New City Council for D.C.

"The racial crisis is fundamentally a political problem," declared Bayard Rustin, Negro intellectual of the civil rights movement, director of the A. Philip Randolph Institute, and organizer of the 1963 "March on Washington

Following the heels of a long summer of racial tension and in an atmosphere threatened by dark clouds in the distance of more urban race riots, the emergence of Negro candidates for high civil offices in the large urban centers of the United States with burgeoning Negro populations has attracted national attention

The nation's capital, with a population of $10,000 people—two-thirds of them Negroes, ranks first in the United States with the largest Negro majority. Two weeks ago, President Johnson inaugurated the city's new reform government by appointing five Negroes to the nine-member city council, clearly reflecting this city's demographic fact city's demographic fact.

The President's nominations, pending an easy Sen-ate confirmation, would mark the nation's capital as the first major city in the country with a Negro majority on its governing body. More significantly, the President's "surprise" announcement of a 5-4 Negro majority member city council for the nation's capital was another milestone for the United States civil rights movement. Civil rights leaders throughout the country personally applauded the President for his selection

Heading the nine-member District of Columbia City Council will be Walter E. Washington, whose Presidential nomination won easy Senate approval three weeks ago, the first Negro chief administrator (in effect, the city's Mayor) of any large American city. Mayor Washington was employed as chairman of the New York City Housing Authority for the past year. Before that he was head of the National Capital Housing Authority in Washington where he worked most of his life.

omas Fletcher, District of Columbia's first Deputy Mayor, was previously serving as city manager for San Diego. For the past few months he was deputy assistant secretary, Department of Housing and Urban Development

Both Mayor Washington and Deputy Mayor Fletcher were sworn into office by Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas on the same day President Johnson made his announcement on the members of the city council

During the swearing-in ceremonies, Johnson described Washington and Fletcher as "a team having the energy and the experience to deal responsibly with the great urban and human problems of our time, and together they will focus those talents on our national capital city". Among the "broadly representative" nine-member provides two have worked side by side with the among the broadly representative inne-member nominees, two have worked side-by-side with the Washington JACL Office on civil rights issues. They are council chairman Max M. Kampelman and coun-cil vice-chairman Rev. Walter E. Fauntroy, Max M. Kampelman, 46-year-old white attorney, has been involved in such variate and any access as have Max M. Kampelman, 40-year-old white attorney, has been involved in such varied endeavors as bank-ing, public transportation, educational television, the United Nations, and the Problems of American In-dians. It was not until he joined the staff of Vice Pres-ident Hubert Humphrey when he was elected to the Senate in 1948 that Mr. Kampelman worked along with the Washington IACL Office an imprint and with the Washington JACL Office on immigration and civil rights legislation.

Rev. Walter E. Fauntroy, 34-year-old Negro, has long been a civil rights activist and is Washington representative of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, the civil rights organization headed by the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. . .

He was D.C. chairman of the "March on Washing-ton" in 1963, and last year was vice chairman of the White House Conference to Fulfill These Rights. A native Washingtonian, familiar with the city's social problems, Rev. Fauntroy has also taken part in many national civil rights demonstrations, including the march across Mississippi after James Meredith was shot. On several occasions, Rev. Fauntroy and the Washington JACL Office have worked together on civil rights legislations as members of the National Leadership Conference on Civil Rights.

AUTHORS—Writing is a not particularly simple craft, and books are the most difficult of the craft's products. This is true largely because of the enormous amount of research that must be undertaken before a book manuscript can be put together. Yet, the pub-lishing houses are bombarded by great numbers of book manuscripts and a steady stream of new titles book manuscripts, and a steady stream of new titles pours forth from the binderies.

Lately, a surprising number has had to do with Asia, and particularly Japan. Last July, for example, Coward-McCann published "The Emperor's Last Soldiers," a translation of Ito Masashi's story of the 16 incredible years he spent hiding in the Guam jun-gle, waiting for Japanese troops to come back and retake the island.

