late President of the United States, Franklin D. Roosevelt, describes the circumstances during this period of hate and hysteria.

Let this be a reminder that no Japanese can be secure in his civil rights so long as he is denied the basic fundamental human rights.

The letter follows:

December 26, 1942
Franklin D. Roosevelt
President of the United States
White House
Washington, D.C.

"I am filled with great concern that the House of Representatives recently passed a bill designed to deprive the American Japanese of their civil rights for the duration to come, with no enemies of enemy race classification. That such a measure, discriminatory in its nature, and the least, at best, in its way to introduction and debate before an august body of our Congress, is not only surely unconstitutional, but also a gross misinterpretation of our understanding. It is a challenge to political tyranny and dictatorship. It is a challenge of the right of the whole to perpetuate the doctrine of human equality as it is inherently enshrined in our Constitution."

"Today we are in isolation, not by choice, but because our countrymen, who were instrumental in America's victory could, best be made by loyalty obeying the military order for evacuation. On this occasion which affords me the opportunity to bring to your attention our situation, I hope we are the unchanged minority. Before the eyes of American public opinion, enactment of this measure cannot be justified. If you would be of help or prove the slightest evidence of necessity for the inflexible and discrimination it would impress."

"The greatest evil of this measure is not its direct attempt to deprive us of our American heritage. It is the dangerous precedent. It is the people's right to stand up and protest against America's life as it may someday divide race against race and class against class, the future of America and her way of

Seattle open housing ordinance on bullet

SEATTLE. — The City Council, last Dec. 18, voted 7-2 to place the open housing ordinance in the May 10 general election ballot.

The measure was proposed by a majority of the council Nov. 26 and signed the following day by Mayor Clinton.
