TO THE POINT: Shigeki Sugiyama
Justice and Mercy

WASHINGTON

A month ago, it would have been rare in the Washington DC Council on Jewish Relations (CJR) to have a Jewish-Japanese meeting to discuss the human rights issues of the 21st century. This meeting was organized by the Jewish Council for Racial Justice and the Council on Jewish Relations (JCR) of the Jewish Federation of Greater Washington.

The attendees included representatives from the National Conference of Christians and Jews, the World Jewish Congress, the National Women's Council, the American Jewish Congress, the Center for International Jewish-Latin American Relations, the American Jewish Committee, the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, the SACJMC, the National Committee for a Sane Arms Policy, the National Committee to End Racism, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the National Conference of Christians and Jews, the Council on Jewish Relations of the Jewish Federation of Greater Washington, and the Metropolitan Washington Council on Jewish Relations.

The meeting was aimed at bringing together representatives from different organizations to discuss issues of mutual concern and to find ways to work together to address these issues.

The meeting was a significant step in the process of building bridges between different communities and promoting understanding and mutual respect.

San Mateo JACL Not Convinced by Explanation

Congressman's Use of Power to Classify Document

San Mateo, Calif. - The San Mateo JACL has not been convinced by an explanation given by Congressman John V. Connally (D-Fla.) that the JACL's request for a hearing on the case of Shigeki Sugiyama was unjustified. The JACL had asked for a hearing on the matter, citing concerns about the fairness of the process that led to Sugiyama's conviction and sentence.

The JACL has stated that it believes that the process was biased against Sugiyama and that his sentence was not appropriate. The JACL has also stated that it believes that Sugiyama should be granted a new trial.

The explanation given by Connally did not address the JACL's concerns and did not provide sufficient evidence to convince the JACL that the sentence was fair.

The JACL has stated that it will continue to advocate for Sugiyama's release and will continue to press for a new trial.

PACIFIC CITIZEN

AN EDITORIAL UP FRONT:

Full, free, absolute pardon

Pardon: rather unwise

The Japanese-American Citizens League (JACL) has petitioned President Ford for a full, free, absolute pardon for Shigeki Sugiyama, a Japanese-American who was convicted of a minor offense.

The JACL argues that the pardon would be a symbol of justice and mercy and would be seen as a sign of the President's commitment to fairness and equal treatment under the law.

The JACL's petition has been supported by a number of other organizations and individuals who believe that Sugiyama was wrongfully convicted and should be granted a pardon.

However, there are concerns about granting a pardon to Sugiyama, as he was convicted of a serious crime. The JACL's decision to petition for a pardon is therefore a complex issue that requires a careful consideration of the facts and the consequences of granting a pardon.

The decision to grant a pardon to Sugiyama is not a simple matter, and there are potential risks and consequences associated with granting a pardon.

While the JACL's petition is well intentioned, it is important to consider the potential consequences of granting a pardon to Sugiyama and to ensure that the process is fair and just.

JACL Convention

JACL Convention in 1944 in San Pedro, California, brought a new awareness of the organization's function in the community. The convention was a success in promoting JACL's goals and objectives. It also served as a forum for members to discuss issues and initiatives that would strengthen the organization's position in the community.

Final stage

The drive is in its final stage. JACL's goal of $50,000 is near completion. Members are encouraged to contribute to this important initiative.

After two conventions..."Those who went to the JACL convention in Hayward gave me a chance to get a closer, more personal understanding of the workings and interactions of our diverse membership. While attending, attending, and working on JACL activities may have left us physically exhausted, we are left with a sense of pride and a feeling of accomplishment. The sense of community and the feeling of being part of something larger than ourselves were evident.

While JACL members continue to support each other and the larger community, the need for continued advocacy and support is evident.

Tops came up in Portland that many individuals needed support and assistance. The group of individuals who came together in Portland represented a diverse range of backgrounds and experiences. They shared stories and experiences that highlighted the challenges faced by members of the gay community.

JACL President Kenji Sugiyama thanked the group for their hard work and dedication. He emphasized the importance of continued support and advocacy for the needs of the gay community.

LAX to JFK
The trip east across the Polynesian islands is not for everyone. It's one thing to fly from LAX to JFK, but to fly from LAX to JFK via Honolulu and Guam could be considered a bit of a detour. The trip takes about 10 hours, with three stops along the way. If you're looking for a unique and memorable experience, this might be the way to go. Overall, the trip is worth it for the opportunity to explore these beautiful islands.

Job-lacking town induces Japanese to build steel mill MUKUNGU, N.Y. - For most of its history, Mukungu was known for its natural beauty and its thriving agricultural industry. However, in recent years, the town has been struggling economically. One of the main reasons for this is a lack of jobs. In response to this problem, a group of Japanese immigrants have decided to build a steel mill in the town. They hope that this will not only provide employment for the local community, but also bring new business and investment to the area.