In September alone there are at least three books dealing with Japan: Wendell Cole's scholarly study, "Kyoto in the Momoyama Period" published by the University of Oklahoma Press in its Centers of Civili-zation series; Christopher Martin's "The Russo-Japa-are War" a thermuchk researched account of Opp zation series; Christopher Martin's The Russo-Japa-nese War," a thoroughly researched account of one of the lesser known but extremely significant con-flicts of the 20th Century, published by Abelard-Schuman; and Joseph L. Marx's "Seven Hours to Zero," a dramatically chilling account of the B29 bomber's nuclear mission over Hiroshima, published by G. P. Buttamy's Sone by G. P. Putnam's Sons.

Available in October will be "Contest Over Japos" pan" by Herbert Feis, the story behind the Soviet bid for power in the Far East, published by Norton, and "The Coming of the Barbarians" by Pat Barr, a de-tailed and often light-hearted account of Japan's en-counter with the West in the 17 years after Commo-the dore Perry ended that country's self-isolation in 1853. Dutton, the publisher, assures us that Miss (Mrs.?) ones Barr is working on another book "which will continue the story of the Western experience in Japan from the story of the Western experience in Japan from 1870 to 1905."

MEMORABLE TRIVIA—The secret of a successful book is the inclusion of detail missing from earlier recountings in the daily newspapers and magazines. Examples

Pat Barr reports the first foreigners who went to Japan had a dreadful time trying to communicate with the natives. In time, an ungrammatical jargon-including Malay, Dutch, French, Chinese, Japanese and English words-came into use. Japanese words were mispronounced as the foreigners heard them; the pronoun "I" became "waterkoosh." The author writes: were mispronounced as the foreginers heart mark the pronoun "I" became "waterkoosh." The author writes: "One young linguist tried to produce a phrase-book for this mongrel dialect, in which he informed new-comers to Japan that, in order to tell a native to 'make less disturbance driving nails in the wall, or I shall be obliged to punish you', they should shout: "O my support publicity waterkabee pumputz." 'O my pompon bobbery waterkshee pumgutz'.

Marx found in his research that many residents Hiroshima were puzzled before that fateful Aug. of Hiroshima were puzzled before that fateful Aug. 6, 1945 that their city was spared the mass bombings that had hit Kure, Okayama, Ube and Shimonoseki not far away. In fact, Hiroshima was the only major city outside of culture rich Kyoto that had been spar-ed. Why? Maix says: "There were a number of theo-ries about this. There was a rumor that President Truman's mother lived in Hiroshima, though no one had seen her or knew where she lived. There was talk of a large prisoner of ward comp nearby with some of a large prisoner-of-war camp nearby with some important prisoners, including the son of a very fam-ous man. Some believed they had been granted special protection by the capricious gods of war and death. Others were more pessimistic and said that Hiroshima had been saved temporarily for some special and dire Marx, contrary to other versions, reports that Hiroshima was always the primary target, and Kokura and Nagasaki were the secondary targets spared when it was found that weather over Hiroshima was clear on the day chosen to wipe it out with history's first nuclear bomb. Why Hiroshima? Among other things, says Marx, it was a communications center and "slated to be the provisional capital and headquarters for the nation's defense if Tokyo should have to be abandoned.

The film is derived from a opular novel by Ayako Sono, ith the same litle — "Sato-sahi ga Kowareru Toki," in apanese. The novel is based the life of Marilyn Monroe. The elements of Marilyn's meteoric career and short, un-happy life are present in the film: a mentally unbalanced mother, an orphan childhood; poverty and obscurity at first, and then success accompanied by rejected love and frustrat-ord ambilities.

The picture begins at a time, when the protagonist has been reduced to posing for nude photographs.

Beside the formidable obstacles she must surmount in the professional world. Ayake has some even more fearsome ones in her personal life. She is childlike and dependent. The Japanese desire for edu-cation is respected and held up as an example by Brazilian educators. Wherever Japanese have founded agricultural colonies, educational stand-ards for the community have soared. Fly the world of JAL...the world around Wherever in the world you fly, you can include the pleasures of "Japan" on JAL. You relax in a classic atmosphere, and are served in the Japanese manner. Your kimono-clad hostess offers you the graces of Japan. O-shibori. Warmed sake. Tsumami-mono. And then your choice of either delicious Japanese or Con- . tinental cuisine. She treats you as an honored guest in a lapanese home.

All airline fares between the U.S. and Japan are the same. But JAL gives you extra value with an added vacation stopover in Honolulu at no extra fare. You can include it on any one of JAL's 13 weekly flights leaving from San Francisco to Tokyo. From Honolulu continue on JAL, which offers you more flights than any other airline from Hawaii to Tokyo. Eastbound from San Francisco, fly Japan Air Lines to London via New York on a "Happi Flight," and relax in a JAL Happi Coat all the way across the Atlantic. Either way, continue on Japan Air Lines around the world. Fly JAL . . . now one of the elite few airlines that flies across the United States and completely around the world. See your travel agent.

It's amazing that people will actually stop you and quote or paraphrase something you said and agree or disagree. That's gratifying. When we spoke with "Under 21" columnist — Russ Obana (National Jr. JACL Youth Council Chairman) he said he wondered if anyone was reading and what their reactions were — anger, sympathy, praise?

Then you get the most common person who really doesn't know who you are but only that your postage size face is in the paper. Since no titles are given with our name, it's not hard to be confused.

National Renderers Ass'n initiate campaign to have Japanese use more soap--the U.S. kind

BY JOHN ROBERTS

TOKYO — When Granny was a girl, soap was just soap. You made it out of tailow and You made it out of tallow and ashes in an iron kettle, or bought it in bulk at the gen-eral store, to wash the clothes, your hands and face, and the kids on Saturday night. How times — and 5 ap — have changed! Today, technology and competition have evolved a soap for every purpose, and elaborate advertising cam-paigns such as soap operas to sell it. sell it

The economics . . and so-ciology . . of soapmaking were among the subjects stud-ied by a Japanese team of executives from Japan's lead-ing makers of soap, margarine and other products using faits and oils. The mission, escorted by James Y. Iso, director of the Tokyo Office of the Na-tional Renderers Assn. (U.S.). recently made a study tour of American plants producing ta-low, edible oils, soap, and re-lated products.

IN QUEST OF CHARITY

nationally-known organization dedicated to translating fully their democratic ideals into a way of life for all Americans in our own time has been greeted by four Presidents of the United States in the following manner:

people. The organization is known for its crusades against discrimination, prejudice and bigotry. It works to strengthen democracy. It acts to broaden civil rights, improve relations among the many groups in our na-tion and achieve equal opportunity for all Americans. Such goals, of course, are shared by many national organizations but the opening words of Johnson's message eliminates the JACL from the list of which organization to whom the presidential messages were message eliminates the JACL from the use of which organization to whom the presidential messages were addressed. JACL is only approaching its fortieth year. JACL's half century of service does not come until 1980. But who knows, in the next dozen years JACL may have merited a record of similar stature.

Johnson notes, "Wherever your torches burn, tol-erance, decency and charity have been illuminated. Bigots and bias hide wherever you come into view ..." The time has come for JACL to consider "charity" in the next decade—over and above the local needs so that the national leadership in and out of govern-ment are aware of efforts by Japanese Americans. The charity of which we speak here is not the variety of helping the needy Issei (who will probably be too few to be counted in the remaining decade) or Nisei (let's hope their need is not due to lack of economic opportunities) but one that is motivated by reasons beyond self-interest. (This happens to be the month that the United Crusade, Red Feather or Community Chest campaigns are being conducted to support national charities. These are the kinds of charities to which we are referring). By the time, the JACL reaches its 50th year, it would be heartening to have recorded that Japanese Americans were also a charitable kind. Within the next decade, we may hear of Nisei philanthropists in our midst.

The great company of Americans to whom the mes-sages from the Presidents were sent is the Anti-Defa-mation League of B'nai B'rith, the nation's leading organization fighting anti-Semitism. Founded in 1913 to combat the vulgar anti-Semitism of the day, ADL's ultimate purpose is to secure justice and fair play for all citizens alike and eliminate unjust discrimination based upon race, creed or color. The ADL be-lieves in "integration—acceptance of the Jew as an equal" and is opposed to "assimilation—the loss of Jewish identity, which in ADL's view is a defeat and not a triumph of the democratic process." JACL was founded in 1929 to combat anti-Nisei

This concerns the Chicago Nisei Ambassadors Drum & Bugle Corps visitation to the Memorial to the Battleship Maine. There, Post Com-mander Tanabe laid a wreath in honor of the seven Issel whose names are inscribed on the Memorial, the first of Japanese ancestry to die for the United States, for they went down with the Battle-ship Maine when it was blown up in Havana in April 1898. is not so much the interest the Evacuation provoked and the emotional charges produc-ed by such, but rather, the legal restrictions imposed con-trary to the freedom of American eitizens and fur-thermore, the consequences such laws have on the court vestam and prolitical behavior

D-DAY-Departure date and time for the National

D-DAY-Departure date and time for the National JACL Japan Tour, Oct. 14, 9:30 a.m., is almost upon us. We are frantically trying to get things in order here at Headquarters to assure the minimum inter-ruption of our services during our absence, to say mothing of tying down the loose ends of the Tour it-self. Yosh Hotta and Mrs. Nao Sugiyama will be hold-ing down the fort for us until our return on Nov. 9. This tour grew out of a conviction that Nisei ought to make it a point to visit Japan some time and as a private tour among a group of friends. We first con-sulted with Japan Air Lines officials a year and half ago, then came the 1966 National Convention to make it an official JACL Tour. The National JACL Cultural Heritage Committee under the Chairmanship of Haruo Ishimaru gave it a big boost. On becoming an official JACL Tour Mike Masaoka has been especially help-ful plus other contacts JACL has made over the years. We are indebted also to Tom Hayashi of New York and John Nitta of Lansdale, Pa. for their advice and helpfulness. helpfulness

We look forward to an exciting time with a good group of representative Nisei and JACLers. Preparing for the Tour has been no less exciting. We have come to appreciate the many details taken care of by the travel agencies. We would have been lost without the efforts of Mas Kono of Japan Travel Bureau assisted by Ken Ito, and the helpfulness of Mas Yanase of Japan Air Lines plus Jane Kojima together with the counselling of Tak Kasuya. We are more than pleased with the enthusiastic response from JACLers. As a matter of fact, we al-ready have inquiries as to whether there will be a repeat tour in the future. This decision will be in the hands of the National Board after we have made an official report on this particular tour.

JACL PR BROCHURE—Ed Tsutakawa of Litho Art Printing in Spokane assures us that the long awaited PR brouchure will be off the press in time for us to take the first copies with us to Japan. Ar-rangements have been made to send a copy to every JACL member family via our PC member mailing litting. Contex of the brechure will lies accompany the listing. Copies of the brochure will also accompany the Bosworth book we are distributing to public libraries in the east, midwest, and south, where there are few Japanese Americans.

1968 MEMBERSHIP CARDS-Membership cards for the new year should be ready within this week. PSWDC Chapters will obtain their cards through the Southern California JACL Office.

GRATEFUL ACKNOWLEDGMENTS - National JACL thanks the following who have remembered us with generous donations: To the National JACL us with generous donations: To the National JACL Scholarship Fund from the family of the late Masajiro Hirota of Berkeley; also to the Scholarship Fund from Ken Ito of Los Angeles in memory of his wife Emmy who served as our office secretary in prewar days at the "Y"; and from Mr. and Mrs. Senbei Honda of Los Angeles (parents of our PC Editor), to the National JACL Endowment Fund in commemorating their Golden Wedding Anniversary.

prejudice and to secure naturalization privileges for their Issei parents. JACL's ultimate purposes are the same as ADL's Dore Schary, ADL's national chairman when it celebrated its 50th anniversary, (he was the keynote speaker at JACL's national convention in 1954) stated speaker at JACL's national convention in 1954) stated the new age looming since the passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 has placed the Anti-Defamation League to a place in the history of its struggles from which it can move ahead with giant strides. "No force in this country is better qualified than ADL to help (Americans) in the move ahead," because people today are ready for these giant strides forward he today are ready for these giant strides forward, he said

If future generations of Japanese Americans are to grow up free from prejudice, a similar determined bid by JACL to move ahead must be made now. .

As this is being written, millions of the Jewish faith and traditions are celebrating their New Year-Rosh Hashanah. And we couldn't think of a more appropriate time to mention the challenges any new year ushers in
